MRS. STILLMAN IS QUESTIONED

Argue Over Admission of Letters

Important Feature of Case for Plaintiff

Wife of Banker Denies She Cared for Guide

[BY LEASED WIRE.]

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) May 12.—Two letters which Mrs. Anna U. Stillman is alleged to have written to Fred Beauvais, the Indian guide, alleged by James Stillman to be the father of her youngest child, Guy Stillman, were produced at the hearing before Referee Daniel J. Gleason today. The producing of the letters caused a sensation, and the rest of the session was devoted to arguments over their admissibility. The letters were said by counsel for Stillman to be couched in endearing terms, and to be an important feature of the plaintiff's case.

Edmund Leigh, formerly a detective in the New York City Police Department, but for several years in business as a private detective, identified the letters. Leigh said he had learned of their existence and had procured an introduction to Beauvais. He asked Beauvais, Leigh testified, how much the Indian wanted for the letters.

Beauvais demanded $25,000 in cash for them, Leigh testified, but after much haggling agreed to take $15,000. When the negotiations had reached this stage, Outerbridge Hegeney of Stillman's counsel, went to Montreal on Tuesday last with the $15,000 in cash and returned with the letters.

USED INDIAN TERM

In these letters Mrs. Stillman is said to have used the Indian term of endearment, Kaththio, meaning "Dear Flower." The letters had not been referred to in previous testimony, and Referee Gleason was saddled with a highly important development in the case when asked by Mrs. Stillman's lawyers to exclude the letters.

Referee Gleason had previously excluded the letter, said to have been written by Mrs. Stillman to her husband, in which she is alleged to have made a confession of her feelings toward Beauvais when, she said, "had come into her life." Mrs. Stillman was elated over this ruling, though another letter, written by her from Buffalo on April 29, 1918, to her daughter, Anne, and her husband, addressed "Dear Family," was admitted. This letter contained the sentence:

"I would be much better off if I had taken Fred's advice."

Mrs. Stillman's cross-examination by Col. William Rand, Jr., trial counsel for Stillman, was devoted to attempts to make her admit that she had written certain letters.

She took the position that the letters produced, "seemed to be in her handwriting." Referring to endearing phrases in them toward Beauvais, Mrs. Stillman exclaimed:

DENIES SENTIMENTS

"These certainly are not my sentiments and if a person did not have such sentiments he or she would hardly write them."

She was asked to write several sentences, including the names of Stillman and Fred K. Beauvais. This sample writing is to be the subject of examination by handwriting experts.

John E. Mack, guardian ad litem of Baby Guy Stillman, examined Mrs. Stillman when her cross-examination was finished. He brought out that she suffers from a nervous disorder for the cure of which doctors have recommended constant exercise in the open air. This explains her frequent outdoor life and camping in the woods, it was said.

Mrs. Stillman said she and her husband had quarrelled constantly over money matters. She said he would not permit the expense of a swimming pool at their home, Mondanne, in Westchester county, N. Y., or a tennis court which she wanted for the children. He even questioned her demands for money for clothes for the children, she said.

TEXT OF ONE LETTER

One of the letters said to have been bought from Beauvais, read:

"Dear Darling:

"The wedding is over and it is 12:45 p.m. and I have just had a hot bath and am in bed, but I just had to write you a letter.

"There never will be and there never has been any one like you. I love every pore of your skin. I love the dear ground you stand on. I love you better each day and every day shows me how foolish it is to live without you. I love you beyond words. I love you forever and ever, through this world on to all the others. I want you more than anything on this earth. My uncle said last night: 'As we get older it doesn't so much matter where we are but who we are with.' When will you be down dear, and when can we get married. That is all I think of. When nothing will ever take me away.

"Write me, dear, how you are, won't you. I am so tired of everything, so tired I just want to rest and rest in your dear arms. It frightens me when I don't hear from you. Let me hear soon. Oh, my dear, I am dead for you, just dead.

"Your Kathtio.

"Sunday.

"Guy has just been in. He is lovely, but always when it is hot he wilts a little. Good morning, dearest, darling, dear."

OLD ORDINANCE SAVES STUDENTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, May 12.—An old municipal ordinance which forbade horse-drawn vehicles from using the sidewalks as thoroughfares saved thirteen students of the University of California from punishment for driving an automobile on a sidewalk near the campus entrance. They were released on bond and found a law student who discovered that the ordinance had been drafted before the day of the automobile.

"WE'LL HANG UNION THUGS"

So Says State's Attorney in Chicago

Three Confessions Secured from Prisoners

the dead except under terms laid down by the union czars; attempting to prevent the erection of homes, thereby placing tens of thousands of tenants at the mercy of greedy landlords, using bombs to destroy anything that does not meet their approval and murdering anyone who attempts to interfere with their movements.

Chicago has reached the pitiable stage where it seems impossible to convict anyone posing as a "friend of union labor," or a member of a union, no matter how hideous the crime or how clear the evidence. Quite recently there have been three such notorious cases.

Outstanding features of the present war on the union camorra include the following: Mayor Thompson hastens back from the East to assist in the campaign; announces he will back Chief of Police Fitzmorris to the limit.

DEATH THREATS

Assistant State's attorneys assigned to the investigation were deluged with anonymous letters, threatening the life of Chief Fitzmorris, and a general conflagration in Chicago. "If one union man remains in jail by sunset Saturday."

Fifty thousand dollar damage suits, alleging false arrest and imprisonment, were filed against Chief Fitzmorris, Lieut. William Shoemaker, Lieut. John W. Bourke, and Chief Hughes by Attorney Thompson. Emmett Flood, general organizer for the American Federation of Labor; Emmett Flood, Jr., his son, a member of the Fitzmorris Hangers' Union, and his daughter, Miss Evelyn Flood, all of whom were taken in Wednesday's raids. "Jerry" Horn, owner of the saloon which was a rendezvous for union whispers and conspirators, forfeits $10 bond and is missing. He had been held on a disorderly charge, admitted to bail and afterward indicted for murder. Meanwhile he disappeared.

Chicago Association of Commerce holds special meeting to consider the crisis and pledges Chief Fitzmorris its hearty support and co-operation.

"Big Tim" Murphy and "Freshby" Mader, in custody of two guards, spurn jail fare and dine publicly at a fashionable restaurant. Both are under indictment for murder and Murphy is under a six-year sentence in Federal prison for a $150,000 mail robbery.

Boys at play find dynamite under a Landis wage award building with the fuse partly burned.

Special grand jury hears evidence all day and evening and will return several more indictments.

All law-abiding citizens, all organizations, civic, political and social, pledge their support to Chief Fitzmorris in his drive.

Especial efforts made to rush to immediate trial the cases of Murphy, Mader and "Cow" Shea, the "Big Three" in the union oligarchy. Chief Justice Scanlan intimates he will set the trials Monday and that they will be in full swing within thirty days.

No bail permitted for the eight men indicated last night for murder.

"Big Tim," chief adviser to Mader and declared by Chief Fitzmorris to be the "brains of the gang," was the organizer of the Street Sweepers' Union and the Gas Workers' Union. His affiliations with the building trades has been a mystery to the old-time union leaders, as he has had no visible connection with any of the building unions. He is said to have engineered the election of Mader as president of the Building Trades Council following the resignation of William Curran. The election of Mader was a surprise and shock to the delegates.

OLD MURDER RECALLED

Murphy, by his own admission, is a two-fisted fighter, a "back o' the yards" product and one-time member of the State Legislature. He was indicted for the murder of "Mossy" Enright, a rival union leader, but there were many continuances and delays and finally the State's chief witnesses disappeared and he was acquitted. Later he was indicted and convicted of the Dearborn-street mail robbery and is now awaiting the result of an appeal from his sentence.

"The time for talking has passed," said Mayor Thompson, as he alighted from a New York train, refusing an interview. "We want action. Chief Fitzmorris has declared war and I am backing him to the last trench."

There were intimations at police headquarters this evening that there would be several more sweeping raids on union headquarters and resorts where the sluggers and bombers meet to lay their plans. It is also certain that several indictments will be returned.

"We shall hang these men," declared Assistant State's Attorney German. "I mean just that—we shall hang them. This case has the same elements that the Haymarket riot cases had."

Among the documents seized in the raids was one showing that the unions were building up an enormous defense fund for just such an emergency as the criminal leaders are now facing.

TIP ON "FACTORY"

The tip as to the location of the bomb factory on the southwest side was supplied by an out-of-town business man, whose identity was not learned. He dropped into the Sheriff's office and told one of the deputies he was convinced he knew where the bombs were being made. The information was turned over to Assistant State's Attorney Wharton, who immediately went to the detective bureau with it.

At the Ogden-avenue address the police found a chemical and soap factory on the first floor. In a flat on the second floor, rear, they came upon the collection of guns, ammunition and explosives. Maher, whose identity was not at first disclosed, was arrested and taken to the detective bureau along with the evidence.

"I'm a gun," was the only reply he would make to Mr. Wharton's questions as to his identity.

While the detectives were in the flat a woman, who appeared to be of Mexican or Indian extraction, entered. She was not taken into custody, but from descriptions given of her other detectives at the bureau expressed the belief she is the same woman who carried the explosives to Joe Moran and Lloyd Bopp when they dynamited their way out of the County Jail two years ago.

With the return of the eight murder indictments voted at the extraordinary session of the grand jury last night—the first night session in Cook county history—capiases for the indictments for arrest of the eight were issued and it was announced that no bail would be fixed to give them temporary freedom.

Only the personal intervention of judges will be powerful enough to swing out the steel doors of the jail for the indicted men.

With the return of the first eight indictments it was announced that a new sitting of the grand jury would result in the voting of a score more indictments in the city's most spectacular drive against organized hoodlumism.

BOYS FIND BOMB

Bomb experts of the police department rushed to the Packer Machinery and Equipment Company, 1400 West Forty-seventh street late this afternoon after three boys of the neighborhood had found what appeared to be a dynamite bomb in the rear of the place. The company, it was stated by H. Hague, superintendent, had employed millwrights under the Landis award, and had received numerous threats during the stockyards strike because it supplied the packers with equipment.

The bomb, a stick of dynamite, was equipped with a percussion cap and a length of fuse which apparently had failed to burn. It was about fourteen inches long. It was given an "immunity bath" in a tub at the new city police station.

One theory of the police is that the bomb was placed in the rear of the shop by terrorists, who became frightened and fled before they were able to conclude their task.

FRENCH BLAST HOPE OF REDS

British, who are optimistic about the success, and the experts commission, which suggested to the Russians that they get to work after the conference is over—a graceful admission that the commission has failed to accomplish anything here.

Tchitcherin refused to consent to Premier Lloyd George's plan of truce. He is going to study it at some length tonight.

The fear is expressed tonight that the allies are beyond the acceptance of the principle of the memorandum of nonaggression and are moving to include French sanction.

Russia is also opposed to general negotiations about her frontiers.

The situation may be summed up that Russia has left the door open and is looking to see what happens. If credits are assured her—and Premier Lloyd George believes that they will be—she will wait for a truce and then from Moscow negotiate her future.

LADY ASTOR MAY CAUSE NEW RULING

Staid Senators, Adverse to Having Visitors on Floor, Seek Strict Decision

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—As aftermath of the reception to Lady Astor on the floor of the United States Senate is reflected in a new rule being considered by the Rules Committee which would in future withhold such privileges from members of other parliamentary bodies and thus prevent visits like that made by Lady Astor, which demoralized the decorum of the State body and caused a flurry among the dignified lawmakers.

When it was proposed that Lady Astor should mingle with the Senators on the sacred floor of the chamber, Senator Lodge and other old-time leaders and protectors of the traditions of the body were adverse to the extension of the privileges. However, the rules as they have been and now are were not strict enough to deny her entrance to the floor, and Lady Astor arrived and conquered even those most astute and unyielding Senators, including Senator Lodge, although he did not greet her until she had left the chamber itself. He was most agreeable to the Lord and Lady Astor in the marble room, however.

Now that the conquest of the Virginia girl is but a memory, several of the elder statesmen want the doors locked against visiting statesmen and statesmenes, and they may prevail with the new rule.

Airmen Again Find Trouble; Fall Into Sea

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LISBON, May 12.—The Portuguese cruiser Republica sent word this afternoon that she had taken on board Capt. Coutinho and Cuesdura, the Portuguese aviators, who attempted to fly in their new hydro-aeroplane yesterday from Fernando-Noronha, off the Brazilian coast to St. Paul Rocks and return. They were picked up by the British steamer Paris City, after their machine fell, and later transferred to the Republica.

Neither of the aviators was any the worse for his experience, the message stated. It is believed the hydro-aeroplane has been saved and will be returned to Fernando Noronha for another attempt by the trans-Atlantic flyers to complete their flight from Portugal to Brazil, which now has been twice interrupted by mishaps.

EMPLOYMENT GAIN LARGEST IN APRIL

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—April has shown the greatest gain in employment throughout the country of any month since the first of the year, E. E. Hunt, secretary of the President's conference on unemployment, declared today.

Employment, he said, is showing a steady and sustained gain, April reports being the most encouraging of the year and clearly indicating an upward trend in industry and business.

Reports from thirty-four States, he declared, showed that for every 100 jobs listed during the month, there were 150 applicants as against 142 in March, 105 in February, and 226 in January. This, he added, is a decrease of 33 per cent over the number applying for work during the first four months of the year.

France's efforts to effect its own restoration have ruined its public finances. If a choice must be made between the ruin of France or the ruin of Germany it is Germany, the French hold, which must accept the painful operation.

The French debt is held by not a few wealthy citizens, but by everybody. Repudiation of the debt would bring a disaster that would lead to something like a revolution in France.

The German debt is held largely by great industrialists and other people of wealth. Germany, therefore, could survive socially the repudiation of its national debt.

Poincare believes, it is said on good authority, that peaceful arrangements are possible. The tenor of the latest note from the German government to the reparations commission indicates that Germany is in a conciliatory mood.

never was in the possession of the State of Illinois. Never. Never. Never. And their charge of obtaining money by false pretenses by virtue of the law in relation to State treasurers becomes and is an utter legal impossibility under the law of the State of Illinois.

Other principal contentions advanced by Mr. Leforge were the following:

That the Grant Park Bank was a legitimate private bank maintained by E. C. Curtis because it allowed him more liberty of operation than he had in his national or State bank.

SMALL AS TREASURER

That Small, as treasurer, turned over more interest on State funds than any two of his predecessors.

That Small did not cause the removal of any "books of record required by law" from the treasurer's office when his term expired.

That any payments of money to Small by E. C. Curtis that may be shown in evidence were payments on an indebtedness of years.

Pinchot Seeks Nomination for Governor

Reams and Beveridge Are With Him

Call to Select Radical Ticket for President

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Republicans and Democrats are concentrating their guns on Pennsylvania, where, next Tuesday, Gifford Pinchot, candidate for the Republican nomination to the office of Governor, will win or lose. His nomination by the Republicans is tantamount to election in that State, and he is nominated in opposition to the wishes of some of the most conservative Republicans of the State, who are urging the nomination of Atty.-Gen. Reed for the governorship. It is said that a combination of Senator Beveridge and Hiram Johnson of California will attempt to dominate the presidential nomination in the Republican Party in 1924.

HOPE FOR RADICAL

It is too early to say who the candidate will be, and before that day arrives they may have fallen out with each other, the animus back of the campaign of Pinchot for Governor is the same as that which actuated former Senator Beveridge to run against Senator Penrose, in Indiana, and Hiram Johnson in deciding to remain in the limelight as Senator from California for years more. They hope to make the presidential nomination in 1924 some man who is radical in his ideas and who has not entered in their vocabulary as a word "compromise."

Much of the men named is personally selfish in his political ambitions, and each has his eyes fixed on the White House. The success of Beveridge in the Republican primaries in Indiana has emboldened Pinchot to even greater activity in the Pennsylvania campaign, and the Pinchot supporters are in touch with those who oppose Beveridge and Johnson in their respective States. To them the beginning of a campaign for the Republican nomination for President in 1924.

WORKING TOGETHER

In this the beginning stage of the activities, they are willing to work together, although each has qualities all trained on the chance for himself. Hiram Johnson wants all such old institutions as the Electoral College and safeguards against popular rule and mob rule wiped out in order to utilize the Hearst propaganda for his own ambitions, and he is with the Pinchots and Beveridges as long as he can without danger to his own ambitions. Once he will go out for himself. The same is true of Pinchot and Beveridge, therefore, the result next Tuesday is interesting every man in national politics and has far greater significance than a mere fight in Republican preferment in the State of Pennsylvania. Pinchot, if he comes into political power would inject into his national policies all the venom and bitterness that was exhibited in the Ballinger fight which wrecked

EYES ON PENNSYLVANIA

Bowerdge Are With Him

Select Radical for President

[SPECIAL DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 12. — Republicans and Democrats are considering their guns on Pennsylvania, next Tuesday, Gifford Pinchot, candidate for the Republican nomination to the governorship, will win or be defeated in accordance with the publication by the Times-Herald of a testamentary letter in the handwriting of Theodore Roosevelt.

The letter, which was dictated by the former President in collaboration with some of the leading conservative Republicans of the State, who are urging the nomination of Atty.-Gen. Frank C. Bowerdge for the governorship, is said to be a combination of Bowerdge and Hiram W. Johnson of California, will attempt to dominate the presidential nomination in the Republican party in 1924.

NOT FOR RADICAL

It is not early to say who the candidates will be, and before our arrives they may shake out with each other. It is obvious back of the support of Pinchot for Governor is the fact that which actually made Senator Beveridge so conspicuous in Indiana, and Hiram Johnson in defeat, stands in the limelight from California for President. They hope to make the presidential nomination in 1924 some man who is in his ideas and sympathies and in their vocabulary an "insurgent."

The man named is personally unknown in his political career, and such has his eyes on the White House. The friends of Beveridge in the Republican minorities in Indiana has proposed to even greater extent in the Pennsylvania campaign, and the Pinchot supporters are in touch with those of Beveridge and Johnson, the three executive States to be the beginning of a movement for the Republican nomination for President in 1924.

WORKING TOGETHER

In the beginning stage of the campaign, they are willing to work together, although each has been all trained on the Presidency for himself. Hiram Johnson will such old institutions as the Electoral College and propaganda against popular vote and rule wiped out in his million the Hearst propaganda. He has own ambitions, and is with the Pinchots and Beveridges so long as he can without injury to his own ambitions. He will be out for himself.

Pinchot, the result next Tuesday, is something every man in politics and has far greater than a mere fight for the Republican nomination for Governor. Pinchot, if successful, will have political power and influence with his national party. He was exhibited in the world as rather notorious, Pinchot fight which wrecked the Taft administration and contributed to the Republican feud which let the Democratic party take the national government for eight years.

As one leader of the Republican party said today: "The effort is only a little cloud on the political horizon today, but watch it. It is full of significance and may result in a political hurricane in two years unless it is dissipated by Republican solidarity."

"The greatest gainer is the soft drink business, then comes the ice cream, and the fourth, the candy and other dealers, with tobacco as the fifth."

CRIPPLED RACE OF CHILDREN

SENATE HOPE OF ARMY BILL

Believed Solemn Warnings Will be Heeded

House Measure Endangers Nation's Defense

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 12. — The War Department, from Secretary Weeks down to the enlisted men in the Army, is looking hopefully to the Senate to save the national land defense from the fate of inadequacy and inefficiency to which the House appropriation bill would condemn it.

Secretary Weeks believes that the warnings delivered by President Harding, Gen. Pershing, Gen. Harbord and himself have made an impression upon a majority of the members of the Senate and he is confident that many of the alleged shortcomings of the House bill will be overcome before the measure finally comes to the White House for signature.

MINIMUM REQUIRED

"I cannot think of greater folly than attempts to economize by unwise reductions of our forces below the minimum required for the development of the national defense system sanctioned by the National Defense Act," Secretary Weeks declared in discussing the alleged inadequacy of the House measure. "The entire structure rests upon the soundest economic foundation. The best talent we have in our country, trained in the service before the war, with the added experience of service during the war, and with the fullest appreciation of our economic requirements, is firm in the belief that we should not reduce our regular forces below 150,000 men."

Gen. Pershing is no less emphatic.

"A careful consideration of the work in hand, if the initial well-laid scheme is not to be seriously curtailed and many essential activities abandoned, leads inevitably to the conclusion that any further reduction would be disastrous," said he.

Treating the question in a broader, but no less definite manner, President Harding stands solidly behind the National Defense Act, and has called upon every patriotic citizen to encourage the development of the machinery provided for under that act.

Army experts, headed by Gen. Pershing and Gen. Harbord, reiterated today their belief that the House bill defeats the purposes of the National Defense Act and imperils the whole contemplated system of national defense.

"I believe the appropriation as passed by the House is dangerously small and imperils the national defense, particularly striking at the National Guard, the organized reserves, the reserve officers' training camps and the civilian military training camps," Gen. Harbord declared, adding that the measure "so reduces the regular establishment that the purposes of the Act of June 4, 1920, cannot be carried out."

TO INVESTIGATE STEEL MERGER

Senate Orders Action by Federal Officers

Resolution by La Follette is Adopted

Many Transactions in Wall-Street Stocks

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 12. — An order from the Senate to the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission to make an investigation followed close today upon the announcement in New York yesterday of the purchase of the Lackawanna Steel Company by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and upon reports recently circulated of a prospective merger of six large independent steel companies.

The order, embodied in a resolution offered by Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, and adopted with little discussion except for an address by the Wisconsin Senator, directed both Federal agents to inform the Senate what steps have been taken or proposed to ascertain the probable effects of the merger and what action has been instituted "to protect the public interests." The Department of Justice was further requested to advise the Senate whether proceedings under the Sherman and Clayton Acts to restrain the combination were advisable.

REFUSES TO COMMENT

Acting Atty.-Gen. Goff, after adoption of the resolution, said he could not comment on it until he had received a copy, but from other Department of Justice officials, it was learned that while no plans as yet had been taken to prevent the merger, an investigation as directed by the Senate would follow. These officials said definite reports of the merger had been available so recently that the department had not had time to investigate.

Federal Trade Commission officials said that in accordance with the Senate resolution, an investigation of the proposed merger would be undertaken immediately.

ATTACK BY LAFOLLETTE

Senator La Follette, in calling up his resolution, offered several days ago, attacked the proposed combination of the new independent companies, declaring the merger, if effected, would work irreparable injury.

"The purpose of the merger is clear," he said. "It is the elimination of whatever competition now exists in the steel industry and the creation of a situation where prices may be fixed on a monopoly basis without fear of detection."

WALL STREET AROUSED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—Mergers and rumors of mergers sent several thrills through Wall street today, transactions in steel issues alone making up nearly one-half of the day's total sales of 1,225,000 shares.

Lackawanna Steel, whose purchase by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation became known just before the market closed yesterday, went as high as 78 3-4, a net gain for the day of 12 3-8, and for two days of 19 3-8. Only a few months ago it was selling around fifty. There were 88,700 shares traded in. Bethlehem Class B transactions totaled 59,100 shares at a net gain of 2 1-4 for the day.

Shares of the Wickwire Spencer Steel Corporation, which, it is reported, will be the next acquisition of the Bethlehem concern, totaled 49,800 for a net gain of 2 1-2 points.

CLOSE WITH GAINS

Midvale and Republic steels, which are the only shares of the proposed merger traded in on the board, were heavy at first, upon reports that the withdrawal of the Lackawanna from the original seven-company combination would upset its plans, but they strengthened later and closed with net gains of 1-2, and 1 3-4 points, respectively. Midvale dealings totaled 24,900 shares, and Republic, 24,700.

The United States Steel and the smaller independent steel stocks also registered gains, varying from fractions to 4 5-8 in the case of Crucible Steel.

Abandonment of the proposed Pierce-Arrow and Lafayette motors merger, which has been under discussion for several weeks, resulted in a net loss of 2 1-2 on Pierce-Arrow preferred, and 1-8 on the common on total transactions of 17,800 shares, about equally divided between the two issues. Lafayette stock is not traded in on the local exchanges.

GERMAN-RUSSIAN RELATIONS DEVELOP

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MOSCOW, May 12.—Relations between Russia and Germany are developing rapidly. Three hundred thousand German colonists have been authorized to return to Samara and Saratov.

Figures show a remarkable decline in officialism in State enterprises, in which the government, until recently, employed most of the towns folk. Last fall it employed 7,451,000, while now the figure has fallen to 467,100.

LONDON'S POLICE FRIEND IS DEAD

Bay City Officer With Whom Author Pounded Beat Dies

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12. Michael Brady, San Francisco policeman, with whom Jack London, famed author, used to walk the beat when London was in search of "local color," is dead today after an illness of several weeks.

Before the fire in 1906, the author would often seek the policeman and hammer the pavements with him, in order to get a new angle on some particular line of literary thought, according to police annals.

PAY READJUSTMENT BILL PASSES HOUSE

FIXES SALARY AND ALLOWANCE FOR ARMY, NAVY AND OTHER BRANCHES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The Mackenzie bill, readjusting the pay and allowanbe of the commissioned and enlisted personnel of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey and Public Health Service, was passed tonight by the House, 219 to 94.

The bill will go immediately to the Senate as leaders had announced that the Army and Navy supply bills already passed by the House, were being held up so that the new pay scales could be included.

The House defeated, 221 to 40, a motion by Representative Connally, Democrat, Texas, to recommit the bill to the committee which framed it, with instruction to eliminate the section authorizing money allowances for subsistence to be determined by the President for each year in accordance with a certificate by the Secretary of Labor, showing the comparative retail cost of food in the United States for the previous year as compared with prices in 1923. Had this been stricken out the old rate allowed in 1908 would have stood Representative Alice Robertson, Republican, Oklahoma, won her fight for higher subsistence, and room-rent money for Army and Navy nurses. Her amendment increased the subsistence rate from 40 cents to $1.20 a day, and rent money from $40 to $60 a month.

Under an amendment by Representative Bland, Republican, Indiana, adopted by the House, former National Guardsmen taken into the Army will be given the benefit of 50 per cent of their guard service in determining their pay rating.

Chairman McKenzie of the committee in charge of the bill declared that it represented six months of toil, that in the years to come it would "save millions of dollars" and would bring satisfaction to all ranks in the various services.

GOVERNMENT OPPOSES CAMERON DEMURRER

JUDGE CUTS OFF ARGUMENT AGAINST PETITION OF SENATOR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, May 12. — In the District Court this morning was submitted a part of the government's argument against the granting of a demurrer against a Federal indictment charging Senator Ralph H. Cameron with perjury in connection with his statement of election expense. Assistant Attorney Francis Crabbe denied in general the submitted argument relative to the insufficiency or illegality of charging perjury under the operation of the Corrupt Practices Act, as claimed by the defense.

Judge Van Fleet halted argument concerning the sufficiency of a notary public's certification of a document directed by Federal law and stated that the case appeared to him "a matter of receipts and expenditures charged in excess of those allowed by law," and "whether the case in question came under the Corrupt Practices Act and, if so, could the violation be such as to constitute perjury." There was continuation till tomorrow morning for submission of authorities of several disputed points.

Before recess, Judge Van Fleet stated that he would proceed with the case at once in the event he should overrule the demurrer, but that should he sustain it he would put his opinion in writing. He wishes to return to San Francisco at the earliest possible date.

PROHIBITION NAVY GOES INTO ACTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DETROIT, May 12.—Michigan's "prohibition navy" went into commission yesterday with orders from Col. Roy C. Vandercook, commissioner of the State Department of Public Safety, to patrol the Detroit River for liquor smugglers and to chart the lanes and inlets the smugglers used in their journeys between Canadian and American shores.

Patrol No. 1, at 100-horsepower boat with a speed of thirty-eight miles an hour, is armed with rifles, machine guns and tear gas. The boat yesterday averaged between thirty-five and thirty-eight miles. A sister patrol of similar horse power was launched last evening.

Col. Vandercook plans to patrol the entire Michigan coast line where smugglers operate and will increase the number of fast patrols as the increase of coastal duties warrants, he says.

Flood Damage Heavy in Canada

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WINNIPEG (Man.) May 12.—Further rise during the past twenty-four hours has aggravated flood conditions along the Assiniboin River and a serious situation exists with resultant damage to farm lands, homes and live-stock in the affected area between Headingly, twelve miles west of this city, and the district surrounding Poplar Point.

WOOD ALCOHOL IS DISCUSSED

Senate Wrangle Over Tariff Goes Merrily On

Charges of Filibuster Are Repeated by Majority

Democrats Insist Measure Being Railroaded

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 12. — Republican and Democratic leaders in the Senate got into another row today over the tariff, the controversy centering around the attacks of Republican newspapers on the measure and on the duty of 10 cents a gallon proposed on wood alcohol by the Finance Committee. There were charges of a filibuster from the majority side and flat denials from the Democratic side with counter-charges that the members of the committee were refusing to give the Senate information about the rates on which it could act intelligently.

EDITORIAL PRESENTED

The editorials were presented by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, the Democratic leader in the fight, who concluded a general assault on the bill with the prediction that if it were passed in the present form, it would "lead the business of this country into a debacle, from which it will take us a quarter of a century to rescue it and the direct consequences of which to the American people cannot be measured in words or figures."

Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, in charge of the bill, countered with a charge that the editorials were a part of a "propaganda" and the assertion that the prediction of Senator Simmons as to the result of the passage of the bill was not "one half as startling as would be the dire results" if the Underwood tariff law remained in effect for another year. He added that the Republicans were going to put a "protective tariff bill" on the statute books and would take "the consequences."

TO CONTINUE FIGHT

Asserting that there was a "combination" on the Republican side to put the bill through without "even considering the affair," Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, said that if there were no Republican Senators who would stand up and fight this bill, as did Senators Dolliver, Beveridge and others, when the Payne-Aldrich measure was up the Democrats would make the fight and would continue to make it until the bill was passed.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, remarked, that if the Democrats would present reasonable rates in substitution for the committee rates, "you will get some votes on this side." He added, that "some of those on the Republican side "would not vote for free trade."

Declaring there was no information on which to base a tariff at this time, Senator Borah said he would vote unhesitatingly to postpone consideration of the bill, adding that he would support an amendment to the emergency tariff law to take care of the situation until world conditions had become more settled and there was information on which to act.

SECRET AGREEMENT CHARGE

Senator Hitchcock insisted that the committee had failed to give the Senate information about the rates, and in reply to charges of Democratic relay, he demanded to know what excuse the Finance Committee could give for keeping the bill in committee from last July 12, to April 10. He said the time was not taken up with hearings, but largely with "secret meetings of the Republican members of the committee."

Senator Smoot of Utah, ranking Republican of the Finance Committee, charged that there was a filibuster of the chemical schedule and defended the committee rate of 10 cents a gallon on wood alcohol, which was approved, saying that Canada was building up a wood alcohol industry and imposed a tax of $3.30 a gallon on it. Senator Hitchcock read a tariff commission statement that the wood alcohol industry in the United States was one of the largest in the world, and insisted that the commodity should be on the free list as in the Payne-Aldrich and Underwood laws.

Handcuffed Pair Leap from Train; One Badly Hurt

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LANCASTER (Mo.) May 12.—An impediment in the form of a 18-year-old boy handcuffed to his wrist meant nothing to a Pomeroy negro bootlegger when it came to making a dash for liberty on a train running forty miles an hour yesterday. So through the window he went, taking the boy with him. The lad suffered a broken shoulder and other severe injuries.

The negro, John Sparkman, 35 years old, was being taken to the Dayton workhouse to serve a sentence for bootlegging. The boy, Leonard Larkins, was being taken to the State reform school at Lancaster. The two officers in charge of the prisoners had handcuffed them together. Both prisoners were recaptured.

CONAN DOYLE LIKES AMERICAN AUDIENCES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 13.—"I have broken all my lecture records," said Sir Arthur Conan Doyle yesterday before leaving for Niagara. "Have people been merely curious or sincerely anxious to learn the truth of spiritualism?" he was asked.

"Intellectually curious they have been, of course, but they have been sincere. I came to New York expecting to find a dollar-hunting crowd, and I found people who really want to know something about spiritualism. The reception has been much better than in London, where my lectures were ignored."

WOMEN WARNED OF TARIFF BILL COST

POMERENE SAYS PRESENT MEASURE BOOSTS CLOTHES COST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (O.) May 12.—That women of America will be forced to pay $1,000,000,000 a year more for clothing and other necessities if the Fordney Republican Tariff Bill passes in its present form, was the statement made by Senator Pomerene, who addressed a luncheon of Democratic women of Ohio here today.

Senator Pomerene cited the women to increases on certain articles under the Fordney Bill, as compared with the Underwood tariff. Duties on laces and silks, he said, were increased from 60 to 90 per cent; silk jonques averaging as high as 236 per cent; wool fabrics, 35 to 75 per cent; leather gloves, 14 to 37½ per cent; cotton gloves, from 35 to more than 100 per cent; table cutlery, 33 per cent to 130 per cent; children's toys, from 35 to 70 per cent, and buttons, 35 to 90 per cent.

TWO OLD TOWNS GET GAS SERVICE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12. — Sausalito and Mill Valley, two old and prosperous Marin county municipalities, are to have gas service for the first time, following negotiations between the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and the Railroad Commission, it is announced. Although communities just to the north and contiguous to San Rafael, the county seat, have had gas for years, the two towns, estimated to contain at least 1100 consumers, have had to do without. The work of installing the service, estimated to cost $200,000, will be begun as soon as rights of way and franchises are obtained.

Solicitors Make Up Deficit in Hotel Pledges

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, May 12.—The largest irrigation project so far undertaken in the State of California, and one of the most potentially productive in the world, took shape today at a meeting of irrigation engineers held in the Hotel Fresno.

The meeting was called under the auspices of the San Joaquin River Conservation Association, and the district interests represented own more than 1,000,000 acres of land.

The delegates present were authorized to act on behalf of practically all present users of San Joaquin River water, these extending over the west side of Fresno county, and taking in the Maders, Merced and Stanislaus county systems.

ESTIMATES MADE

Preliminary estimates are that the run-off of the San Joaquin is greater than that of the Kings River, and therefore the new combination of districts and interests represents a greater possible irrigation acreage than that affected by the Kings River consolidation, under what is known as the Pine Flat project.

Following is the list of representatives present at today's meeting. Mendota district, I. Tellman, resident engineer; Merda district, Louis C. Hill, Los Angeles; Tranquility district, R. C. McFarland; West Stanislaus district, Everett N. Bryson; Rio Tierra Investment Company, H. H. Henderson; Stevenson district, J. G. Waters; Unorganized territory, Ellery, Frost and Patten; San Joaquin Light and Power Company, L. J. Moore.

Louis C. Hill was appointed permanent chairman of the engineering board. He is a member of the firm of Quinton, Code & Hill, Los Angeles, and is chief engineer of the Madera irrigation district. J. W. Fink of Crows Landing, permanent secretary of the San Joaquin River Conservation Association, acted as secretary of the meeting.

The scope and plan of organization were taken up in detail at the resumed session this afternoon, and arrangements were made for carrying out the preliminary survey of the consolidated area, such as has been made of the Pine Flat district.

HOTEL ASSURED

With approximately $45,000 lacking in the drive to secure $150,000 to guarantee the erection of a $1,000,000 hotel in Fresno, team captains and majors underwrote the deficit at the luncheon which closed the campaign today. A secondary campaign to finance the deficit will be held next Wednesday.

In addition to over $100,000 secured in the last three days, $480,000 has been subscribed for the hotel and arrangements have been made to finance the structure. It is to be eight stories in height.

DID WITHOUT FOOD AS LONG AS HE COULD

Alameda Citizen Suffered so Terribly From Indigestion He Was Afraid to Eat—Lost 26 Pounds.

"It is a fact, I began to feel like a new man before I finished my first bottle of Tanlac," said Joseph H. Peterson, 1025 Fair Oaks Ave., Alameda, Cal.

"For twelve years I suffered with stomach trouble. I had no appetite, was badly constipated, and would go without eating as long as I could, knowing when I did eat I would bloat up with gas and have a terrible choking sensation and there would be such intense cramping pains in my stomach they would drive me almost frantic. I lost twenty-six pounds in weight in three weeks and was in such a miserable, run-down condition I could get but little sleep.

"Before I had finished my first bottle of Tanlac, I felt like a different man, and now I've completely regained my health, strength and weight. Tanlac is a grand medicine and I will always praise it."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

"Times" Radio Concert Group

The Times—KHJ—on the air today, 7:15 to 8 p.m. Emory Foster, baritone, director of the Temple Baptist Church choir, will sing, "Mother O' Mine," by Tours, and "O Golden Sun," by Freebey. David Wright, director at the Academy of Music at Brantford, Ont., Can., will accompany on the piano.

William Pilcher, tenor, will sing, "Dawn," by Curran, "The Crying of the Water," by Tipton, and "Twilight," by Glenn. Karola Frick at the piano.

Ethel Jenks, dramatic soprano, will sing, "One Fine Day," from Madam Butterfly, by Puccini, and "Her Danny." Margaret Wilson at the piano.

The Times was on the air last night and an all-Fanny-Dillon program; in the afternoon concert, Arthur Gramm, violinist-composer, broadcast from KHJ.

Sending her well-trained voice to music lovers of the Pacific Slope, Mrs. Grace Mabee sang two of Miss Dillon's compositions, entitled "Evening," and "A Love Song." She was accompanied by the composer.

The effective violin work of Sol Cohen in two Dillon compositions radiated with distinct clarity, said reports from receiving stations. The numbers were "A Legend of Monadnock Mountain," accompanied by Miss Lillian Hagenberg at the piano.

Mr. Gramm, accompanied by Mrs. Gramm, rendered his composition, "Chanson Triste;" "The Oak," by Cecil Burleigh, "Meditation," by Cottenet.

Miss Irene Wadey, soprano, sang "My Heart is Singing" (Sans Souci;) "Sunbeams," by Landon Ronald and "Cuckoo Song," by Franz Abt. Miss Georgiaella Lay played the piano solos: "Minuet," by Beethoven; "Venice and Naples," "Tarantella," and "Canzonette," by Liszt.

I

In my house I have a wireless telephone.
Now I stay home and never care to roam,
I listen in on concerts, and I listen in on shows,
Where the voices come from, goodness only knows,
But there's one girl I hate to miss,
For when she sings, my heart is filled with bliss.

CHORUS

My Radio Girl, my brain is in a whirl,
When I hear her on the wireless,
In my heart she sets strange fires,
I can't wait till I get home,
To tune in on my radiophone,
How I hate to miss her,
I'd sure love to kiss her,
My Radiant, Radio Girl.

II

Night and day I have her vision on my mind,
I'd be so happy if this girlie I could find,
So I listen in on sermons, and I listen in on sales,
And I never miss the bedtime fairy tales,
From KHJ to XYZ
Searching for my affinity.

Radio operators are able to predict weather with a fair degree of accuracy, by listening to the various government station reports and prognosticating from their sum total. Static will indicate whether a storm is approaching or whether warm sultry weather is at hand. The beginning of the static season is a sign of straw hats and spring, the ending of the static season indicates winter.

There is no need for a government license to receive. No taxes or legal requirements of any sort are necessary in connection with the installation and operation of radio receiving sets.

The government committee on nomenclature recommendation urges the elimination of the word "wireless" from the public vocabulary. Radio may be used exclusively. Wireless will be ruled out and pronounced obsolete, it is said. The team "wireless" has proved more or less confusing due to the fact a great amount of wire is utilized in communicating through space. "Radio," the substitute, is taken from the Latin word radius, ray, and radiation. Radio, radiant energy and radiation are closely allied. Thus the term "radio" becomes more comprehensive than the old "wireless."

SCHOOL RADIOPHONE INSTRUMENTS FILMED

Still and motion pictures were taken yesterday morning of 6YA, the Y. M. C. A. radio station for use in a series of educational films being prepared by the Olesen studio.

The Y. M. C. A. School station was chosen for these pictures because of its complete set of radio telegraph and telephone equipment. A new aneonna has been installed on the Y building, and since then students attending the school can hear messages from the Atlantic Coast and other distant points.

CHAUFFEUR JAILED

Fine Also Levied For Reckless Driving

Ten days in jail and $100 fine were the sentence meted out to Frank Talbott, truck driver, for reckless driving yesterday. Police Judge Chambers imposed the sentence, after evidence had been introduced showing Talbott had driven into the rear end of a limousine at Sunset Boulevard and Mohawk street. Several women and a priest in the automobile escaped injury.

Listening in KHJ

Thousands of people sauntering in the warm evening air at Westlake Park last evening heard The Times radiophone concert, some from a distance of three blocks away from the receiving instruments. Hundreds of people boasting on the lake could clearly hear words and music as sent out by the regenerative receiver, three-stage amplifier and loud speaker at the park, which is believed to comprise one of the best receiving equipments in the city.

"Where can I listen in on The Times radio program?" is the oft-repeated query at the radio information bureau maintained by The Times. The Times station is utilized for broadcasting only.

The places to hear radio programs free of charge, besides Westlake Park, are: Barker Brothers, 724 South Broadway, noon to 5:30 p.m.; Silverwood's, Sixth and Broadway, 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.; Hamburger's, Eighth and Broadway, 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.; Heath Electrical Company, 1077 North Western avenue, daily and evenings; Radio Service Company, 337 South Western avenue, daily and evenings; Boyar & White, 621 South Spring street, daily and evenings.

Ray Newby, licensed operator of station KQW, located at San Jose, has just returned from a trip to Los Michos, Sinaloa, Mex., where he installed a receiver and two-step amplifier. Due to the heavy static difficulty was experienced during certain times of the day in receiving anything. However, Mr. Newby succeeded in picking up The Times KHJ, the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, and the station at Los Angeles.

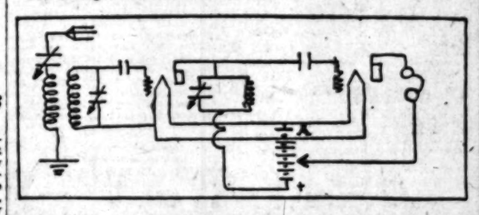
LESSON 40

By G. C. Farmer

Advantages of the radio-frequency amplifier over the audio-frequency amplifier described yesterday are numerous. In the first place, step for step, the tuned radio-frequency amplifier should cost less than the audio-frequency type. Another thing, it is more quiet in operation; that is, tube noises are not so noticeable.

The hissing that often occurs in the detector circuit, especially if it is tuned near the critical point, will not be increased by the radio-frequency amplifier because that part of the apparatus comes before the detector. This detector hissing as amplified by the audio-frequency amplifier is a serious hindrance to long-distance reception.



Radio-frequency amplification is not used to amplify loud signals. It is, on the other hand, especially suitable for bringing in distant stations that would not be audible to the detector alone.

More steps of radio-frequency can be employed than of audio-frequency with less whistling or howling coming from the tubes. For the best all-'round results combination of radio and audio- or frequency amplification is used, the detector in this case being in the middle of the circuit or between the radio and audio-frequency amplifiers.

For short waves (less than 1000) the tuned plate circuit type of radio-frequency amplifier is employed advantageously. It is very selective, and must be tuned in resonance with incoming signals. For this reason more than one or two steps of this kind of amplification is somewhat impractical.

A small variable condenser of about .0010 micro-farads or less is needed. The inductance can be constructed of a fiber tube three and one-half or four inches in diameter and two and one-half inches wide, wound, using No. 24 double cotton-covered wire with ten taps taken out at equal intervals.

It is advised that all connections be as short as possible and none of them running parallel. When any of them cross they should be as near to right angles as possible.

The figure shows how the amplifier is hooked up. A little trouble may be experienced at first in tuning. Bearing in mind that the inductance and condenser must work in resonance with the tuner itself this trouble is soon overcome, however. A double point double throw switch can be employed to throw the amplifier in or out of the circuit if desired.

Shoppers for Banking Favors Lose Advantages of a Permanent Financial Home

BY CHAPIN HALL

Now that the credit situation is becoming easier, we are again witnessing one of the peculiar phenomena of American financial life. Many borrowers appear already to have forgotten the lessons of the period of credit stringency and are once more shopping for the lowest possible interest rates. In many cases the promise of their bank account, now held by another bank, is the lever used in the attempt to secure lower discount rates.

One of the most important lessons learned by many business concerns during the late depression was that a permanent and amicable banking affiliation is one of the most important assets that a business concern can have. The customer who treated his banks fairly during the period of easy credits and prosperity was taken care of by that bank during the recent period of depression to the limit of the bank's capacity.

On the other hand, the type of customer who failed to keep a balance sufficient to compensate the bank for carrying his business, or the customer who was always shopping for the lowest discount rate during prosperous times and shifting his business from bank to bank in order to take advantage of temporary concessions, especially if he did most of his borrowing through commercial paper brokers, found that during the depression and period of credit stringency his banker did not feel bound by any particular duty or obligation to care for him. In many cases, his losses, resulting from inability to demand credit when it was most needed, more than offset temporary profits from his shopping tours.

It is only natural that during a period of credit stringency, bankers are inclined to show the greatest consideration to those customers who showed the greatest consideration to the bank during periods of easy credits. In fact, the banker undoubtedly feels a definite obligation, even in times of greatest pressure, to that customer who had carried good balances during prosperous times and who has not taken up the first offer of a lower rate that was made by a competitive bank or commercial paper broker, or who has not shifted his bank account every time some competitive institution offered a slight concession to secure his business.

The bankers do not object to the use of commercial paper brokers by borrowing customers, but, generally speaking, they do not expect their customers to use brokers to the exclusion of the bank. In time of tight credit the banker will probably have to carry more of his customer's paper than he cares to handle. In return for this service, it is only fair that in times of easy credit, when funds are seeking investment, the banker be given an opportunity to carry a fair share of his customer's paper.

As a general proposition, the customer who floats his paper through commercial brokers during periods of easy credit, eventually finds a time when it becomes necessary to look to his bank to take care of maturing obligations coming due during a period when there is no large reservoir of surplus credit seeking temporary investment. Then the value of a long-standing, amicable banking connection becomes apparent.

A borrower making use of note brokers should offer his bank an opportunity to handle a fair share of his borrowings and split his business between bank and broker in such a manner as to maintain friendly relations with both.

Concerns borrowing through commercial brokers, without giving their bank full knowledge of these operations, sometimes find themselves in serious difficulties when money commences to tighten. If the banker has not been informed of the loan operations of his customer, and has not had an opportunity to prepare to take care of him, when there is a sudden tightening in the credit situation and he finds it necessary to call upon his banker to protect his outstanding obligations, the bank is not in a position to provide the funds over night, and a mere temporary flurry may jeopardize the firm, simply because the banker's lack of knowledge concerning the operations of his customer has prevented his preparing for the demand resulting from an emergency.

There is probably no better business asset and no better insurance against financial difficulties than amicable long-standing relations with a single bank. The bank customer who has been a shopper for rates and other concessions during the period of easy credit and prosperity is apt to find that his competitor, who has stayed with his bank during times of prosperity and gone half way in maintaining mutually satisfactory relations, makes far greater progress over a long period of time, because of the greater ease with which he can secure credit when credit is necessary, while the shopper for rates and concessions finds the ordinary channels of credit closed or very difficult to tap.

BUSINESS NEWS

Slight Indigestion in Bond Market; Rumored Bank Mergers Stir North

The recent slowing-up in the daily output of new bond issues is taken by most market observers to be the result of a slight attack of indigestion with which investors are suffering at present. New issues continue to be heavily oversubscribed as soon as they appear, but this is not necessarily a sign that they are reaching the hands of the ultimate consumer at once. The heavy orders for the various new flotations come from the retail houses, who still have the work of final distribution before them. Thus the present market sluggishness can be laid to the fact that the process of distributing the millions of dollars of recent issues has not yet been completed.

The rising bond market has brought with it an army of petty speculators who buy up large blocks of the new issues and sell them on a quick turn as soon as the general price trend has carried the price up a point or so above the original offering. This factor explains the peculiar course of fluctuations taken by many new issues shortly after their appearance on the market.

For instance, a large block of bonds was recently floated in this city at 101. The books were closed a few hours after the original offering was made and investors were allotted only 25 per cent of their subscriptions. The price of the issue promptly shot up to 102 and held firm near that figure for a week. Certificates will be issued early next week and at that time payment on the bonds will be called for by the underwriting syndicate.

As a result all the speculators who bought the bonds without investing any particular capital are now unloading their holdings on a "when-issued" basis and the price has fallen to about 100 1-4. As soon as the payments have been made and the bonds go into the hands of strong holders, the price in all probability will return to its former level of 102.

Another factor that has cut down the number of new issues coming to this market is serious competition from abroad in the matter of new financing. London appears to be returning to its former position of eminence as the world's banker. Several foreign offerings have recently been floated simultaneously in the United States and in Europe and in the last instance of this sort, the Brazil coffee loan, the lion's share of the issue went to London and the bonds were denominated in sterling instead of dollars. Cause for this situation is found in the extreme easiness of money in London at present; second, to the splendid market for gilt-edged bonds abroad, and third, to the fact that the British investing public has had a longer and much more through investment education than American investors. This last advantage, however, is somewhat offset by the size of the field here.

One of the examples where English competition is cutting into this country's underwriting business is found in the proposed loan of 2,000,000 pounds for the completion of a telephone system in Australia. It is generally believed that the London bankers can underbid New York at least two points on this issue when it is offered.

Other projected financing from abroad includes a $24,000,000 5 per cent twenty-five year loan to Bolivia to provide for a government railroad in that country. Offering a $45,000,000 Tri-State Telephone Company bonds is the largest piece of domestic financing scheduled for the near future.

SAN FRANCISCO BANKS

Mergers and rumors of mergers are now the topics of the day among San Francisco banking interests. Recently word was received from the North that the Crocker National Bank and the First National Bank of San Francisco, with its subsidiary, the Federal Trust Company were about to merge into one great banking institution, with resources of approximately $100,000,000. Two weeks have passed, however, since this report first came out and the deal appears to be no nearer consummation.

The latest development in the situation has been the announcement that Rudolph Spreckels, president of the First National, has disposed of his holdings in the Mercantile Trust Company. William H. Crocker, of the Crocker National, has also recently sold his interests in the Mercantile. It is generally presumed that both purchases were made by the same group of bankers operating within the Mercantile Trust Company.

San Francisco newspaper commentaries on these sales ascribe them to one of the other of two motives. Either, they say, Mr. Crocker and Mr. Spreckels are preparing to pool their united financial strength in one big institution or these realignments mean that they are preparing to devote all their strength and energies to build up their respective institutions.

Mr. Spreckels so far has declined to make any statement, beyond admitting that he and other members of the Spreckels family had disposed of their holdings in the Mercantile.

Another angle in the case is the selection of a president of the new bank should the Crocker and the First National merge. Mr. Crocker and Mr. Spreckels would naturally be the leading candidates for such a position. It is reported that strong interests are at work to effect the election of Mr. Crocker, a factor that is said to be causing the backers of Mr. Spreckels no little concern.

MEYER FOR RESERVE?

The term of W. G. P. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board expires this summer, and the banking fraternity is much interested in his successor. Eugene Meyer, Jr., is most frequently mentioned, but Mr. Meyer's appointment would necessitate the retirement of Edmund Platt as vice-governor, because the act limits, in effect, the representation of any district on the board to one member. Most bankers would prefer to see Mr. Harding succeed himself, because of the equipment for the place he has gained by experience. If he is to retire, however, there is felt to be an ample selection of qualified banking brains to draw upon.

FEDERAL RESERVE

Federal Reserve Bank report for the Twelfth District as of May 10, shows total reserves of $279,427,000, which compares with $272,382,000 for the preceding week, and $198,813,000 for the corresponding week a year ago. Total resources advanced to $429,387,000 from $425,783,000 the week before. A year ago they were $421,624,000. Deposits increased for the week from $141,820,000 to $144,011,000. For the corresponding week in 1921 they were $120,566,000. Of this total the member bank reserve account is $121,488,000, against $119,073,000 for the preceding week, and $112,160,000 last year. Federal reserve notes in actual circulation totaled $216,674,000, declining from $238,673,000 for the corresponding week a year ago. For the preceding week this total was $224,745,000. Discount rates remain unchanged at 4½ per cent on all classes of paper.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Bradstreet's will say today:

Better weather and crop reports, the Southwest and lower Mississippi valley expected; more activity in retail trade, though few sections report conditions better than fair; collections still on the slow side; industrial activities in April crystallizing into numerous favorable measures of movement; a rather better trend of reports as to European trade and political conditions chief of these being new high levels for sterling exchange, but rather quieter and reactionary stock markets, about summarize the week's happenings.

As regards the stock market it might be said to be appearing to mark time, while the industries, whose improvement it had been foretelling and discounting from last summer to mid-April, are "consolidating their position to use a war-time phrase."

Weekly bank clearings, $7,184,703,000.

NEW FARM LOAN BONDS

Oversubscription of the recent offering of $75,000,000 4½ per cent farm loan bonds of the Federal Land Bank resulted yesterday in an announcement by the syndicate managers that additional bonds to the extent of $42,000,000 had been purchased from the Farm Loan Board. These bonds will be used to retire the 5 per cent Federal Land Bank bonds, now held by the United States Treasury. The additional bonds have all been sold.

LICENSE REVOKED

The broker's license of A. B. Chittenden, with offices at 630 Title Insurance Building, was revoked by Corporation Commissioner E. M. Daugherty. According to Mr. Daugherty, this action was taken following an official investigation of Chittenden's operations in connection with the Jerome Superior Copper Company. The attention of the commission was directed to Chittenden's activities by complaints brought some time ago by S. E. Gideon, 1027 West Twenty-third street, and Clinton L. Miller, 1234 West Twenty-second street. The Jerome Superior Copper Company was recently made the subject of a hearing in this city by the Arizona Corporation Commission.

REVIVAL IS GROWING

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—In the week-end mercantile trade reviews, there is this time somewhat less of a positive note than in the reports of the week before; it is evident that, except in certain industries, such as steel and building construction, revival of activity progresses slowly. This, in a measure, undoubtedly causes disappointment, especially as the spring season is passing, and the normally less active summer season not far away. But the indices have been too, unanimous and distinct to admit of any other conclusion than that of general recovery. The probability is that in business, as a whole, the revival in actual transactions has been larger already than even the commercial experts have supposed.

The formal announcement, made after the close of business Thursday, regarding the merger of the Bethlehem and the Lackawanna Steel Companies, had the effect of advancing prices rapidly today for the shares of both companies. From the low price of Thursday, Lackawanna Steel had advanced at today's highest 21 1-4 points and Bethlehem Steel 5 3-4. Until the terms on which new Bethlehem stock is to be exchanged for existing Lackawanna Steel shares have been officially given out, it will not be possible to say how far the advance in the purchased shares is warranted. It is Wall street's habit to make such calculations of the basis of existing market values and the ratio in which one of the stocks is to be exchanged for another, and reports of what the ratio of exchange would be, were the ground for today's rise in the Lackawanna Steel shares.

Such computation doubtless gives an idea of the extent to which a purchasing company has or has not bid above the open market for the property acquired. It usually ignores, however, one somewhat essential element in the calculations; the effect on the value of the purchasing company's existing shares and its large prospective issue of new stock to make the purchase. This and the fact that the market sometimes makes mistakes in its expectation of the terms will occasionally lead to futile stock exchange movements. When the terms of the famous United States Steel amalgamation were actually announced in February, 1901, after being generously "discounted" beforehand by a ten-point rise in stocks of the companies which were to be acquired, the same stocks fell to the lowest price of the year.

Actual confirmation of a merger was, however, enough to wake up speculative Wall Street today. It was, at any rate, concrete news, and the stock exchange, as every one learned in the days of industrial stock dividends during the spring of 1920, is always willing to value at 5 or 6 the addition of 2 and 2. The price of several other "independent steel shares" was advanced on the market today and some success was achieved in stirring up activity among industrial stocks not connected with the steel trade. The result, however, was a series of highly irregular changes and a few declines. The bond market, also, as a rule, went moderately higher, with considerably larger total transactions.

Foreign exchange rates changed little for the day. The exchange market is in fact displaying a certain lassitude about "reflecting Genoa;" which is hardly to be wondered at when the somewhat fantastic negotiations with the soviet take such extraordinary overnight turns. Since it has become impracticable any longer to discount the breaking of the Anglo-French entente, the market is obviously drifting.

BOND QUOTATIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—Responsive to the better tone of the stock market, the bond list hardened today on broader operations, which included numerous investment issues.

Reflecting the Bethlehem-Lackawanna steel merger, Lackawanna Steel 5s rose two points. Virginia-Carolina chemical issues also strengthened with American Cotton Oil.

Packard Motor, Kelly-Springfield and other motor and rubber securities, improved and local utilities, including Interborough Rapid Transit 5s, were in demand.

Changes among rails were limited mainly to fractions, although Chicago and Eastern Illinois 6s showed marked strength, with St. Paul and Missouri, Kansas and Texas issues.

Among government issues, Liberties closed at nominal gains or losses, and Dutch East Indies of 1902 and Norway 8s were firm to strong with Uruguay 5s. Copenhagen 5½s, Belgian 7½s and Mexican 4s were lower. Total sales, par value, aggregated $16,013,000.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—Steel resumed today's stock market leadership, the list denoted the direction of public interest and various speculative centers.

Steel preferred was the foremost feature throughout the session, the company's proposed merger with Bethlehem Steel underwent extreme rise and at a net gain of nearly a point of 19 3-4 for the day.

Independent steels, particularly mentioned as in line with the seven company merger, which originally influenced were reactionary, but rallied later. Crucible, Republic, Sloss, Colt, United States and Wickwire moved gross gains of 1 to 3 points.

Sinclair Oil was the only active issue in particular to show a narrow movement, closing at an advance of 1 point. It was reported that the Sinclair-Pierce Oil merger would be proposed at a special meeting of the stockholders of the latter company, which were heavy sellers on failure of the merger to materialize.

Motors showed increased firmness, prices quoted for higher prices quoted for Mack and tobacco were generally retail stores, but the trade was light and neglected. Sales amounted to 1,000,000 shares.

Stocks forced the day's decline, but recovered from the lowest quotations of the session, ending with a net loss of 1 point per share. Sterling exchange was firm and Scandinavian bills hardened. Japanese quotations were generally advanced by adverse financial crisis in China.

MOTORMEN FOR SPEEDING

STORM PROVES COSTLY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, May 13. — As a result of what is said to have been the worst storm that has struck the coast off Newport Beach in recent years, the dredge which has been working at the harbor entrance was tied up within the harbor in a badly battered condition today. On account of the damage to the dredge, work on the harbor entrance and in the turning basin in Newport Harbor may be delayed for more than two months.

The ladder that held the suction pipe and revolving digger on the bottom was broken from the dredge by the storm and this 60-ton portion of the dredger now lies under 14 feet of water. There is said to be no derrick barge in Newport Harbor capable of lifting it back to position. The derrick barge in attendance on the dredge was also sunk by the force of the waves. With it was lost a valuable hoisting engine and other equipment.

Small boats in the harbor were blown from their moorings and many were washed ashore by the violence of the storm. A heavy derrick barge, the property of the Newport Harbor Marine Corporation, was prevented from smashing into the fleet of valuable pleasure boats when it broke from its moorings by the main strength of H. L. Sherman, manager of the Marine Corporation, who waded into the water up to his waist to hold the heavy craft until others could tie it to the dock.

Ranchers Hope Yuma Dam Will Hold Colorado

CALEXICO, May 13.—Irrigation District officials and ranchers below the international boundary were greatly encouraged today in the belief that the Colorado River's early flood will pass without doing any considerable damage.

The tri-weekly reading, taken this morning, showed the discharge at Yuma to be 56,000 feet per second. The new dam below Yuma is holding in fine shape, showing no signs of weakening. Pescadero cutoff, built to take the burden of the flood by lessening the pressure upon the levees through direct distribution of the excess water, is now receiving 32,000 cubic feet per second.

Tributaries of the Colorado are rising slowly, but the swelling flood is running rapidly through the outlets that have been provided.

Rudolph Valentino Says Talk He Is Married Untrue

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, May 13. — Rudolph Valentino, Los Angeles movie star, who is here today with his director, Douglas Gerrard, in search of location for desert scenery, denied that he was married to Natacha Rambova. The latter is one of the party here, accompanied by Dr. White, a woman physician. Valentino says published reports of his wedding are untrue, but that he and Miss Rambova may be considered engaged. Valentino and his director hiked into the desert soon after arriving here.

The Southern California Shakespearian contest, which was held at Cumnock School yesterday afternoon, was won by Miss Beatrice Folger of Hollywood High School, and the boys' division was won by Leonard Levinson of Jefferson High School.

Nearly 300 teachers and friends attended the contest and schools from all over the south were represented.

Fewer boys were entered, although each school was entitled to enter a boy and a girl. The speech which won over by Levinson was taken from The Merchant of Venice, Act II, Scene 2.

WILD ESCAPADE COMES TO END

Youthful Elopers Captured When Boy is Forced Out of Brush by Hunger

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, May 13.—The plans of Kenneth Pritchard, 16, and Madge Trim, 17, to elope were frustrated today when the boy was arrested in a grocery store as he was purchasing provisions for their proposed flight to the Imperial Valley.

The pair had been missing since Wednesday. At that time the girl's father located them in a house at Ocean Beach, but they eluded him by making an exit from the rear of the building.

When young Pritchard was arrested in the grocery store, he is said to have admitted that he and his companion had been hiding in a brush-covered mesa near the city and that hunger had driven him out to obtain supplies. He then took the policeman to their rendezvous, where the girl was taken into custody and later returned to her parents. The youngsters had made a tent out of a blanket and had camped out for two nights.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

Picnic is Planned

The families and friends of the boys and girls of all local Woodcraft tribes will unite in a picnic and fiesta to be held this Saturday at Plummer's Vaquero Park, 7115 Santa Monica Boulevard, Hollywood. Starting at 1 in the afternoon there will be several athletic contests between the members of different tribes. The Cahuenga tribe's ball team has issued a challenge to the boys of the Apache Tribe, and there will be a tug-of-war between the Mohawks and the Shoshones. Pete Romero is going to serve barbecued meat and real Spanish tamales and tortillas. In the evening there will be a grand council, lead by Harry C. James. The picnic is under the auspices of the Fremont Council which has charge of the work of the local tribes of Los Angeles.

MATINEE CANCELED

Art for art's sake does have its trials! Because one of the members of the cast in the current Hollywood Community Theater production at the Egan Theater has been called unexpectedly to report for screen work this afternoon, the matinee has been canceled. "His Father's Boots" and Barrie's "A Slice of Life" will open a second week next Monday night.

BIGAMY CHARGE AGAINST RUSS

Millionairess's Husband Is in Trouble

Wife in Europe Will Sue Mrs. Stephens

Young Engineer Has Novel Explanation

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, May 12.—Mme. Liobouv Mouromsky Vonsiatsky today charged her husband with bigamy. She announced that as soon as action is taken in America she will sue the former Mrs. Marion Ream Stephens for $500,000 for alienation of her husband's affections.

Mme. Vonsiatsky asserts that her husband met Mrs. Stephens in Paris, when the millionairess gave her husband funds to proceed to the United States.

Three weeks after their marriage in Yalta, Crimea, in January, 1926 the Vonsiatskys went to Constantinople, where Mme. Vonsiatsky's father is a wealthy manufacturer. Afterward she came to Paris with the family of her husband, going often to London. They lived together for a year and a half.

STARTLING CHARGES

Mme. Vonsiatsky says her husband's lawyer, Clarence V. Mitchell, tried to induce her to dine with him but she refused and made him call at their home. Then her husband and his lawyer attempted to induce Mme. Vonsiatsky's sister's husband, who witnessed the wedding, and who now lives in Prague, to sign certain papers which would annul the marriage. The husband gave the affidavit to the American legation in Prague, stating his sister-in-law was a Christian and was totally married to Vonsiatsky. The affidavit was forwarded to America via the Paris embassy.

"My husband wrote me that he would send me $24 weekly for the rest of my life, if I would destroy all the evidences of our marriage and leave him with Mrs. Stephens," said Mme. Vonsiatsky at her home near the Place d'Etoile today.

NOVEL EXPLANATION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—Anastase A. Vonsiatsky, the Russian who wed Mrs. Marion Ream Stephens, is said to offer a novel explanation of his marriage in the Crimea to the former Mlle. Liobouv Mouromsky, who charges him with bigamy.

Mlle. Mouromsky, he is alleged to contend, is a Jewess. Feeling against the Jews was very high in the city of Yalta just after that place was captured by the anti-Bolshevik forces of Gen. Wrangel. Bolshevik leaders were largely Jews and this incensed the Russians. There were grave fears of pogroms.

Vonsiatsky took pity on the young Jewess, it is said in his defense, and consented to give her a Christian name to save her from massacre.

According to the Russian church law, if the young woman is proved to be a Jewess the marriage is void.

MANY CITIES WANT SHRINE HOSPITAL

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BUTTE (Mont.) May 12.—Butte, Billings and Helena, Mont.; Lewiston and Boise, Idaho; Spokane, Wash., and Salt Lake City will have their claims for the location of the Shrine hospital for crippled children presented to the meeting of the hospital board of trustees of the Mystic Shrine, which meets in San Francisco June 12, 13 and 14, next. Dr. O. M. Lansstrom of Helena, one of the seven trustees who will pass on the merits of the locations, met in Butte yesterday with potentates of the temples in the Rocky Mountain region to hear their views on the question of the most desirable place for the hospital.

HARDING'S BROTHER AT ADVENTISTS' MEETING

SISTER OF PRESIDENT IS EXPECTED ALSO TO BE AT CONFERENCE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—With Dr. George T. Harding of Worthington, O., brother of President Harding, seated among the delegates, the world conference of the Seventh Day Adventists denomination held its first regular business session today after the calling to order of the convention yesterday. Dr. Harding announced that his sister, Mrs. H. H. Votaw, wife of the director of Federal prisons, expects to attend the conference later. The Votaws, he said, spent ten years in Burma in furtherance of the church work there.

Today's principal business was the reading of the quadrennial report by Elder A. G. Daniells of Washington, D. C., the president of the general conference.

W. A. Spicer, general secretary, reported that in the last ten years the denomination had sent 708 missionaries out, and in the last quadrennial period had made 87,315 converts.

Resort Keepers Warned

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

HOLLISTER, May 12.—Threatening letters signed "K.K.K." have been received by three resorts in San Juan, on the mission road, between Gilroy and Monterey, an officer of that town reported tonight. The letters warned the proprietors of the San Juan Tavern, the Mission Hotel and the Plaza Hotel that unless changes were made in the conduct of those places, the proprietors "must take the consequences."

HAYES POLICY IS CALLED CLASSIC

Attitude Towards Diaz Told by Professor

United States Waived Pact in Recognition

Preservation of Peace Was Sought, Received

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

IOWA CITY (Iowa) May 12.—A comparison of the Hayes policy relative to the recognition of Porfirio Diaz with that recently adopted by the United States relative to the recognition of Obregon "is pertinent and interesting," Prof. Charles W. Hackett, of the University of Texas, told the Mississippi Valley Historical Association at its meeting here today. The Hayes policy, he pointed out, was formulated on the only occasion between the close of the American Civil War and 1911 when the United States had to consider the recognition of a Mexican government.

DIPLOMATIC CLASSIC

The announcement by the State Department in 1877 of its Mexican policy "for fairness and lucidity may be considered a classic among American diplomatic papers," Prof. Hackett said.

"Mexico was assured at this time that the United States was in no wise interested in passing upon the legality or illegality of the Diaz or any other government in Mexico, but was content to know that such government was stable and in reality the de facto government of the country.

"However, the United States did concern itself with the rights of its citizens and the protection of its territory and insisted upon some guarantee for the preservation of peace and the protection of life and property along the border as precedent to recognition. Diaz insisted pleading grounds of self-respect, that any condition precedent to recognition should not be made.

DIAZ RECOGNIZED

On April 11, 1878, the Hayes administration receded from its original position in demanding a treaty as precedent to recognition and through Ambassador Foster formally recognized Diaz as the de facto and constitutional President of Mexico.

"From that date until the assumption of executive authority by Madero in 1911, as a result of a revolution, the succession of Mexico was peaceful and constitutional. The policy adopted by the Hayes administration may, therefore, be taken as the policy of the United States with regard to the recognition of Mexican governments between the years 1878 and 1911."

PARDON GRANTED TO MOTHER OF SEVEN

WOMAN CONVICTED OF KILLING BROTHER-IN-LAW WINS FREEDOM

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—Gov. Stephens today granted a pardon to Mrs. Rosina Salvino of Stockton, mother of seven children, who was sentenced late in 1920 to serve from ten years to life imprisonment at San Quentin following her conviction on a charge of second-degree murder. Mrs. Salvino killed her brother-in-law, Thomas Pizzo, with a hammer, when he attempted to assault her, she alleged, at her trial.

Great pressure was brought to bear on the Governor to obtain executive clemency for the woman. A petition bearing 3000 names was presented, and club women throughout the State were active in her behalf.

Gov. Stephens stated that he had granted the pardon in order that she might give her attention to her husband and six surviving children, and also because she apparently had been acting in self-defense when she killed her brother-in-law.

CLASHES NUMEROUS AT "MASONIC" TRIAL

DEFENDANT WITNESS RESENTS QUESTIONS BY SPECIAL PROSECUTOR

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SALT LAKE, May 12.—Cross-examination of Matthew McBlain Thomson, Grand President, American Masonic Federation, resulted in frequent clashes today in the United States District Court, where Thomson, Thomas Perrot, Dominic Berger and Robert Jamieson are on trial for the alleged fraudulent use of the mails.

Negotiations with the Supreme Council of Louisiana, Thomson's derivations of his authority to confer Masonic degrees, his alleged personal gain from the business of the federation and the history of his connection with the King Solomon Lodge of Idaho were inquired into by John Jensen, special prosecutor.

The witness took frequent offense at the questions of the prosecutor and persisted in answering or making denials over the objections of his counsel.

HOSPITAL NO PLACE FOR THIS FIRE CHIEF

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CORVALLIS (Or.) May 11. — From the operating table to the scene of a fire was a trip made in a few minutes' time by Thomas L. Graham, Chief of the Corvallis Fire Department yesterday.

Graham went to the hospital to have a growth removed from his nose and cheek. The operation was performed and the patient neatly trussed up in many bandages. Just as this process was completed the fire gong clanged, and Graham, who was coming out from under the ether, leaped from his bed. All doctors, nurses and attendants in the hospital failed to hold him. Half-dazed, he jumped in his car, dashed up the street and arrived at the burning building in time to direct operations.

POLAND-ITALY SIGN COMMERCIAL PACT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENOA, May 12.—Foreign Ministers Schanzer of Italy, and Skirmont of Poland, today signed a commercial treaty similar to the pact that has existed for some time between France and Poland.

The new Italo-Polish agreement contains a most favored nation clause, eliminates almost all previously existing prohibitions on importation, and exportation, and grants Italy the same position as other countries concerning Polish goods. It also provides that Polish emigrants going to America, especially those from Gallicia, may embark from Triest instead of Danzig.

Police have no clew, but suspect robbery was the motive for the murder.

TOMORROW IS MOTHER'S DAY

It's a day when every proud son thinks an extra thought or two about his first and truest friend—a day when he shows he is thinking about her by wearing a carnation in his buttonhole.

A white flower indicates that she has gone, never to return.

A red carnation means that the man or boy who wears it is more fortunate, for his mother is still alive to cheer him with her love.

The Times will be on the air at 10 a.m. Sunday with a special radio "Mother's Day." program, consisting of a sermon by Dr. James A. Francis, and appropriate music.

Don't forget—it's Sunday, Mother's Day.

ONE KILLED IN CROSSING COLLISION

Man Accepts Ride in Auto and Dies When Crash Occurs

An inquest into the death of S. G. Messinger, 35 years of age, of Lynwood, who was killed yesterday in a crash between an automobile in which he was riding and a Southern Pacific interurban car, will be held at 9:30 a.m. Monday at the Huntington Park undertaking parlors, Coroner Nance announced last night.

In the collision at South Gate Gardens, south of Huntington Park, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Nielly of Lynwood, were seriously injured. Mr. Nielly was driving the automobile and had proffered Mr. Messinger a ride. The automobile was caught squarely on the crossing by the gasoline propelled interurban car and carried for a considerable distance.

Mr. and Mrs. Nielly were removed to Dr. Turner's Hospital in Huntington Park. They suffered severe bruises and lacerations on their heads.

Mr. Messinger was instantly killed. He leaves a widow and three children.

POWER CHANGE IN DAY OR TWO

Edison Transfer Expected Today or Monday

Two Clauses in Agreement Reaffirmed by Council

Mushet Denies Attempt to "Filibuster"

City Auditor Myers announced late yesterday that he will approve the demands for approximately $15,000,000 representing payment by the city for the Los Angeles distributing lines of the Southern California Edison Company, and Special Counsel Mathews of the Board of Public Service Commissioners, stated that, with the placing of these demands in escrow with the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank today, he believed that the transfer would be effected late today or Monday morning.

If this prediction becomes a fact, then from Monday on, the city of Los Angeles will own the Los Angeles business of the Edison Company, except the sale of power to the street railway companies, and more than 100,000 Edison consumers will thereafter receive their bills for power and light from the city's Bureau of Power and Light.

APPROVE RESOLUTIONS

The City Council yesterday approved two resolutions reaffirming clauses in the agreement made in 1919, when the plan for the purchase of the Edison lines was first put forward. The passage of these resolutions was required by bondholders of the Edison system before giving their assent to the transfer of these lines. The first of these stated that the city recognized the right of the Edison company to build and operate transmission lines throughout the city after the distributing lines were transferred, and also for the company to sell power to the Los Angeles street railways. This resolution was passed unanimously.

The trouble came when, at a special session of the Council yesterday afternoon, a second resolution was offered, reaffirming the city's purpose not to compete with the Edison company in the sale of power outside of Los Angeles.

DENIES "FILIBUSTER"

Councilman Mushet desired to speak at length in opposition to this resolution, but President Criswell enforced the ten-minute rule, declaring that Councilman Mushet was simply attempting to "filibuster."

This, Councilman Mushet denied, and Councilmen Sparks and Conaway protested against Councilman Mushet's being shut off. The motion to extend Councilman Mushet's time required two-thirds vote and failed of adoption, and the resolution carried, Councilmen Conaway, Sparks and Mushet voting "No." Councilmen Sparks and Conaway said they cast negative votes for the reason that they were opposed to Councilman Mushet being prevented from giving the Council facts as to his opposition to the resolution. The provisions of the resolution adopted read as follows:

"It is the purpose and intention of the city, upon the consummation of the purchase of said distributing system, under said agreement, to co-operate fully with the company to the end that both the city and the company shall have the full benefit and enjoyment of the wholesale power provisions of said agreement, as contemplated therein; that the city will not support or lend its encouragement to any movement or measure which seeks to supplant the company, during the life of said contract, by some other agency as the source from which the city shall purchase its requirements for wholesale power over and above its own production.

"In the matter of competition with the company in outside territory, this board does not reaffirm the position taken by it in the resolution adopted May 13, 1919, and does hereby declare that, except as provided in said contract of May 26, 1919, it is the purpose and intention of the city, upon acquiring the said distributing system of the company, to confine the operations of the city, as a distributor of electrical energy, to the limits of the city of Los Angeles as the same exists for distribution within the limits of the latter city, and to supplying energy to the inhabitants of Inyo county, California; and that, except as provided in said contract, the city will not, during the life of said contract, directly or indirectly enter into competion with the company in territory outside of the city of Los Angeles."

FILE YOUR MOTHER'S DAY MESSAGES EARLY

Anticipating an unprecedented last-minute rush of those who neglected to write their mothers, City Superintendent Williams of the Western Union Telegraph Company yesterday requested that those who will file Mother's Day telegrams file them early so that they may be delivered to the addressees promptly. Booklets containing messages of affection and greeting are being distributed from all of the offices of the company. Every Western Union messenger boy who delivers messages Sunday throughout the entire United States will wear a white carnation.

"ROUGHED" .. HER, .. SAYS .. WIFE

Husband Made Wrong Kind of a "Hit," She Testifies

Mrs. Helen Kitterman

ROBERT M. KITTERMAN, an Illinois farmer, fell in love with his pretty neighbor. They decided to marry, although she was but 16 years of age. That was in 1916. Yesterday Mrs. Helen Kitterman was granted a divorce on the ground of cruelty.

Money seemed to have been the cause of their troubles.

Mr. Kitterman sold his farm for more than $10,000, and brought his bride to Los Angeles, "the roaring city." Then as she naively remarked: "The money seemed to evaporate."

Now Mr. Kitterman is working for the Los Angeles Railway and Mrs. Kitterman is employed as a nurse. She says she will not marry again.

She recited numerous incidents in which she was the purported victim of Mr. Kitterman's fist. He blacked her eye, she said, shortly after marriage. Her mother gave her a Ford coupe and Mr. Kitterman wanted to take it away from her. The black eye followed the dispute, she said.

She also testified that he compelled her to get into the machine one day and when she tried to escape from it, Mr. Kitterman ran the car into a tree. Passers-by interfered in the struggle. Mr. Kitterman declared:

"This woman is my wife; I can do as I please."

She escaped and ran into an alley, he followed. Result, a black eye. She fainted. Mrs. Kitterman was represented by Attorney E. H. Barrett. Mr. Kitterman defaulted, but Attorney Paul Hill looked after his interests in court.

"Your husband believed in getting them young and treating them rough?" queried the court.

"I guess he did, Your Honor," was the reply.

YOUTHS GET MORE THAN $500 CASH

"Herald" Cashiers Held Up by Boy Bandits Early Last Evening

A pair of youthful bandits busted into the business office of the Herald early last night, held up two cashiers at the point of a gun, and escaped with $536 in dimes, nickels and quarters. The stick-up, one of the most daring ever perpetrated in the downtown section of the city, occurred within one block of the Central Police Station.

It was shortly after 8 o'clock while R. Platkin of 1715 Grattan street and A. Woodside of 659 East Fifty-third street were busy wrapping the money in the rolls, when the bandits entered.

"Keep your traps shut or we'll croak you!" snapped one of the pair, threatening the cashiers with his weapon. Scooping the cash into their pockets, they beaked quickly out of the door.

A small automobile was standing at the curb in Second street. The bandits leaped into it and drove into the heavy traffic of Broadway. Descriptions were given the police by Mrs. S. Swaney and Mrs. A. H. Bearkmar, both of 1209 Arvia street, who were sitting in another machine within a few feet of the Herald building.

Detectives believe that one of the men was a former employe of the circulation department. This robber kept his coat collar pulled up to hide his features during the transfer of the cash. Both bandits appeared to be about 20 years old.

"SHOOTS UP" HOTEL

Stranger Arrested After Performing in True Bad Man Style

Guests in the lobby of the Columbia Hotel, East Seventh and San Pedro street, thought the days of the bad men of the West had returned yesterday when a stranger swaggered in and let fly a salve of pistol shots. Detectives Lloyd and Roberts arrested W. W. Roberts, 35 years of age, on a charge of intoxication and disturbing the peace. His revolver was taken from him.

SEEIN' THINGS

S. L. D., perusing the Shreveport, La., Times, observed a "lost" ad offering a reward for the return of a "dark drown colored boy, age 11, named Lemons Fleids." Now wasn't it careless of the advertiser to misplace his Lemons lad?

An anonymous contrib, also an ad lamper, passes this on from the Sunday Times: "For sale—One acre eucalyptus grove, ten years old, suitable for wireless telephone poles." The broadcasting area should be extended several miles as a result of this offer.

* * *

M. K. saw a sign in Los Angeles street, near Eighth, announcing: "We retail shirts here at wholesale prices." They were undoubtedly hand-made by machine.

R. N. W. reports a sign over a basement entrance: "Coffee and a roll downstairs, 10 cents." If you walk down, it is presumed, you get your sinker for a jitney.

* * *

M. S. B. notes with horror in a department store ad: "All women's bathing suits—25 per cent off." It's getting nowadays so a respectable benedick isn't safe at the beach no more, no more.

WHAT DID YOU SEE?

WIFE SHOT, NOW ASKS DIVORCE

Woman Who Refused to Testify Against Mate, Surprises Court Attaches

Attractive Alyene La Clear, preferred jail to testifying against her husband, Vernon La Clear, a contractor, after he had fired five bullets into her body from an automatic pistol.

She didn't want to see him go to jail. Three times she was placed on the stand at his trial for assault to commit murder. Three times she refused to testify and three times Justice Brown adjudged her guilty of contempt of court and imposed a sentence of five days in the County Jail.

Yesterday, through Atty. S. S. Hahn, Mrs. La Clear filed suit for divorce. She charges that on March 1, last, her husband, in a fit of jealous rage, fired three bullets into her breast and two into her side.

La Clear is now in the County Jail awaiting trial for shooting his wife. When the case was first called Mrs. La Clear was placed on the stand as the principal prosecution witness. She refused to testify against him and Justice Brown adjudged her guilty of contempt of court and sentenced her to five days in the County Jail. Twice more she refused to testify and the same sentence was imposed. Her release was secured by Atty. Hahn on a writ of habeas corpus.

Two of the missles fired by her husband are now reposing in her body.

The couple were married Nov. 3, 1921, and separated on the day of the shooting.

SPEED BOAT BURNS

"Dixie" Ignites from Carburetor; Fire Boat Responds

While making the trip from the Fifth-street landing, Los Angeles Harbor, to the anchorage of the Pacific Fleet, the speed boat Dixie caught fire yesterday as the result of carburetor trouble. Marcella Dillon, owner of the craft, stuck to the wheel until a fire boat rushed to his assistance and extinguished the flames. He was unhurt. The Dixie was valued at $3500.

QUIZ INVALID IN BURCH CASE

Woman Leaves Sick Bed to Testify in Court

Alibi Story Unshaken by Cross-Examination

Defense Does Not Offer Plea of Insanity

Questioned and cross-questioned until it became necessary for officers to assist her as she left the stand, Mrs. Emma Elderton, the woman who declared she saw Arthur G. Burch in Long Beach on the night he is charged with having killed J. Belton Kennedy, was subjected to the most strenuous examination any witness has experienced thus far in the trial. Mrs. Elderton had left her bed where, it was declared three days ago she could not live. She gave her testimony and returned to her bed.

Mrs. Elderton stated that she saw Burch in the beach city about 1:30 p.m. on the day of the murder. She stated that he was in a soft-drink parlor and that she dropped a dime on the floor. Burch stepped forward, picked it up and handed it to her. They chatted for a minute and then parted.

TELLS SAME STORY

Her story told yesterday was substantially the same as she had dictated three days before. At that time Paul W. Schenck of the defense, in company with Dep. Dist. Atty. Keyes and Elmer Kincaid, court reporter, went to the woman's home at 1246 West Forty-fifth street to take her deposition.

Mrs. Elderton stated that she noted at the time Burch handed her the dime that his left hand was slightly drawn as if from rheumatism. During the first trial of the young man she was emerging from a downtown candy store when she saw a crowd in front of the Laughlin Building. She asked a bystander concerning the event and was told that it was the Burch jury visiting the office of Kennedy.

Mrs. Elderton testified that she saw the jury and then Burch come out of the building. She recognized the young man as having seen him before and later in the day connected him with the Long Beach incident. She then went to the County Jail and by his appearance and later by his hand she positively identified him, she said.

MANY BATTLES

Mrs. Elderton was reluctant to expose some private memoranda in court. It was by these notes that she fixed certain dates. Mr. Schenck objected to her being ordered to read the contents of the memos and after a bitter fight, Judge Reeve ordered the papers submitted for identification, but denied the right of the prosecution to read them as evidence.

The memoranda fight was but one of many during the day. During the cross-examination by Mr. Keyes, Mrs. Elderton asked the court to protect her from what she termed "the harrassing attacks" of the prosecution. The woman was one of the last and most important witnesses of the defense and Mr. Keyes attempted in every way to break her story. To observers it seemed that her story held.

At the end of the session, Mr. Schenck said, "I am gratified that Mrs. Elderton stood the strain as long as she did. I have never, in all my years in court, seen a sick woman subjected to such brutal, uncalled-for and untimely questioning as was this woman. She told me that if it killed her, she was going to be here in court to testify. We're through now."

DEFENSE RESTS CASE

Mr. Schenck rested his case at 4:15 o'clock without the insanity plea used in Burch's previous trial. Court convened at 2 o'clock yesterday and Mrs. Elderton was placed on the stand immediately. She was kept there until shortly after 4 o'clock. Then Edward Doherty, Pacific Coast correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, was called. Mr. Doherty substantiated many of the points made by Mrs. Elderton.

The prosecution will begin its rebuttal testimony at 10 o'clock Monday morning. Mr. Keyes stated yesterday that fifteen witnesses will be called. This, it is believed, will take a day and a half or two days. Then the arguments. The case may go to the jury Thursday night.

Retiring Chief of Grand Army Highly Honored

The fifty-fifth annual encampment of the G. A. R. department of California and Nevada, came to a close at Riverside yesterday with the presentation of a jewel to the retiring department commander, William H. Noll. The presentation was made by S. D. Bryeart of Post 45, Pasadena.

Mrs. Emma J. Sheer of Santa Monica was elected department president of the Woman's Relief Corps. Other officers include Mrs. Eva Christman of Modesto, senior vice-president; Mrs. Emma Q. Hazzard of San Diego, junior vice-president; Mrs. Helen Cook of Pomona, treasurer, and Mrs. Hattie Wood of Redlands, chaplain.

The day's principal speaker was William G. McAdoo, who eulogized Lincoln. He predicted that the United States could not stay out of the next war, the danger of which, he declared, was unfortunately imminent.

"There is only one way we can defeat war," he said, "and that is by organizing the world for peace."

SERVICES FOR ENGINEER

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. today for Ballard P. Stanley, chief engineer of the Los Angeles County Oil Pitts, who died Thursday at the age of 74 years. For the past 13 years Mr. Stanley was an employe of the county. He leaves two sons. The services under the auspices of the Odd Fellows, will be held at Pierce Brothers' chapel, 510 South Flower street.

HUNTERS STOP AT PIG PEN

Spirited Riding at Horse Show Enlivened by Stops at Rails

There was a deal of spirited riding last night in the handy hunters' class at the horse show on the Ambassador grounds which is being conducted for charity by the California Horse Show Association. The event was arranged to puzzle rider and horse and it did, particularly the latter.

The in-and-out jump—an inclosure of rails no higher than the ordinary hurdles—caused one spill and nearly every horse of the class of thirty-one balked at it. Each would sail over the hedge hurdles but the sight of that pig pen made them pause.

The judging was entirely for performance, and Sea Gull, a gray mare of the Griffith Park Riding Academy, ridden by Al Meyer, won first place. Mr. Meyer proved a sturdy rider, and his mount responded cheerfully to the stroke of his crop before each leap. The performance of Walter Sprole, Jr., of Edmonton, Alb., and his three mounts in this class, brought much applause. Mr. Sprole brought his horses here solely for the show, having attended another in northern California recently. He won second place with his brown gelding, Domino, and third place with his gray gelding, Fair Play.

With the third entry, a comely chestnut mare, he had bad luck. The Canadian is a very easy rider and has excellent form.

It was motion-picture night, and Jack Holt represented the fraternion among the handy hunters. The polo player-actor rode his chestnut gelding Robin Hood with excellent spirit, but had ill luck with the pig pen.

There was a large class of walk-trot horses with women riders, judged for both conformation and performance as follows: First, Tommy Lad, Revel Lindsay English, Chino; second, Miss Triunfo, Mrs. Martha D. Bowers, Santa Barbara; third, Dolly Dawn, Miss Josephine Thomas, Beverly Hills; fourth, Confidence, Miss Maud Stock Banks, Covina.

The class in heavyweight polo ponies, shown with the usual technique with the mallet was won by Mr. Holt, with Hobo Buck, his buckskin gelding. Second place went to Circus Girl of the Riverside Racing and Polo Club stables; third to High Spot of the Los Angeles Riding Academy, and fourth to Only Son of the Riverside Racing and Polo Club.

Another class of three-gaited horses for both women and men entrants was won by Mrs. Martha D. Bowers of Santa Barbara, who rode her bay mare Gloriana McDonald. Second place went to Bettina of Mr. English's tables; third to The Admiral, ridden by Eric von Gerloff, and fourth to

KLAN DESTROYS GUARD RECORDS

Papers Mutilated to "Cover Up" Activities

Asserted Tamperer Forced to Resign

Ku Klux Use of Armory Obtained by Ruse

Records of the One Hundred and Sixtieth National Guard Infantry Regiment in Los Angeles have been mutilated by a Ku Klux Klansman in order to "cover up" activities of the Klan, it was disclosed yesterday.

The man who is declared to have tampered with the records, resigned by request shortly after it was discovered that the Ku Klux Klan, through what was termed a misrepresentation, had obtained the use of the armory for meetings.

A separate investigation at the request of Col. Walter P. Story, commander of the regiment, into the Klan's activities before the fatal Inglewood raid also was disclosed yesterday following an order issued by Adjt.-Gen. Borree and approved by Gov. Stephens, apparently aimed at the Ku Klux Klan.

OFFICER RESIGNS

Gen. Borree declared that no man can serve two masters and that Guardsmen who have joined any secret organization, whose oath is regarded as superior to the oath to serve their State and nation must resign, either from the Guard or from the secret organization.

Immediately after this order was issued it was learned by The Times that a former lieutenant in the local regiment had been requested to resign and had complied with the request since leaving the city.

One week following this, Col. Story, addressing the men of his regiment, declared he had investigated some of the Klan's activities and that any Klansman in the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry must resign from the Klan or from the regiment, because the policy of the Klan was not his policy, and he did not believe it conformed with the policy of the regiment, the State or the national government.

LETTER MUTILATED

It was through the aid of the lieutenant, whose name appears on the seized records of the Invisible Empire as being a Klansman, that the Klan obtained the use of the Armory, according to information at regimental headquarters yesterday. Col. Story is out of the city and could not be seen.

A letter asking for the use of the Armory for the "Mounted Wilies" was shown to Col. Story, and the lieutenant declared he had investigated the organization and found it all right and eligible for the use of the hall. He is reported to have told the colonel that the organization was an off-shoot of a prominent fraternal society, and made notations at the bottom

STANDARD NOW HAS RUSSIAN INTERESTS

NEW JERSEY COMPANY BOUGHT HALF OF FORMER PROPERTIES

[BY A. P. LEAST WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 13.—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey today announced that it had become equal owner with the former interests in the Nobel Russian properties.

"Immediately after the end of the war," a statement of the company said, "negotiations were begun between representatives of the Nobel and Standard Oil Companies (New Jersey) looking to the participation of the latter company in the Nobel properties. Early in the summer of 1920 a sale was consummated and the interests became equal owners in the Nobel holdings. There has been no change in the situation since."

This statement was issued in explanation of a news dispatch from Genoa that the Standard Oil Company had bought control of the Nobel Russian interests.

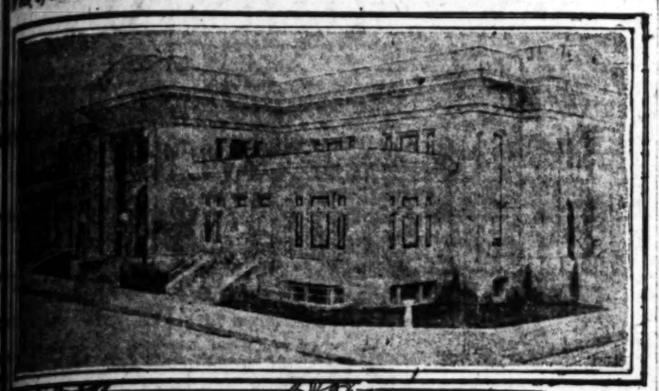
WILL .. DEDICATE .. NEW .. EDIFICE

Text of Services Planned by Whittier Congregation in New House of Worship



New First Baptist Church of Whittier

[Special to THE TIMES.]

WHITTIER, May 13. — Plans are complete for the dedication of the new First Baptist church Sunday. The dedicatory sermon is to be by Rev. W. R. Lane, D.D., of Los Angeles, at 11 a.m.

The building, which is of reinforced concrete, is classic in architecture and was built at a cost of $75,000. Norman F. Marsh of Los Angeles was the architect. The auditorium has a seating capacity of 450 and the adjoining rooms are so arranged that an additional seating capacity of 150 may be added. The interior of the church is finished in Oregon pine with oak floors. Art glass is used in the windows. The auditorium is sufficiently removed from the street that no noises disturb the services.

The ground floor plans are 86 by 135 feet, part of the building being two stories in height. A well-equipped basement, modern in all its appointments, will be used for the social activities of the church, such as suppers, dinners and banquets. The young women's Philathea room on the main floor is equipped with a kitchenette for serving tea and light refreshments.

Rev. E. M. Hulett is the pastor, and during his residence here of seven years, the church has more than doubled its membership until now the roster contains more than 400 names, 271 having joined during Rev. Mr. Hulett's pastorate. The church recently purchased an adjoining lot, which is to be converted into a playground, for basketball, volley ball and other games. The coming week is to be known as dedication week. Sunday afternoon Rev. O. P. Gifford, D.D., of Pasadena, will speak and in the evening the services will be conducted by the pastor and Rev. J. B. Fox, city superintendent of missions, Los Angeles.

The following is the schedule of services for dedication week: Monday, denominational night; Tuesday, men's night; Wednesday, interdenominational night, with the Ministerial Union honor guests; Thursday, family night, and Friday, young people's night, when Prof. Victor Duke, president of Redlands University, will deliver the address.

PUBLIC SALE TO END MULE LITIGATION

AUCTION OF STOCK WILL BE FINAL CHAPTER IN LAWSUIT

The final chapter in the Thornberry-Freeman mule case that has been in the Federal Court for several years will be written at San Miguel today, when Dep. U. S. Marshal Nenick will offer at public sale seventeen head of jacks and jennets.

H. B. Thornberry is a Missouri mule raiser, who makes a specialty of selling blooded stock to ranchers. He made a big sale of his stock to Freeman, and the latter paid $4053.50, on the consignment, giving his notes for the unpaid portion of the purchase. He refused to pay any more, declaring that the Missouri mules did not come up to sample, and they were not standard bred. Thornberry sued Freeman for the unpaid balance, and Freeman won his case before U. S. District Judge Bledsoe. Now the stock is to be sold to reimburse Freeman for the money he had already paid on the contract.

Monday U. S. Marshal Sittel will sell two Ford automobiles, libeled by the government in current liquor cases.

On Wednesday he will sell at San Pedro the fishing launch Sun Rays, in a suit brought by the Nielsen-Kittel Fishing Company.

On May 20 the U. S. Marshal will sell Studebaker, Buick, Hupmobile, Winton, Stevens and Dodge automobiles at San Diego. They were all taken in whisky prosecutions.

CHANCE FOR THE LADIES

Does the Ku Klux Klan have a ladies' auxiliary? It would seem that some of these small-town gossips and feminine reformers would find themselves well-placed in an annex of this kind.

THE YELLOW BOYS

Frank Vanderlip says that the great trouble is that America has too much gold. Those whose legs are calloused from much carrying of the yellow metal might send a postal card to Frank asking for his recipe.

THIS IS THE DAY

A convention was called at Philadelphia in the year 1787 to draft a Constitution for the United States. George Washington was unanimously chosen president of the convention. The sessions were continued daily for four months. After the draft was completed it was submitted for ratification to the several States. With all the added knowledge that since that day has come to human intellects no better practical working Constitution has ever been devised by any body of philosophers or statesmen.

OBSTRUCTIONISTS

The people of Los Angeles last June voted bonds for a new public library. Normal Hill has been selected as the site for a magnificent $1,500,000 structure which will be the pride of the citizens for generations. The Library Board is ready to go ahead with the levelling down of Normal Hill and construction work. The lease on the present inadequate quarters of the library over a downtown drug store will expire in two years and the new building will be ready for occupancy within that time if a minority of the City Council will cease its obstructive tactics and join with the majority in deciding on a building which shall be leased or purchased to be used as a City Hall annex to house the departments now in the Normal Hill Center relic which must be razed to make way for the new public library. The opening of Fifth street from Grand avenue to the west, making this street a great traffic highway, is also being held up by the inaction of the Council.

PREPAREDNESS

The average flapper does not care for privacy in the various details of making her toilet. She can touge her lips in the midst of the Broadway parade and comb out her bobbed locks while nibbling her éclaire lunch to the music of a jazz band. Her womanly idea of preparedness is to have her vanity box chained to her arm at all hours. She carries a make-up box instead of a prayer book or a nursing bottle. We have seen a broiler dab her nose five times with a powder rag while traversing a single city block. Before the stenographer goes out to lunch she holds active communion with her vanity case. She takes this essential equipment with her. When she finds her chair in the restaurant out comes the powder rag for another caress. When the lunch is concluded there must be more powder and rouge and possibly a call for the manicure tools. No girl hesitates at making up in a crowded street car or in the rush of traffic. She can cold-cream herself in front of the Grand Army of the Republic. She has about as much privacy as a snake charmer. She will not hesitate to change lighties in the presence of the archangel Gabriel. She will paint her eyebrows in honor of the American Legion and roll her stockings in the company of the wide, wide world. She has learned to use a comb in the theater and her nail-polisher in church. She can sit on the window sill and tint her lips while the firemen below are waiting for her to jump. She is not easily disconcerted and the guy who kidnaps her is getting some kid.

A MODEST HERO

While Congress debates the propriety of bestowing a Distinguished Service Cross on Col. Andrew Rowan, connoisseurs in the ironical find much merit in the situation. The freakish disposition of fame has long been notorious; but in this case the bussy surpassed her best efforts, classical or modern. The man who built the famous library of Alexandria is forgotten, while he who burned it down is in all the history books. The only reason for knowing anything about Robert Southey today is the fact that Byron favored him with his lordly derision. But the injustice that has been done Col. Rowan eclipses such instances completely.

For this is the man about whose unique act of public service Elbert Hubbard wrote his famous pamphlet, "A Message to Garcia." The book is estimated to have had a circulation of 40,000,000 copies. Thus, by the most conservative reckoning, at least 80,000,000 persons must have been made more or less familiar with Col. Rowan's achievement. But, until the recent agitation over official recognition of that achievement, how many had ever heard of Col. Andrew Rowan? By the omission of a name the most magnificent publicity ever received by a military man—excepting, perhaps, Marc Antony, Don Quixote and Marshal Foch—has been without value to its subject.

But Col. Rowan deserves his reward—and on two counts. First, for the carrying of his famous message; second, for having kept silent about it all these years. He could easily have asserted his identity and climbed into prominence on the strength of Hubbard's book. But he did not; and it seems that nowadays he deserves to have statues of himself erected in every city as a public example of both heroism and modesty.

CHICAGO'S REIGN OF TERROR

Government under the law is fighting a desperate battle in Chicago to put an end to a reign of terror, fomented by a group of criminal leaders of a number of Chicago labor unions. Following a wild night of violence, in which factories operated on the American plan were dynamited and citizens and policemen were shot down in cold blood, the jails are filled with "gunmen labor leaders" taken by the police in a series of spectacular raids on the headquarters of the labor unions.

Among those charged with participation in these murders are Fred Mader, ex-convict and president of the Chicago Building Trades Council; "Big Tim" Murphy, president of the gas workers' union, and "Con" Shea, president of the teamsters' union. The police report that they found in Mader's safe more than 100 rounds of ammunition, three revolvers and a quantity of fuse and caps such as are used in touching off bombs. From Murphy's safe were taken a revolver and seven feet of fuse.

Chief of Police Fitzmorris asserted in a statement issued on Wednesday afternoon that "the slaughter of two policemen last night while on duty is the direct and inevitable result of the tactics employed by Fred Mader, Tim Murphy, Con Shea and all the other hoodlums and ex-convicts. They are just as guilty of the murder of the policemen killed last night as the anarchists were in the Haymarket riot killings."

Perhaps it was merely a coincidence that one of the first headquarters raided was in the Hearst Building—perhaps.

Bombing of factories and slugging of independent workmen have been going on intermittently in Chicago ever since the union officials declared that a reign of violence would follow any attempt on the part of the employers to put into effect the wage decision of Federal Judge Landis, who was selected by both sides to act as arbiter. Because he did not give to the union-labor bosses all that they asked they repudiated their written pledges and inaugurated the present reign of terror.

They seem to have grown bolder since President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor visited Chicago recently and assured the unscrupulous union-labor leaders in a public address that they would "receive the united support of the American Federation of Labor in whatever action they chose to take." This statement was apparently accepted by them as a justification of violence.

Chief of Police Fitzmorris is backed in his determined effort to bring bloody-handed or bloody-minded criminals to justice by a citizens' committee composed of a number of civic organizations. The fighting spirit of the supporters of law and order has been fully aroused. They have served notice on the "gunmen labor leaders" that Chicago is located in the United States and not in soviet Russia. They are solidly behind the Chief of Police in his assertion that "They want war with the police department and they are going to get it. It's going to be a war to the finish, too. We won't waste time palavering. We'll meet their gun play with guns. They'll know they've been in a fight."

Such are the deplorable results of a mistaken policy on the part of the heads of the American Federation of Labor. Gompers himself has repeatedly advised his subordinates to disregard court injunctions, to obey court decisions only when they were in favor of union labor. While he occasionally deprecates violence, he has never made an example of union leaders who have used violence as a weapon in labor disputes. If a few such leaders had been expelled from the unions years ago the present reign of terror in Chicago would never have occurred.

The Citizens' Committee of Chicago will receive the moral support and, if necessary, the financial support of good Americans everywhere. Industrial disputes cannot and will not be settled in this country by violent methods. Our government is one of laws which know no class distinction. The union-labor totem does not confer immunity upon dynamiters and gunmen. The right of workers, or of any other class, to organize does not confer the right to violate the written laws, to ignore the safeguards placed about life and property.

"THE CITY'S INFAMY"

Cleveland Moffett, the author, has been moved to missionary work and pulpit preaching by the conditions in the women's quarters at the City Jail. He is shocked into action by those conditions as he finds them.

Mr. Moffett does not exaggerate. The conditions of which he writes and preaches are indeed shameful, just as all the conditions are shameful in both the City and County Jail for both men and women. Six years ago The Times printed a full and complete expose of these conditions which had the effect of stirring up the interest of the City Council and the women's clubs to the point where investigating committees were appointed. But it was not until two or three years later that some of the most loathsome of the conditions were slightly ameliorated, a few coats of whitewash, a little extra plumbing, the wherewithal to obtain some semblance of decent human hygiene. But to Cleveland Moffett, who sees that jail today, it is unthinkable that conditions could ever have been worse.

City Councils have come and gone, Mayors and Sheriffs have flowered and wilted, but the shame has gone on.

Mrs. Thomas Exley, ex-district president of the women's club federation and vice-president at large of the State federation, has delivered recently some forceful addresses calling attention to the intolerable conditions in the women's quarters of the City Jail. She even notes that at the recent State and district conventions the women's interest extended as far as the political conditions in Samoa, and it might be as well if they interested themselves more in correcting unhappy conditions here at home.

STRIKING THE AVERAGE

A local theologian declares that the pictures that are being made average much higher than the audiences. He intimates that about 50 per cent of humanity is inclined to be moron-minded and that it seeks pictures of its level. The films are improving in quality and are really doing an inestimable service in advancing the standards of intelligence, morality and civilization at the same time. In the face of the facts any effort to censorship would be foolish and futile. The radical censors would make pictures that the average man in the street would not look at. As it is, he is going to see a picture that is still a little better than himself and deriving that much benefit therefrom.

THIS IS THE DAY

The first English settlement was started at Jamestown in the year 1607. Capt. John Smith brought over from the old country 105 broken-down "gentlemen," ready for any desperate adventure, to form this first colony in the New World. Of the whole company only twenty were farmers or mechanics, yet the executive genius of Capt. John Smith made the colony a success.

The Society of Cincinnati was organized in 1783. After the disbandment of the Continental army Gen. Henry Knox formed this military society at the headquarters of Baron Steuben near Fishkill Landing on the Hudson. George Washington was elected first president. The membership was limited to commissioned officers. The society was bitterly opposed by certain civilians, who saw in it an endeavor to establish a military aristocracy.

BLASTED HOPES

Outside of Lloyd George the English champions do not seem to be able to stand the pace. Here is Kid Lewis, the British pet, knocked cold in the first round by Georges Carpentier, the French idol. The thing happened in the presence of Jack Dempsey, a couple of princes and hundreds of swell British dames in evening gowns. It was quite a society affair except that it wiped out English hopes of mastery in the ring. Now there is urge for another match between Dempsey and Carpentier, to be fought in London. It is figured that another million-dollar gallery would gather and this looks good to the Dempsey management. It is nice to garner a million or so for attending a social function.

RIPPLING RHYMES

JOKING BARRED

My old friend Volstead looked so sad, I asked him, "Are you feeling bad?" And he replied, "It's pretty raw the way you joke about my law; I'm weary of the ribald jeers of journalists and pamphleteers, of tinhorn lawyers in the courts and all the cheaper grades of sports. The Volstead law is too sublime to stir up laughter all the time." "Oh, slush," I answered, "likewise pshaw! I've backed you and your well-known law. I've urged the people to abjure their forty drops of apavin cure and make your law a shining light by which to guide their steps aright. But if your law can't stand the gaff and shrivels when the people laugh, it will not do for mirthful skates who dwell in these United States. Your law with me has made a hit and yet it is not Holy Writ; it is not sacred, you must own, like those famed tables made of stone. We are a jocund, jesting band, we people of this spangled land; we see the funny side of things and we must have our little flings; and when you write a heavy tome or hand us out an epic poem or frame a law forbidding gin, you must expect to see us grin; and if your law or pome or book our little jesting cannot brook, drag it away from joking souls and have a tinsmith patch the holes." WALT MASON.

THE WILD MAN

The former Kaiser is said to be crazy about religion. He has been crazy about almost everything else and now it is theology's turn.

PSYCHOANALYTIC SHOCKS

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Quite the most startling highbrow in town just now is John Cowper Powys. And on a recent night at the Alexandria, closeted with an exclusive coterie of some two hundred lesser highbrows, to say nothing of a handful of Philistines, he triumphantly reached the superzenith of shockfulness.

That man has positively no fear. Launching forth into a defense of psychoanalysis, which he describes as "so startling, so original, so new," and yet declared it went back to Greek mythology, he hurled furious diatribes against the three classes of people who dare to meet its study with hostility or contempt.

In fact, if one is not interested in psychoanalysis, sans peur et sans reproche, at least to the point of offering it respectful argument, one is either a silly, prejudiced, professional philosopher, a naughty-minded layman or a contemptible coward.

Professional philosophers, among whom he also includes doctors and pastors, he declares to be actuated by pure prejudice, bigotry and a "professional itch" in their hostility to the new cult. They resent any doctrine which impinges upon their trade unionism in the matter of sex and morality.

The lay attitude, which he said largely accounted for the audience he was addressing, was occasioned by naughty minds. They were either interested for the naughtiness they found in it, which tickled their sensibilities, or for the naughtiness which their vulgar Puritanism arose in its might to suppress. Or the third class frankly feared it. He had once been among the latter class. He had been a coward, feared to discover too much about himself, dreaded to know the worst. Presumably he had overcome this very successfully.

But he proceeded to unloose the vials of his wrath and contempt against the hostile Puritan, those professional reformers in whose eyes he said he had seen incredible lecherousness, those oversexed people whose hatred of sex was maniacal.

"Oh, you mothers," he said, "beware of that lecherous look in the eye of the maniacal reformer. Wherever you see it, whether it be in the eyes of your pastor, your father or your own husband, keep your children away from that man—he is far more dangerous than the worst Don Juan. 'Stagnant ponds smell badly.' Such people taint the very cup of life. Such Christian asceticism has poisoned the world. Christianity is a most beautiful thing, but it both redeems and damns. Its attitude toward sex has poisoned the wells of life."

The speaker's indignation against the people who regard sexual matters as "dirty" poured forth in bitter eloquence. Avoid the person who used that term "dirty" in that connection as you would the plague.

Really religious people, he said, were not worried about psychoanalysis.

Powys said he himself was an admirable case for psychoanalysis. He was willing to dissect himself for our benefit. He was not very neurotic or he would not have come to Los Angeles! And his reaction when he first dipped into Freud was sheer panic. It did not tickle his naughtiness, it did not arouse his hostility, but only a mighty fear. He could not go on with the study. He gave the book to a strong-minded gentlewoman—and heaven knows what happened to her. He told how the chapters on suppressed childhood were very repulsive, one suffered physiological nausea, just as one does in surgical operations in hospitals if one hasn't the stomach for it. But the truth must be met. Freud was guiltless of deliberately perpetrating pornographic thrills. He was the mind surgeon, just as there were physical surgeons. One must have the stomach to go on—just as nurses have to carry pails in hospitals.

And thereafter he proceeded to discourse upon the various psychoanalytic writers, to give a wealth of data, to trace the research and confliction of ideas, to carry his audience through his own studies, investigations, reactions and tentative conclusions.

"Morality is an important thing, a very important thing. I concede that. It prevents some of you people here from dropping a poisonous pellet in this drinking water of mine. It is a necessary protection. But if being good isn't beautiful, exquisite, a noble idolatry, a great renunciation, what the devil is the use of being good?" was one of the questions he hurled at his quivering audience—after he had explained a good deal about psychoanalysis that apparently had no relation whatever to being good.

It was highly interesting to see the reaction of the Powys remarks upon his audience. There were numerous established local highbrows there who had been toying with psychoanalysis with a nice intellectual decorum for the past few years. There were several people in evening dress and numerous fashionable young dappers. There were hard-headed business men who looked utterly bewildered and a couple even went to sleep. It was beyond them. The highbrows looked frightfully intense, but the flappers frankly giggled. There were even a couple of amateur reformers in the persons of ardent club women—but fortunately Powys had kept his unpleasant remarks about Puritanical reformers strictly masculine. Everyone but the speaker looked a bit self-conscious. A good many of them were obviously taking their first dip into psychoanalysis and perceiving how much they had missed. They looked a fairly normal crowd for the most part, but the speaker's final bolt was that, conflicting as the authorities were on the subject, one thing was obvious—nobody was normal, everybody was abnormal, most people were born abnormal and tiny innocent babes suckling in their mothers' arms were often the most abnormal of all.

One went forth into the night air and yearned for normalcy.

Must we, oh, must we expose ourselves to the terrors of psychoanalysis? Like so many highbrow things, it is so unpleasantly disturbing.

CARNATIONS FOR OL' BLACK MAMMY

BY FLORA CLARK HUNTINGTON

Honor our mammies? Of course, we-all do!
Nursed at their breasts, let us give, as their due,
Crimson carnations; and carry them to

Mammies, who loved the young white mothers, worn;
Mammies, whose black arms held us, newly born;
Mammies, who "freedom" laughed wholly to scorn.

Mammies, dear mammies, of ebony hue—
Mammies, deep-bosomed, that our childhood knew,
Crimson carnations on your graves we strew.

Crimson carnations? Yes, dozens of them, for they typify the warm, rich, red blood of the dear, old, southern mammies which they would have given, if necessary, for the adored white mothers and children of the South.

Mother's Day has a nation-wide observance. In every village, town and city, at every crossroads where a modest spire points heavenward, song, story and sermon reiterate and honor the long history of self-sacrificing motherhood. But we of the old genial South—cotton and plenty, romance and chivalry—have double homage to render. Our colored mammies were a part of our lives—in thought and deed they were next to our mothers whose life-blood flowed in our veins.

In that land where old-fashioned flowers bordered velvety lawns surrounding colonial homes, through whose open windows mellow breezes wafted the lilt of mocking birds, we never thought of these black mammies as slaves. They never so considered themselves. They were "house-servants." To "Ole Miss," white kerchiefed, gracious and sweet, they looked for comfort and found their happiness in loyal service.

On "Youn' Miss" they adoringly waited; and, when her babies came, the mammies took charge of them. When southern children were old enough they were put to bed with many a tale of "Br'er Rabbit" and his lucky foot which should be carried in their pockets to keep evil away. Superstition? Yes! These stories caused many a head to be buried beneath the bed clothes to keep the hobgoblins away; but would their shivery delights be foregone? Never!

After emancipation came many of the impoverished white families were unable longer to employ the colored mammies, and they frequently agonizingly begged to remain. Their great love was for their "w'ite children," even though they be great-grandmothers. One such mammy, when she came to die and long after she became a "free negro," left what property she had accumulated to the little daughter of her "Youn'es' Mist'ess."

My own "Mammy Sue," my mother's before me, I remember perfectly, as little and neat; with flashing black eyes and a way of making us children "walk a straight line" when we were minded not to obey. About her small but well-shaped head she invariably wore a red bandana; and I can see it yet as she flamed into the room where a small pickaninny recounted his grievance. "Old Miss," seated at a mahogany table with the family Bible open before her, laughed merrily as she appeased maligned Mammy Sue and sent both kitchenward.

Mammy Sue drifted out of our lives and for years we knew not where to find her. But one day, toothless, decrepit, almost a centenarian, she came back. With tears of joy streaming over her wrinkled, black cheeks, she threw her arms about the necks of her "w'ite chillern" and cried:

"I thank Thee O, Gawd; for I've found my own fo'ks at last!"

Their memory will never fade—these loving colored mammies of the South. Love and honor shall be their meed. In the days "befo' de wah" they lived and loved and sung. During the long years when the men were away these same mammies kept faithful watch and slept at the chamber doors of the waiting women and (often) fatherless children. Even after this period many remained in the homes of their former owners, working for their "keep," just to be near their "w'ite fo'ks." Could white mothers do more?

And so, because the Daughters of the Confederacy have not yet been able to build a commemorative monument to the black mammies of the South, I pay this heartfelt tribute, not only to my own Mammy Sue, but to all others who used to sing, in the soft lilt of the old-time negress, as they patted at bedtime the "w'ite chile" lying face downward across ample laps:

Civilization's Onward March.

Henna baths, which give the skin a rich olive tint, are resorted to by followers of fashion in Paris who wish to match perfectly the oriental colors now popular in women's wearing apparel. Perhaps the body-painting practices of primitive savages have been too readily accepted as evidence of their inferiority to modern civilization.—(New York Herald.

FARNUM DUE SOON

FOX STAR WILL COME WEST IN THE SUMMER

By Grace Kingsley

Word from New York is to the effect that William Farnum, Fox star, will come West at the end of June, when he will begin work almost at once on a series of pictures. One of these at least, it is likely, will be a costume play, the others will probably be westerns, in both of which types of pictures Farnum is famous.

In the meantime, Farnum is to make one more picture in New York. When he arrives in the West he will reopen his house in Hollywood. He will be accompanied by his wife and little daughter.

William Fox announces that his production of "Nero," which J. Gordon Edwards spent many months making in Rome, Italy, is now ready for showing, and will start at the Lyric, in New York, on the 22nd inst. It will not be shown in this city, in all likelihood, until early fall, though exhibition conditions now prevailing may change to such an extent as to make an earlier showing advisable.

Gloria Swanson Home Soon

Having looked them over in Europe, Gloria Swanson is on her way back to California, according to telegraphic word received yesterday. When she arrives and gets through with the interviewers she will at once begin work on "The Impossible Mrs. Bellew," which will be her next starring vehicle.

Mabel Will Have Company

When Mabel Normand goes to Europe, she won't be alone with her guide book and her conscience. Traveling along with her will be no less seasoned travelers than Raymond Hitchcock and his wife, Flora Zabelle, so that it is quite certain that Miss Normand will be able to find her way about.

Metropolitan Takes Brentwood

In order to meet the demands of increased production activities, Metropolitan Productions, Inc., has taken over the entire Brentwood studio, where they will continue the making of a series of five-reel comedy dramas featuring James R. Warner. The first of these, "High Stakes," based on the American Magazine story, by Earl Wayland Bowman, has just been completed.

According to present plans, Metropolitan will soon have another production unit at work, but whether it will make pictures of feature or short length, has not yet been announced.

PIANIST AT GRAUMAN'S

A "discovery" in Los Angeles by Sid Grauman promises to give the music lovers a surprise Sunday morning at the fourth of the Grauman series of "discovery concerts." Marvin Maazel, a pianist who has appeared in Europe with the leading symphony organizations and who at a recent recital in New York at the Aeolian Hall elicited admiration of critics, is a "wonder child," says Mr. Grauman. He will offer Liszt's Sixth Hungarian Rhapsody; "The Lark," by Glinka, as arranged for piano by Balakirieff, and Liszt's "La Campanella."

SARTORIAL ATTRACTIONS

An outstanding feature of "Smilin' Through," Norma Talmadge's picture at the Kinema, is the costumes displayed by the star and those in support. The dresses worn by Norma are of unusual interest, as they are copies of the old color prints which were the vogue in 1848. Miss Talmadge wears the old-fashioned lace mitts, with half fingers, a tiny silk ruffled muff, and hat with flowing plume curling over the left side with this traveling costume. The wedding dress is of white satin and hand-made silver lace.

BREWING DEEP PLOT

Billy B. Van at the Orpheum this week wears a little red card upon which is printed, as Billy puts it, "a little French joke that is sure the cat's bowwow," and all the acts playing the Coast have a healty curiosity concerning this joke, but Billy's partner, Jim Corbett, won't let him read it. William Seabury will appear next week and also Lynn and Smythe have sworn that when they arrive they're going to "hog-tie" and gag Jim and then let Billy read the joke. Mr. Raymond is also awaiting the arrival of Seabury and Lynn and Smythe so he can get their home addresses and give them a decent burial after they "have" done the above mentioned to Jim.

SIEGMANN AS CAPTAIN

George Siegmann has been engaged to play the "heavy" in "Captain Blackbird," which will be R. A. Walsh's first Goldwyn production. The story is a romance of the South Seas, by Carey Wilson. Mr. Siegmann has been in many notable pictures, including "The Birth of a Nation," "The Three Musketeers" and the forthcoming production of "Hungry Hearts." He is the only member of the cast of "Captain Blackbird" so far selected.

PATSY MILLER A JUDGE

ENGAGES ORGANIST

A new and brilliant organist has been obtained by Mischa Guterson for Tally's Broadway Theater. He is Newell Alton, former organ soloist for the Strand and Tivoli theaters in San Francisco. Alton has an excellent reputation as a soloist.

INHERITANCE TAX ON ESTATE IS PAID

An inheritance tax of $2618.80 upon the estate of DeWitt C. Casterline, pioneer resident of Southern California, who died at his home here last February, was reported yesterday to the office of Ray L. Riley, State Controller, by E. P. Werner, inheritance tax attorney. Addie A. Casterline, the widow, is the sole inheritor of the fortune, which is considerably in excess of $100,000. More than $70,000 of this amount is represented by business property in Pasadena, acquired by Mr. Casterline in the 90's for a few thousand dollars.

SUSPECT TO BE BROUGHT HERE SOON

Sheriff's Deputies Plan Trip to Seattle to Return "The Mouse" for Trial

Immediate steps were taken yesterday by Sheriff Traeger for the extradition from Seattle for trial of Guido Vingola, also known as Springanó and G. Gato, and to the police as "The Mouse," who was arrested there on suspicion of being implicated in recent big robberies in this city. From information received at the Sheriff's office it is believed the man under arrest is "The Mouse."

Vingola, G. W. Kerr, alias "Red" Mitchell, and two others are accused in a complaint issued here of holding up Assistant Cashier J. L. Webb, Harry Grat, a guard and J. M. Hennessy, a driver for the Standard Oil Company, in North Spring street on February 27, last, and the robbery from them of $52,000 in cash and securities. Kerr has been in the County Jail for a month and is awaiting trial.

The man arrested in Seattle was taken on information furnished by the Sheriff's office. Efforts were doubled yesterday by Chief Deputy Sheriff Manning and Deputies Wright and Strong to arrest the two others said to be implicated in the robbery. It is asserted by the officers that the four are suspected of implication in other big robberies and attempts here within the last six months.

Deputy Sheriff Bright, as State agent and Detective Fitzgerald of the Burns agency, as assistant, will leave tomorrow night to bring "The Mouse" here for trial.

Wed Five Days Then Was Left; She Gets Decree

A marriage resulting from love at first sight went on the rocks in five days. Mrs. Eva B. Allen, formerly of New York, who was granted a divorce from Robert Westford Allen, a New York draftsman, in Judge Summerfield's court yesterday, declared that Mr. Allen's conduct was objectionable. He became angry and left her. He said he was through.

Capt. J. D. Fredericks, a friend of Mrs. Allen, and her counsel in court, testified that at the request of her mother, he attempted to act as mediator. He saw Mr. Allen and talked to him. Mr. Allen became excited and declared that under no circumstances would he go back to his young wife. He said that when he left, he left for good.

The Allens were married in New York City, Dec. 14, 1919. Mr. Allen left his bride Dec. 18, 1919.

Man, En Route to Hospital is Again Injured

En route to the hospital to have a minor injury attended, Louis Mahna, 43 years of age, 1411 West Fifty-ninth street, suffered additional and more serious hurts in an automobile collision at McClintock and East Thirty-seventh streets yesterday afternoon.

Emil Blum, 21, of Maywood, who was driving Mahna to the hospital, received lacerations and abrasions. His machine overturned when he tried to avoid another automobile. Mahna had cut his thumb while working at the Crown Sash and Door Company. In the automobile accident his left hand was split open, and he received lacerations and contusions on the head and face. Both men were attended at the Receiving Hospital by Police Surgeon Saverien.

LANDIS MAY SPEAK

Cullen Landis, attractive young screen juvenile, has received an offer to appear on the New York stage, and is considering it seriously. Although Landis has been decidedly successful in pictures, he admits a great desire to essay speaking parts. He appeared at the Philharmonic Auditorium here recently in "The Iron Judge," a dramatic playlet by Joseph A. Jackson, and registered a decided hit. He was featured in "Watch Your Step," a recent Goldwyn picture, and will soon be seen in Rupert Hughes's "Remembrance."

Girl is Freed to Begin Life Anew in East

Dorothy Walver may go back to her parents at Waukegan, Ill., and start life all over again, it was decided yesterday by Judge Shenk. She had pleaded guilty to technical grand larceny of three dresses, valued at $60, from the apartment of C. M. Proctor, on December 20, last.

It was stated in the report of Probation Officer May, that Miss Walver had worked as an usher in a local theater and as a waitress. While working she met a young man, Rex Mercer, who is now serving a term in San Quentin, following his conviction on a larceny charge. Mercer after his arrest threw all the blame upon the girl, but an investigation showed she was a victim of circumstances.

The court placed her on probation, upon condition that she leave at once for Waukegan and take up her home with her parents. The girl tearfully, left the court with her attorney, S. S. Hahn, and arrangements were made at once for her to depart.

ACTION ON MUZZLING ORDINANCE DELAYED

STRAY DOGS OF TOWN DEFENDED BY COUNCILMAN SPARKS IN PROTEST

Councilman Sparks, who is a dog owner, stood up yesterday in the City Council and single-handed fought the proposed new dog-muzzling ordinance and succeeded in blocking action for one week.

"I see everyone here urging the adoption of this ordinance, so I want to do some fighting in behalf of the dogs," said Councilman Sparks. "They are the ones who, it is proposed, must wear these waste-basket muzzles, and I am opposed to it. A week's delay will give the organizations which are against this measure an opportunity to come before the Council and protest."

Action was delayed until next Friday morning. The Health Department is preparing, however, to enforce the present ordinance, which provides that dogs running at large on the streets shall be muzzled or be carted away to the pound by the dog catchers. The new amendments to the ordinance state specifically the kind of muzzles dogs shall wear, the type being a large wire basket-like affair which will permit the dog to bark, eat and drink, but not to bite.

LOVE GETS MIXED UP WITH CASH

Suit of Switzer Against Mrs. Russell Develops Romantic Feature

A commonplace suit by J. E. Switzer, an elderly married carpenter, against Mrs. Frano Russell of 1634 Tenth avenue, Monrovia, to recover $2600, he said he had loaned to her, unexpectedly developed a romance, admitted by Mr. Switzer and denied by Mrs. Russell, when called to trial in Judge Walton J. Wood's court yesterday.

After Mr. Switzer had characterized it as a simple loan, he admitted to Judge Wood, who questioned him closely, that he began to care for Mrs. Russell. Having taken the plunge, he said:

"It was like having a bear by the tail: I was afraid to let go."

Because of his conflicting statements, Judge Wood sent for Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joos and ordered the transcript written up and sent to the District Attorney's office for investigation on a charge of perjury.

"The first $2000 loan was without any consideration, he said. She told me she was going to Detroit to get $10,000 and to obtain a divorce from her fourth husband with whom she had been having trouble. While we were so much together—I was doing work for her—I got to caring for her. Otherwise I would not have let her have so much money. I did not talk marriage."

"Did she say she would marry?" the court asked.

"Yes, when she got her divorce papers."

"Did you tell her you would marry?"

"I don't believe I did."

Many Outside of State Given Share in Will

More than two-thirds of the $75,000 estate of Mrs. Clara Clayton Ross, who died in Pasadena, May 4, was left to persons outside of the State of California, by the terms of her will filed for probate yesterday.

The principal local bequests are $10,000 to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and $10,000 to Helen B. Fant of Pasadena.

Other bequests are as follows: Lester G. Fant, Holly Springs, Miss., $10,000; Barbara Walton Mason, Memphis, Tenn., $2000; Jessie McCuiddy, Logan county, Kentucky, $2000; Mrs. Douglas McCauley, Clarksville, Tenn., $2000; Selden Fant McClasky, Pacific Grove, Cal., $10,000; Virginia Johnson Home, Dallas, Tex., $2000.

The residue goes to grandnieces and grandnephews.

ATTORNEY DISBARRED

Thomas Pearson, Negro Lawyer, Kept Client's Money

Thomas Pearson, negro attorney, was ordered disbarred from practice by Judge Valentine yesterday on the charge of unethical practices. Pearson will be remembered by old-time politicians as a political ward leader.

In explaining to the court why he withheld money from the complaining witness, Mollie Winp, also colored, he said that Mollie had employed him to straighten out a case wherein a negro man had obtained her property. Pearson was successful. He got from the other man $100 in cash and a note for $50. Pearson gave Mollie only $150, and said nothing about the note. He admitted he obtained two $10 loans on the note.

"I was hard up, your honor, and I needed the money," was his excuse. "I meant to make it up to my client."

Mollie discovered that she should have received more money, and took the matter to the Bar Association. The case was investigated, and disbarment proceedings were instituted against Pearson.

Blind Persons Show They Can "See" With Fingers

Demonstrating the remarkable power to see with the fingers, hear with the eyes and see with the ears, as well as the miraculous ability to create music that the composer cannot hear, and to manufacture objects of beauty that the artist can never behold, more than 100 pupils of the educational department of the Handicap Bureau, 123 Temple street, yesterday participated in one of the most unique parties ever given in Los Angeles.

Chief hostess at the party was Mrs. Frances R. Vance, supervisor of the educational department of the industrial extension for the handicapped, conducted under the auspices of the outdoor relief division of Los Angeles county. When Mrs. Vance returned, recently, from the State conference of social workers, at San Diego, she discovered that the salvage department of the Industrial Extension Bureau had installed a grand piano in the educational department, and to celebrate this event she decided to give her pupils a party.

PLANS SIMILAR PARTIES

The affair proved such a success that Mrs. Vance announced yesterday that similar parties will be given from noon to 4 p.m., the first Friday of every month.

The object of the educational department is vocational guidance for men and women who are handicapped in every respect except intellectually. Last year 200 blind, crippled and otherwise incapacitated men and women were placed at the school and later held positions of responsibility in the outside world.

Following a delightful luncheon yesterday the so-called handicapped pupils gave an entertainment worthy of a first-class vaudeville house. Blind men played the piano and other instruments, and blind women sang, while others who were deaf followed the movements of the singers' lips and thrilled their appreciation of the sentiments of the songs rendered. Crippled and deformed men and women, many of whom are artists of exceptional ability in many lines, danced round the piano, applauding the performers.

Among those entertaining were Miss Marie Chafman, pianist; Mrs. Nellie Baker, soloist; Alfred O. Jones, piano teacher and professional piano tuner, and U. J. Donnelly, pianist.

FURNITURE EXHIBITED

Hand furniture made by Charles Jones, who "sees with the eyes of a poet," beautiful baskets made by William J. Baker, wire jewelry fashioned by F. L. McCracken, fine painting, gold and silver etching and luster work by Trinidad Cardenas, reading lamps and shades made by R. O. Kerby, and wonderful rugs and blankets woven by scores of the blind and crippled girls were on display.

An interesting feature of the party was the examination by blind persons of the various articles on exhibit. Visualizing with the finger tips, the blind ones went from room to room and from booth to booth, examining the form and texture of the rugs, clothing, pottery and other articles. Some of them, it is said, even detect colors through the touch of touch, plus an intuitive sense which a few of them have developed.

Every article exhibited is for sale, and the exhibition is open to the public daily. The proceeds go to the people who manufacture the articles, the only deduction being the cost of the material.

Wife Disputes Husband's Right to Sweethearts

Because Camden Redington, wealthy property owner, believes in being a man, he has a right to as many sweethearts as he wants," Mrs. Nellie Redinger, his wife, wants separate maintenance.

Mrs. Redinger yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court, asserting that her husband is continually associating with other women over her protests. She names two women particularly, without disclosing their names, as living in Jasper, Fla., and another in Richmond, Va.

In his philosophy, she says, he proved by saying: "I am a man and have a right to as many sweethearts as I like."

Mrs. Redinger also says he receives letters from another woman who addresses him as "Dear Heart."

Freeman Redinger and Miss Ruth Redinger, brother and sister of the husband, also are made defendants in the suit. Mrs. Redinger asserts that her husband has turned over to them $10,000 worth of property to prevent it from falling into her hands.

Postage Costs Doodles Rubles in Tchelabinsk

It cost the brother of Attorney Harry Sherr 60,000 rubles to send a letter full of personal chatter from Mishkino, Russia, to Los Angeles, U.S.A. Eight blue stamps of the soviet government, each valued at 7500 rubles, almost covered one side of the envelope addressed to Mr. Sherr's office in the Wilcox Building.

The brother is supervisor of public health in the Province of Tchelabinsk," said the attorney. "He tells me it cost him 900,000 rubles to buy a railroad ticket for a twenty-five-mile journey, and it took him several days to travel 25 miles by rail. The motorman had been paid and quit the job in the middle of the trip."

The letter declared that the American Relief had just opened a restaurant in Tchelabinsk and was feeding 1000 children.

Cinema Star Says All She Wants Is Peace

Billie Rhodes (Mrs. Lavita Jobelmann)

"ALL I want is peace," exclaimed Billie Rhodes, who is known off the screen as Mrs. Lavita Jobelmann, yesterday when she was asked whether she expected to marry a third husband. She had just obtained a divorce from William H. Jobelmann, publicity agent, after an unhappy married life.

Her suit was tried by Judge Summerfield And her story was briefly told. She declared Mr. Jobelmann had slapped her, was rude and addicted to intoxicants. He made scenes and humiliated her before friends. His methods, particularly after drinking, were rough, she said. She was represented by Attorney Harry A. Chamberlain.

Billie Rhodes was the widow of "Smiling Bill" Parsons, cinema magnate and was left a fortune of $150,000. Mr. Jobelmann did not contest the suit.

Convicted of Assault With Deadly Weapon

After Mrs. Ada Bell, daughter of W. E. Smith, appeared as a witness against her father yesterday in Judge Shenk's court, a jury hearing the case found the defendant guilty of assault with a deadly weapon upon B. A. Smith, a son of the defendant. The case was continued until Tuesday for sentence.

The daughter testified that for fourteen months her mother did not know where her father was, and that he had not supported her for five years. She said that a sister, Mabel, aged 17, was suffering from malnutrition and that the son, said to have been attacked, had advanced the mother money to come here from Arizona.

The defendant was charged with assault with intent to murder, but was found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon. The case was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Richardson.

Ugo Acquired English While Guest in Jail

Mosalle Ugo received his education in the speaking of English in the County Jail. It was disclosed yesterday in Judge Shenk's court, where he appeared on an application for probation. The defendant had pleaded guilty to passing a forged check for $17 on a local bank. It was learned that he had been in the United States only six months and was unable to speak English when he arrived.

"Where did you learn to speak English?" he was asked.

"In the County Jail," came the response.

Ugo was released on probation of two years. He had originally appeared before Judge Parker, but when the latter announced that he did not believe the probation law legal, the case was transferred to Judge Shenk's court.

About 300 delegates are in attendance.

There will be a children's matinee today, with many events for the youthful riders, and tonight the championship events will be held. Court to Decide Deadliness of Common Spoon

Is a spoon legally a deadly weapon?

This question is one that will have to be decided by a jury or Judge Shenk in the case of Dennis De Rache, according to Deputy Public Defender Scott, defense counsel in the case.

The defendant is accused of assault with a deadly weapon upon Mrs. Pearl Lewis, 3041 Alameda street. He pleaded not guilty yesterday and the court ordered that he be admitted to bail of $1000 in bonds, or $500 cash, until his trial on July 10.

"If a spoon is a deadly weapon, I never knew it," said Mr. Scott, "and that is the only weapon the defendant said he ever used."

WILL CONTEST ON

Son and Adopted Daughter Begin Court Battle

A three-cornered battle for the $10,000 estate of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Mundell began yesterday with the filing of two wills. Mrs. Mundell died April 1, at Sawtelle.

One will was filed by John H. Southworth of Ocean Park, a son, by whose terms $100 is left to the adopted daughter, Myrtle Dibble McCutcheon of Inglewood, and the residue is divided between Southworth and Robert D. Mundell, another son, of Denver. This will was dated Oct. 15, 1915.

A will dated May 30, 1916 also has been filed by the adopted daughter. By its terms the estate is equally divided among the three children.

Yesterday Mr. Southworth filed a contest to the will filed by Miss McCutcheon, asserting that the adopted daughter took advantage of Mrs. Mundell's feeble mental condition and induced her to execute a second will.

GRANTED PROBATION

Woman Thanks Judge When His Decision Is Announced

"I thank you," said Mrs. Bertha Sperry, a smile on her face, when she was informed by Judge Shenk yesterday that she was released on probation of two years.

Mrs. Sperry was convicted by a jury of stealing a fur coat, valued at $160, from a local department store. She said that she had taken the coat through a misunderstanding.

The court told her she must report regularly to Probation Officer May.

BIRTHDAY FESTIVAL AT ECHO PARK

Public Invited to Come and Witness Elaborate Program Saturday

Echo Playgrpund will celebrate its fifteenth birthday Saturday, when everybody in the neighborhood, youngsters and grown-ups, are invited to attend an all-day party on the grounds.

Echo Playground, the oldest unit in the Los Angeles Playground Department, was born fifteen years ago. The place was then an unsightly swamp hole, used as a dump. Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, founder of the playground system in Los Angeles, was struck by the possibilities of the spot while riding by one day, and conceived the idea of turning it into a playground. Today it is one of the prettiest spots in the city.

The public is invited to spend the day at Echo Park next Saturday. In the morning, stories will be told, and games played. At noon coffee will be served free.

At 2 o'clock the following program will be given:

Parade of pupils of Temple-street, Union-street, Rosemont-avenue and Logan-street schools; address by Mrs. Willoughby Rodman of the Playground Commission; song by Rosemont school pupils, led by Miss Lulu Snyder; dancing directed by Miss Hortense Williams, director of women at Echo Playground; military drill, with band, by students of the Manual Arts High School, led by Prof. Sid Foster; Maypole dance by children of the Echo Playground.

C. B. Raitt, superintendent of playgrounds, will act as grand marshal of the day. J. Lee Thompson, director of Echo Playground, will be his assistant. Fifty Boy Scouts, under command of Chief E. B. De Groot, will be ushers. Members of the Mother's Club, Wednesday Night Gymnasium Class, Men's Club and Thursday Evening Club, will serve on the reception committee. Members of the Parent-Teacher associations of the Temple-street, Union-street, Rosemont-avenue and Logan-street schools will act as hostesses.

COLORADO FLOOD NEED SET FORTH

Control of Great River One of State's Vital Issues, Council Here Told

The need of control of the waters of the Colorado River to protect the Imperial Valley is set forth in a communication received yesterday by the City Council from W. F. Coulter, chairman of the finance committee organized to secure support for a Congressional bill for the protection of the lower Colorado River basin. J. G. Mitchell, Mayor of Santa Ana, is treasurer of the committee. Mr. Coulter says in his letter:

"The matter of flood control of the Colorado River in the Imperial Valley is a subject of paramount and pressing importance to the people of that great inland empire in the southern part of our State. The people of Imperial Valley have subscribed to the limit, almost, for flood protection, and while various sections of this Southland are clamoring for power which will follow the development and harnessing of the Colorado, the one great overshadowing feature of the project is flood control for the thousands of farmers in Imperial Valley."

COLORADO RIVER IS STILL RISING

May 13.—The Colorado River continued to rise here today, reaching a stage of 23.85 feet, an advance of three-tenths of a foot in twenty-four hours, with a discharge of 56,600 cubic feet per second. Weather Bureau forecasts predict a stage of 25.5 feet with a discharge of 75,000 second feet for May 20, after which a sharp fall is expected to be followed by a steady rise to a flood crest, carrying possibly 175,000 second feet about June 15.

FILM'S FUTURE TOPIC AT CLUB

William De Mille Speaks to Women

Lays Blame for Poor Pictures on Censors

Friday Morning Club Elects Officers

BY MYRA NYE

Mrs. Andrew S. Lobingier was chosen president of the Friday Morning Club yesterday in an election which was utterly devoid of opposition. Others to ride into office with her were:

Mrs. Arthur C. Wier, first vice-president; Mrs. Randall Hutchinson, second vice-president; Miss Helen Louise Kimball, recording secretary; Mrs. William Walter Shayden, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Leroy Lowman, treasurer; Miss Alice W. Aldan, Mrs. Sarah H. Johnson, Miss Theresa Levy, Miss Elizabeth Neville Pepper and Mrs. David E. Spangler, directors.

"Making the Movies Fit for Morons" was the alliterative subject William De Mille did not take for the address of the morning. He said it had appealed to him greatly, but he substituted in its stead, "Future of Motion Pictures as an Art," which Mrs. Lobingier, who presided, said she regarded as a high compliment to the club.

FEAR SCREEN'S POWER

"This art of the motion picture," said Mr. De Mille, "is the most broadcast form of art that has ever happened. It is most universal, it shapes the public thought and men fear the power of the screen."

Proof of this latter statement, said the speaker, lay in the fact that politicians are asking for laws to prevent the use of the screen for political literature and propaganda.

Mr. De Mille expressed himself of the opinion that as an art form the motion picture was only eight years old, formerly having been merely a trade novelty. But even so, he said, it was an eight-year-old child with a giant's body and an eight-year-old brain. A strange anomaly was suggested by the speaker's assertion that Shakespeare is alone in the immortality in his writing than any other writer.

The theater, he said, had to change Shakespeare to make it available for the stage, but the Shakespearean plays filmed without exception would make photoplays possessing "flash backs," "cut in" and "cut backs." Yet Shakespearean plays do not take features that the public care for.

APPROVES COUNCIL

The fault lies with the public in this regard. The speaker said that the whole sense of improving the motion picture is as much lay in changing the public. He commended the work of the newly organized "Co-operative Council for Better Films," an organization of women who propose to work in co-operation with the producers, exhibitors and distributors from the viewpoint of the public.

"Ninety-five per cent of the pictures made today are terrible," said Mr. De Mille. "But they have to be that bad before they can be any better. Contrary to what reformers who want censorship think, the industry which pays my salary and the art for which I am working is not an association for demoralizing the youth of the nation.

"You will wreck the art if you subject it to censorship. It needs intelligent appreciation and freedom from unintelligent censorship. Let the public decide, not this small group who strike at the heart blood of the art. I can think of no unclean play of seven or eight years ago that has lived. All unclean plays fail unless they have something beside their filth to commend them. The great body of American citizens would clean plays.

PASTOR SPEAKS

"Not a week goes by that the fear of censorship does not kill some wonderful original conception of a photoplay before it is born. Others are produced, but so dulled that they have no logical sequence and the public then derides them for their inaccuracies and ridiculous conclusions. The whole fault lies with the censors. For my part I am making a fight to leave my plays as they are produced and as they are censored. Where the censor's hate in the film comes I ask the right to say in big letters, 'This is a hole made by the censor.' The public will understand. I will take my answer and criticism from the public, never from the censors."

Rev. Franklin Guyer, pastor of the Wilshire Congregational Church, was the luncheon speaker and made a remarkable defense of the theory of evolution.

Dr. Guyer brought the subject and his defense up to date by demonstrating its need when, as he said, only a short time ago a law in Kentucky making it illegal to teach atheism, infidelity or evolution in the public schools lost in the State Legislature by only one vote with the issues of it coming up there again and in other States.

REPORTS ON CONVENTION

The speaker quoted from scientists all over the world their statements going to prove that evolution is no longer debatable, but an established fundamental scientific thing upon which proper progress logically rests. He said that it is the duty of the church to see that no such monkey wrench as exposition to the theory of evolution should be thrown into State affairs whereby all the sciences now taught in high schools would be taught contrary to law; for all of these are based upon evolution.

"No such chasm should be made between science and spirituality," he said.

Mrs. M. E. English gave a detailed report of the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and innumerable announcements were made concerning the benefits which will be given for the "Finishing Fund." In the past six weeks $12,000 has been earned by benefits alone. During June, according to Mrs. O. P. Clark, there must be 225 benefits averaging $300 net profit apiece.

For Panama Picnic

All former Canal Zone employees and residents of Panama are asked to attend a picnic in Sycamore Grove tomorrow. There will be a basket lunch at noon and a business session later.

ASKED HAIRCUT; NEARLY DIED

Husband Requested Money for Barber, But Says Wife Got Butcher Knife

Phillip Weinberger wanted a hair cut, but came nearer getting his throat cut, according to his suit for divorce filed yesterday against Mrs. Fannie Weinberger.

Weinberger says that ever since his marriage he had given his pay envelope unopened to his wife. He says that when he requested a dollar from her to get a hair cut, she grabbed a large knife and shouted:

"I'll cut your throat."

PLAN TEST TO SAVE GROVES FROM FROST

CARBON BRIQUET EXPERIMENT WILL BE HELD IN HIGH SIERRAS

An experiment which is to have an important bearing on the citrus fruit industry is to be made during the next three days in the High Sierras. A party of chemists and engineers, equipped with the necessary paraphernalia left Los Angeles early yesterday morning. They carried with them a ton of carbon briquets, and these are to be burned in the open country above the snow line in an effort to raise the temperature from the freezing point to a degree that will be safe for orange and lemon trees in winter.

Assertions made by Champ S. Vance, vice-president of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, that the carbon briquets will solve the frost peril are responsible for the present test. The briquets will be burned under conditions that will be even more severe than could be found in Southern California during the coldest winter day. Thermometers which have been thoroughly tested will placed at intervals over a ten-acre space. The temperature will be taken the moment the fires are ignited and when the glow of the briquets has reached its maximum heat.

It is the desire of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation to learn all of the facts concerning the carbon briquets which they manufacture and which are to be distributed by the local concern without the use of the middle man. In the event that the briquets will burn with snow on the ground, and under conditions which are more severe than could be found in any of the State's citrus fruit groves, it is the purpose of the chemists and engineers in the expedition to ascertain just how small a fire can be used to prevent the danger of frost in the orchards.

Mayor Names McConnell as Prosecutor

William D. McConnell will take office Monday as City Prosecutor, having been appointed yesterday by Mayor Cryer and immediately confirmed by the City Council, on motion of Councilman Sparks.

Mr. McConnell, who has been assistant City Prosecutor, will succeed Erwin W. Widney, who resigned to accept an appointment as Deputy Attorney-General.

Following the resignation of Mr. Widney, there was immediately a lively race started among candidates for the position, a number of attorneys being in the field. Mr. McConnell, who is a member of the United Spanish War Veterans, had the warm support of this organization as well as the indorsement of prominent judges and lawyers.

Mr. McConnell announced that he will promote Chief Deputy Friedlander to be Assistant City Prosecutor and that William V. Kroel, now a deputy City Prosecutor, will be made chief deputy.

DAMAGES ASSESSED

Attorney Must Pay $20,000 for Auto Accident

C. W. Pendleton, attorney and former Collector of Customs, yesterday was assessed damages in the sum of $20,000 by a jury in Judge McCormick's court after trial of the suit of W. W. Gates, who was injured in 1916 when Mr. Pendleton's car, driven by Clarence Tell, struck him at Santa Fe and Vernon avenues.

The verdict came as a climax to a bitter legal battle that dates from 1917. The accident occured Oct. 1, 1916. Gates filed suit the latter part of the same year and after a hearing, a motion for a nonsuit was granted. Gates appealed the ruling to the Supreme Court, who reversed the decision and sent the case back to Judge McCormick for trial.

The testimony developed that Gates was waiting for a street car, with others, when he was struck by the machine. It was asserted that Mr. Pendleton's driver failed to obey the traffic signal to come to a stop while a street car was loading and discharging passengers.

HAD TWO WIVES

Husband's Second Spouse Granted Divorce

Mrs. Myrtle Peers, who declared in divorce proceedings before Judge Summerfield yesterday that her husband, Milton D. Peers posed as a single man and married Pearl Harrison in San Diego, won a decree yesterday on the ground of desertion and nonsupport. An affidavit stated that Peers did not know he had a wife when the plaintiff married him.

Mrs. Peers was married in Utah, June 12, 1913. The separation occurred Aug. 10, 1921. Attv. J. L. King represented her at the trial.

FRAUDS IN OIL DEALS HINTED

Report of State Official Said to be Startling

Prosecutions of Several Land Agents Predicted

Swindles Total Half-Million, Investigator Asserts

Richard Joss, deputy State Realty Commissioner, who has been conducting a secret investigation for several weeks into oil land operations in Long Beach, yesterday predicted the prosecution of several "unscrupulous oil land agents" when he makes his final reports in the near future to the Department of Justice and State Real Estate Board.

With two investigators, Mr. Joss has been probing oil-land activities in the Signal Hill and Huntington Beach fields, gathering evidence which will be used against certain land operators, it is said.

UNSCRUPULOUS ACTS

"It will be shown in the investigation certain to follow the reports, which the State Commissioner has made to the Department of Justice, that many thousands of dollars have been taken from unsuspecting persons by unscrupulous operators and promoters, who have sold shares and interests in companies from which they never will be able to realize a return on their investment," said Mr. Joss.

In one case which has been brought to the attention of the official the land which is made a part of the transaction would measure less than eleven inches square.

"It is not our intention," said Mr. Joss, "to wage war on legitimate operators or oil companies, but we are doing work of investigation to keep the oil men and realtors, whose operations are legitimate from receiving the blame which will be certain to fall on them when buyers find that they have been duped by the illegitimate companies and officials."

It is claimed that as much as $500,000 has been taken from buyers who will receive nothing in return but worthless paper.

"This investigation will be one of the greatest 'surprises' of the day," he continued, "and in my opinion, will do more to place the oil industry on a stable basis than anything that has been done for many years."

E. T. EARL ESTATE IS $5,534,000

Executor's Report Shows Claims Allowed Amounting to More Than Million

Edwin T. Earl, newspaper publisher and politician, left an estate valued at $5,534,238.55, according to the first account report of the executors, which was filed in the Superior Court yesterday.

The report was filed by Emily Jarvis Earl Fowler, the widow, Guy C. Earl, a son, and E. R. Frost. It dates from Jan. 2, 1919, to Dec. 31, 1920.

The report states that the Evening Express, which Earl owned at the time of his death, is now on a paying basis and has paid $35,000 in dividends to the estate since the reorganization and formation of the Express Publishing Company.

Owing to the innumerable claims against the estate and the delay necessary in taking the inventory and appraisement, the executors state, it was impossible to render an accounting sooner. Claims allowed, totaled $1,546,388.57. The total charges against the executors was placed at $7,154,213.44.

Mrs. Earl, the widow, is now the wife of William Edwin Fowler of Washington, D. C., whom she married July 27, 1921. She is residing in the capital city.

The report states that the estate is not yet ready for distribution. Hearing of the report was set for June 12, next.

Officers Make Record Capture of Moonshine

The biggest capture of moonshine liquor reported since the enforcement campaign begun was made yesterday by D. J. O'Leary and Agent Parker on New York avenue, La Crescenta, where 440 gallons of the stuff was taken by the officers.

The place is operated by Jack and Cris Wollendorf, who are said to have got away with a load containing about 150 gallons and a mammoth still before the arrival of the officers. This stuff with the still has been traced and it is believed will be captured today.

Both of the defendants were away from the house at the time of the visit of the prohibition agents, and word has been sent to them to come in and report.

The officers for months have had many complaints about the sale of liquor in La Crescenta and it is believed that it all came from the Wollendorf place. They had accumulated a house full of the contraband liquor, and it is said to have been of a superior quality—as moonshine goes.

"SPAT" BANDITS WORK

Taxi Driver and Sailor Robbed by Boss Brummel Pair

Two bandits, sartorially correct in every detail from spats to cravat, early yesterday held up and robbed Bert Andrew, a Yellow taxicab driver, and Frank Wier, a sailor, of $41 and $44 respectively. The hold-up occurred at North Broadway and Alpine street. Detectives Murray, Adams and Mickans were told that the bandits had hired the taxicab at Fifth and Main streets.

RICH WIFE IS ACCUSED BY DENTIST

Mrs. Grace K. Timkin Burt Sued by Mate Who Makes Startling Allegations

Mrs. Grace K. Timkin Burt, wealthy widow of the roller bearing magnate and prominent in Beverly Hills society, was yesterday made defendant in a suit for divorce filed by Dr. Charles B. Burt, dentist, who charges extreme cruelty.

Dr. Burt makes the sensational charge that Mrs. Burt has had him shadowed constantly by private detectives, who have on several occasions attempted to wreck his automobile under "her instructions."

Mrs. Burt and Dr. Burt were married in Oakland, Dec. 28, 1916. He charges that she deserted him Feb. 28, 1920.

In his complaint filed through Attys. Clark, Law and Clay, Dr. Burt asserts that his wife has refused to speak to him for days at a time. She refused, he says, to associate with any of his friends when they were visiting at Asheville, N. C., and while at Atlantic City, in 1917, refused to be seen in his company or to take her meals with him in the dining-room of the hotel at which they were stopping.

Since shortly after their marriage, he says, she has humiliated him in the presence of the hired help, by telling them that it was her money that was paying the bills and he had no right to give them orders. She has made the same assertion, he says, in the presence of other people, causing him much embarrassment.

The detectives she had had following him, he says, have been spreading false reports regarding his conduct. She has threatened, he says, to ruin his professional standing in Los Angeles, and drive him out of the city.

New Secretary of Y.M.C.A. Will Arrive Today

Warren F. Howe, newly elected executive secretary of central branch, Y.M.C.A., will arrive in this city from Denver, Colo., at 3:46 p.m., today. Mr. and Mrs. Howe and their 18-months-old daughter, will be welcomed at the Union Pacific Station by members of the local association's secretarial staff. They will stop at the home of General Secretary Henderson in Sierra Vista until permanently located.

Mr. Howe comes to this position after a world-wide experience, which includes teaching in a missionary college in Allahabad, India, service in the Aviation Corps during the World War, "Y" work with the Greeks a war in Thrace and several years in Y.M.C.A. work on the Atlantic Coast.

Offering Jobs to Watchmen Causes Arrest

Henry Peters, alias Joe H. Weil, was arrested on the complaint of Postoffice Inspector Hanson yesterday and arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long on the charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. He was held in a bond of $1500.

His asserted scheme was to advertise in the city newspapers, offering wages of $135 a month to act as watchmen on the estate of a Santa Barbara millionaire, whose name was not given. When an answer was received to the advertisement he is said to have told the applicant for the job that he must put up $100 for a bond. Federal officers say that in at least one case he was successful in collecting the bond money. After his arrest, Peters made a full confession, the inspector said. Peters is a German.

LAWYERS FORM CLUB

Organization Will Meet Each Tuesday at Noon.

Los Angeles and Pasadena lawyers have formed a luncheon club to meet in the Union League Club every Tuesday noon. It was announced yesterday. At the organization meeting there were 125 attorneys present, the meeting being called to order by Jefferson P. Chandler, president of the California State Bar Association.

All lawyers in Los Angeles county are eligible for membership.

The club is rather unique in that it charges neither membership fee nor dues and has not set formal programs. It is rather a get-together affair, for the lawyers and for out-of-town attorneys who may be visiting in the city to meet a large number of lawyers.

At each luncheon there will be three or four four-minute speeches on subjects relating to the welfare of the attorneys and the public at large.

RUTTER LEAVES CITY

State Prohibition Director Concludes Investigating Druggists

State Prohibition Director Rutter returned to San Francisco last night, having concluded his work here investigating local druggists who, it is asserted, had violated the terms of their permit in the sale of intoxicating liquor.

In several instances hearings were held and testimony was taken; in others continuances were asked for and granted, and in still others druggists surrendered their permits to avoid further prosecution.

Before leaving for the north, Director Rutter said that the appointment of a successor to D. J. O'Leary would be made by National Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, and that two recommendations had been made by him to the Washington officials. He had no information as to who it would be.

If you remember we began last week a series of small chats on the care of the skin and complexion. The thorough cleansing each night with Owl Theatrical Cold Cream has doubtless begun to produce results. Have you noticed how the enlarged pores disappear and a clearness is detected almost immediately? Now for the next step toward beauty. You will need a jar of the Owl Skin Cream. It is ever so fine a preparation for building up tissue after the skin has been thoroughly cleansed. This cream is to your face what food is to the body. It makes for a substantial foundation and will stave off the ravages of summer's burning winds which bring tan and freckles and a general dryness that makes the skin look coarse and uncared for. If beauty is its own reward and complexion admittedly plays a big part in the performance, don't neglect so important an item, but add a jar of Owl Skin Cream to your shelf of requisite essentials.

If wishes could be made to come true Sallie would like every woman who has a kitchen would own an "Angelus" White enamel table top, one of the greatest sources of pleasure and true comfort a home maker could desire. They are so easily kept clean doing away with the endless scrubbing of them old wooden affairs and the constant changing of oilcloth covers. The Angelus White Enamel Table Tops are made in three convenient sizes to fit your table if you desire. Call Smood-Holman Co., 1929 Santa Fe, Bdwy. 7954.

The average woman who uses McDonald's Roof Garden Chocolate is, of course, aware of the many ways in which it may be used. Icing, Blanc Mange, cakes and fudge are just a few we might mention, but heading the category let's mention McDonald's Roof Garden Chocolate in powder form as a beverage! Quickly made by the addition of sugar and boiling water. No wonder this chocolate is growing more popular daily.

The beet ranks next to the potato as an important vegetable. It can be served plain boiled, with butter sauce, or pickled. Beets are delicious when baked and served with sharp sauce.

Here is a special which Mr. Albert Walter, 218 South Main, has to offer. Think of being able to buy a velvet rug nine by twelve for $20.70. Some value, what?

Those satisfying Sweet Brannies are coming to the foreground by leaps and bounds, because they carry a double-barreled benefit. Firstly, they can be eaten at all times and are; although nourishing—do not increase tissue or add weight. Its all in the energy-producing ingredients and those who wants to acquire the average they stabilize your diet to a nicety. Good grocers can supply you; just try them.

Straws may be used when giving liquids to sick children when they cannot be moved. Glass tubes are easily broken, but a bundle of straws such as used at soda fountains may be purchased at small cost.

Another way to use the Los Angeles Creamery Company's tempting cottage cheese is in this manner: One carton Los Angeles cottage cheese, one-half tablespoon cream, one tablespoon butter melted and paprika and salt to taste. Mix thoroughly and set on ice. Before serving mold into balls; roll these balls in ground walnut or pecan meats and serve on crisp lettuce leaves with wafers. The cheese ball may be served with a vegetable salad or on a slice of pineapple. A very dainty dish may be made by dropping a bit of jelly in a nest of cottage cheese. Pimento minced with olives or onions may be added to the mixture. Cottage cheese as made by the Los Angeles Creamery contains much more nourishment than most of us are aware of. Made from pure pasteurized milk and flavorized with rich, thick cream, there is every reason why we should love it and eat it with greater frequency.

Gasoline will remove rust from nickel. Kerosene will take the soot off woodwork.

A cooling drink—a thirst quenching beverage is it—you—good readers desire? Well, here are suggestions galore! Warm days inspire tea-tinkling ideas and we recall to mind the punch bowl, which should never be empty. The compartments of the ice chest or refrigerator in which should repose a dozen bottles at least of Arrowhead Ginger Ale or Dr. Sweet's Root Beer, the latter securable from Arrowhead's plant. Mind, you don't forget the Arrowhead Syrups made of the true fruit juices and Kwas, another of Arrowhead's celebrated drinks.

All phone orders at South 321 are promptly taken care of—put the number on your memorandum and call today, say for a case or so of any or all of these delightful beverages. It is always a good idea to be prepared.

Is your lawn being sprinkled properly? Is the grass getting the right amount of moisture to promote a thick green growth? Too much water is as bad as too little, for one scurs the grass roots, while the other permits them to dry up and die. A hose necessitates tiresome standing—besides it doesn't evenly distribute the water and often is wasteful and expensive whereas if you have The Thompson Adjustable Sprinkler Heads System installed, the absolute satisfaction derived from them coupled with their thorough reliableness, more than makes up for the slight expense incidental to their installation. Sold at better hardware stores or from The Thompson Mfg. Co., 2469 E. 8th. Phone Broadway 2299.

Have you been admiring the Spanish type awnings with spears to add to their decorative attractiveness? Why not decide to have them on your house? This information will interest those who have been eager to know just where they may purchase bread made of Vitmin flour, which you will desire to use, because it is absolutely 100 per cent complete wheat and is just as finely ground as ordinary flour. Now that the warm weather has finally arrived, everyone is wearing white shoes. An economy is to clean them at home. Angelus White Dressings are so easy to apply and give such satisfactory results. The polish for white-glazed kid is "glossy," and Buck Nu-Buck requires Angelus "Cosmopolitan." "Arctic White" is the dressing for canvas. All of these very reliable polishes preserve and clean the materials on which they are used, at a small expense. Angelus Suede Powders are made in all the fashionable new shades. You will find them extremely satisfactory. Insist upon Angelus products, which the better drug, shoe and department stores carry.

A few more warm days will renew our interest in thirst dispelling beverages. That being the case a suggestion to readers regarding the best place to get the necessary ingredients won't be amiss. Ever heard of Cream-o-Malt? 'Tis unusually fine for failure with this meritorious home brew. Customers who have tried it once declare that there is never the slightest chance for a failure with this meritorious product, which you should remember may be bought at the Clee Koe Coffee Co., 316 W. 5th—a mere step from Broadway.

Just remember this! When buying seeds and plants for flower or vegetable gardens go to Winsel-Gibbs, 211 S. Main St. All seeds now half price.

What a wealth of happiness and pleasure a single telephone order can bring if it concerns sending to your house a quart or more of Hughes Ice Cream. The children certainly adore all of the flavors which this well-known ice cream company make and yet why limit such discriminating taste to the little folk. We grown-ups are appreciative of Hughes creams and ices. The thick, rich cream and pure fresh fruit juices, which Hughes use have made us strong boosters and frequent seekers of yellow and white signs, which are indicative of Hughes dealers.

'Tis odd but nevertheless true that what you serve, the manner in which you do it lies the secret of success towards that particular party that causes us to discuss those delicious things we ate on our way home. Yes, it requires careful planning to arrange a well balanced menu. You can acquire these factors in letting The Elite Caterers assume absolute responsibility. Their address 641 S. Flower.

Skim milk contains all the nourishing elements the whole milk contains, except the butter fat.

'Tis only when we find ourselves out of bounds or in some remote spot where fresh milk is impossible that we realize what an essential towards our sustenance it is. How many of us know that good pure milk is one of the few perfect foods, by that, is meant containing the five food principles in proper proportions. Mother nature has arranged it to be within reach of all. The Los Angeles Creamery operates a large model dairy where hygienic surroundings, sterilized equipment are golden rules. Make it your rule to drink L. A. milk daily.

"What cannot one send to the Crown Laundry?" a woman remarked this week past. Lace curtains, woolen blankets, rag rugs, fine dresses, frilly blouses, table linens, all washed and ironed to perfection. Much better than you can do it at home for we haven't the soft water, nor the patience nor time to change the rinsing water as frequently as necessary, therefore our clothes haven't the snowy white appearance your bundle dislosses when returned from The Crown, which is heartily recommended.

The use of Golden Ball Orange Vinegar is going to increase very rapidly when the women who keep house know what a superior vinegar it is. You will find it highly satisfactory for any use to which vinegar is put, but particularly is it desirable as a salad vinegar for this season: it contains a very liberal percentage of citric acid, perhaps our most valuable fruit acid, made from a citrus fruit. In this way you achieve the same effect as that obtained by the use of lemon juice, which we housekeepers have used in the past because ordinary vinegar didn't agree with us. Orange vinegar is simply orange juice converted into vinegar and done with the greatest cleanliness imaginable. It is put up in new bottles, which are thoroughly cleansed with hot water and steam, then the vinegar is poured in boiling hot, capped immediately and ready for your use. A sterling product, beneficial because of the vitamines in the citric acid it contains and wholesome inasmuch as the fruit from which it is made is not attacked by boring insects. Golden Ball Vinegar may be bought from Albert Cohn's, or at any of the Rock Bottom Stores.

If you haven't eaten one of the famous Italian dinners served at Mony's Grill, 107 W. Market, a half block south of the postoffice, you have a treat in store for you as they serve such palatable food, cooked perfectly deliciously. You couldn't ask for better nor get better and place also, for Mrs. Mony personally selects everything used, and it is a matter of pride with him to give his patrons the finest obtainable.

Don't fail to call the Household Service Co. if there is repairing of any sort to be done to furniture or anything pertaining to the house. Nothing daunts them!

Has it ever occurred to you that our great scientists and mechanical wizards are really responsible for the remarkable change in our mode of living, almost everything points to the economy of time nowadays? Especially where labor is concerned with house or factory, efficiency is first and foremost and 'twas that fact alone that prompted White King Soap to manufacture the great household necessity, a good pure, white soap, that would do real service in a given space of time. As the old adage says "kill two birds with one stone," so alike can all your household and wearing apparel be beautifully washed with and under one water. Again there is a concentrated granule form put up especially for machines. Don't speculate.

All game should be soaked in salt water over night before cooking.

Really, it is almost wicked to allow your hardwood floors to become so badly marred. Right now, before you forget it, call Pico 1416, it's the Acme Cleaners' number. They clean, wax and refinish floors beautifully, my dears; they look like new and are ever so easily kept clean afterwards. You won't forget to make an appointment with them, for delays may be disastrous, you know.

It is a source of deep gratification to be able to recommend for your use Superi. At last a metal polish has been found which won't hurt your hands when using it, and what makes it doubly fine is that it is made here in Los Angeles. Its advantages are numerous, some of them being that it is cheapest because it covers four times the surface other polishes will, is noncombustible, contains no acids, therefore, being noninjurious and cleans all kinds of metal. You really should never be without a can and if your dealer hasn't it, phone Bdwy. 4543.

There's no denying that light woodwork is lovely in the home, but it must be cleaned often—unromantic as it may seem. And before you start that task this spring order your package of "Nex-All," put some in the cleaning water and see what a difference it makes. When used in dishwater the china and glassware fairly sparkle. No, it won't hurt the hands.

Potted plants will grow better if a little cold tea is poured into the flower pot occasionally.

There is apt to be a feeling of reluctance over intrusting an order for meats, fish or fresh vegetables and fruits over the phone, no fear at Young's! tho when possible a visit to any one of their markets is almost a jaunting trip of pleasure, because of the attractive way in which everything is displayed. No need to be told Young's are known for their dependability. Their markets speak for themselves.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

CAUTIONS WHILE REDUCING WEIGHT

My dear reducing class:

Today ends the three weeks' series on reducing weight. If you have been faithful, you have lost at least ten pounds of your excess, and you are feeling 100 per cent better in every way. You are so happy that you feel like accosting every overweight person you see and telling them that it is unnecessary for them to be so burdened.

While it might prove embarrassing to do that to strangers, you can pass the joyful news on to your friends.

If the thousands all over the land who have been following this class work will do that, we will have started such a tremendous force for the betterment of health and looks and efficiency of our people that in a years' time it will be a rarity to see an overweight individual, and we will not be accused of being a nation of overeaters while other nations are starving.

As I have told you, I am not going to desert you. I shall write frequently on reducing. In a week or so I am going to ask you for a report. Watch for it. Meanwhile, heed these cautions.

CAUTIONS

(1.) Don't lose more than two pounds a week after the first loss.

(2.) After a loss of thirty or forty pounds, it is wise to rest a month. Go back to your maintenance diet, but don't gain. Begin your diet again for your further reduction.

(3.) Don't make a practice of taking physic. If necessary, add roasted bran to your diet, increase your cellular vegetables, take some granulated agar or a little mineral oil.

(4.) Don't overeat at one meal and thus perhaps undo the work it has taken you three days to accomplish. Don't loiter in the vicinities of pastry and candy! There is nothing more tragic than a fat person looking in a candy window.

(5.) Don't be discouraged if sometimes you register a gain even after dieting well. It is probably due to a retention of water. Eat very little salts.

(6.) Don't imagine that after reducing you are going to be able to overeat and get away with it. You won't have to diet nearly so strenuously, but you will always have to be careful.

Watch your weight!

(7.) Don't taste! The second taste is much harder to resist than the first. Don't taste! One taste follows another.

(8.) If a claim like a cold should attack you, better go back to maintenance diet, but don't gain.

(9.) Don't give up if you fall from caloric grace and gain occasionally. It is better to have lost and gained than never to have lost at all.

PROMISES

I promise you if you follow my directions and reduce as I have directed:

(3.) Better dispositions. Fat people are not good natured! They are apathetic.

(4.) Better looks. Clearer skin. No matter how you look during the process, when you are reduced your looks will be improved. Five hundred fold. And younger, lots younger!

(5.) A reorganization of your mode of living. A cure of your habit of unnatural craving for large amounts of concentrated foods, with the creation of a new natural appetite for wholesome foods.

KLAN DESTROYS GUARD PAPERS

of the letter, which led Col. Story to approve the application.

This letter, although filed with the guard's papers, was mutilated and the notations were removed, according to investigation since conducted.

PERMIT REVOKED

As soon as it was learned that the "Mounted Rifles" were Klansmen under an assumed name, Col. Story revoked permission to use the Armory, it is declared. The identity of the Klan was disclosed through a special investigation.

Another Klansman was the center of attack by the Kern county grand jury when it was discovered that Allen Combs, as superintendent pro tem of the Courthouse and with access to the grand jury room, is a Klansman. He was named when the grand jury asked the removal of the official superintendent, R. L. Sheehan, a Klansman, pending the jury's inquiry into the Klan's activities.

Combs was appointed by Chairman Stanley Abel of the Board of Supervisors after Sheehan had volunteered to be suspended pending the investigation. Abel, also a Klansman, the records show, recently announced he was proud of his membership.

Following his appointment of a second Klansman to guard the grand jury records, Abel was called before the inquisitorial body and was closeted with the grand jury for several minutes. The nature of his testimony was not made public.

BOTH SIDES QUIET

The inquiry into the raid at Inglewood on April 22, last, by the local grand jury was at a standstill yesterday, the jury having recessed until Monday morning.

The opposing camps of Dist.-Atty. Woolwine, aided by Chief Dep. Doran, and Dep. Turney, and of Grand Goblin William S. Coburn and King Kleagle G. W. Price of the Klan, were comparatively quiet during the day.

Grand Goblin Coburn declared that since the Inglewood raid, the applications for membership in Los Angeles county have totaled more than 700. He did not state the exact number of resignations, but said that the Klansmen on the police force and in the Sheriff's office as well as some others had resigned.

ORDER CITED

Gen. Boree's order to the National Guard, and approved by the Governor, is as follows

"(1.) During the last few days rumors have reached this office and what purports to be proof has been furnished that one or more officers of the National Guard have become affiliated with the secret organization known as the Ku Klux Klan. It is sincerely hoped that this is not true for no National guardsman can serve State and nation in a spirit of loyalty and singleness of purpose contemplated by his oath if he is bound by allegiance to a secret organization that apparently has for its purpose the compelling of the individual citizen to conform to the moral, political, or business ideas of that organization, without regard for the law of our country and constitutional rights of citizens.

"(2.) The National Guard is organized, equipped and trained so the State and nation may have a force of loyal disciplined men immediately available should it be needed to enforce the law and preserve order when the civilian authorities have proven themselves unable to control a situation. This being true, no member of the National Guard can afford to assume any obligation pledging allegiance to any secret organization which may compel him to choose between such allegiance and his oath to his State and nation.

"(3.) There is no room in the National Guard of California, for any man who does not hold supreme his oath to the State and nation. If there are any members of the National Guard of California who have become involved by membership in any organization whose purpose or principles might conflict with their duties to the State and nation, they must sever membership in such organization or resign from the National Guard."

According to word from Fresno, the order is expected to remove Oscar Collins, a Fresno Guard officer. Collins's name was found on the list of Klan members in Fresno, taken at Los Angeles, and he signed a public statement on the Klan, which was published here.

BURKE MAKES STATEMENT

U. S. Dist.-Atty. Burke returned to the city yesterday, after spending the week attending the May session of the Federal Court at Fresno, and made the following statement in regard to his connection with the K.K.K. movement:

"About a year ago I was approached at Santa Ana by a friend, who asked me to join the K.K.K. I was led to believe that it was a purely American organization, intended to combat the I.W.W. and Bolshevik tendencies in the various communities of the country. It was represented to me that it would be the duty of the members to stand for America, and if necessary, follow the example of the ten-minute men during the war, addressing assemblages, to inculcate the principles of pure Americanism in the nation.

"I inquired if there was to be any night riding connected with the proposition, and was told that nothing of that sort was contemplated. With that understanding, I signed my name to the roll.

"Later on, and before I could hear of the fate of my application, I began to read of the operations of the K.K.K. in Texas and Oklahoma, about the night riding and reported outrages committed by the organization. I made up my mind to have nothing to do with it.

"Later on I was informed that I should come to Los Angeles to be initiated, but in the meantime I had concluded to go no further in the matter, and I did not obey the summons. What became of my application I do not know."

PYTHIANS MUST QUIT KLAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, May 12.—Highland Lodge, Knights of Pythias, has passed a resolution that any members who belong to the Ku Klux Klan must either leave that organization or quit their membership in the Pythian order. Delegates from the Highland lodge to the grand lodge meeting at Chico next week are instructed to present a similar resolution to that body for action.

ENGINEER TO MAKE THIS CITY HIS HOME

FINDS MORE ACTIVITY HERE THAN ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE WEST

Charles T. Phillips, consulting engineer of San Francisco, whose connection with the Bank of Italy is well known in banking and engineering circles throughout the State, is at the Alexandria on a visit of several days.

Mr. Phillips' statement that he expected to take up residence here permanently within a short time followed a review of conditions that he has encountered in a recent tour of the Western territory. He commented particularly on the activity that not only creates an immediate impression on the visitor, but which is greater, he says, than in any other section of the West.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

Helps for Epicures and All Who Appreciate Good Cooking

BY CHEF A. L. WYMAN, M.C.A.

[Readers of The Times can secure through this column any recipe or information for the preparing and serving of foods that they may ask. All requests should be addressed to Chef A. L. Wyman, laboratory kitchen, 434 Argyle avenue, Glendale.—Ed.]

This week I have received a number of requests for salad dressings and also have been asked to give the recipe for a concentrated salad dressing as made by a firm in Hollywood.

The concentrated salad dressing is made from a combination of three old southern recipes and the lady who supervises its manufacture had these recipes handed down to her by the older members of her family. During the war this dressing was made and sold for the benefit of the various war organizations and it became so popular that the lady was prevailed upon to manufacture it commercially. After making a number of tests with this dressing, I have found that it can be used as a base for almost any mayonnaise or French dressing combination. Altogether I found that it can be used for twenty different dressings and that it adds a certain very desirable piquancy to salads. As to furnishing the recipe for this dressing, I will have to admit that it is impossible for me to do so.

MAYONNAISE DRESSING

M. C. D., city, wants the recipe for the mayonnaise as used in cafeterias and a recipe for mayonnaise made with condensed milk. Every cafeteria has its own recipe and many of them do not use a mayonnaise, but use a cooked dressing, made without oil. This is used as there are numbers of their patrons who cannot eat oil dressings.

For the mayonnaise, place in a bowl rubbed with a piece of garlic, the yolks of two eggs, one teaspoon of dry mustard, half a teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of lemon juice and mix smooth. Add little at a time two cups of olive oil. Thoroughly incorporate the oil added before adding any more. Should the dressing separate, heat one-quarter of a cup of vinegar to the boiling point and stir quickly into the curdled mayonnaise and stir until thick and smooth.

BOILED SALAD DRESSING

Beat well three eggs and beat into them six tablespoons of canned milk, two teaspoons salt, one and a half tablespoons of sugar, two teaspoons of French mustard, three tablespoons of melted butter, and half a teaspoon of paprika. Heat in a double-boiler one cup of vinegar, have hot but not boiling; stir into the hot vinegar the egg mixture and stir until thick as cream. Do not boil. This will keep a week in a cool place.

CANNED MILK MAYONNAISE

Mix in a cold bowl one teaspoon of salt, half a teaspoon of dry mustard, half a teaspoon of paprika or white pepper, and six tablespoons of a good evaporated milk. Whip this mixture with a rotary egg beater and when it is well mixed whip in one and half cups of olive oil a little at a time. After the oil has been thoroughly mixed in, whip in gradually four tablespoons of lemon juice or vinegar.

NUT SALAD

M. R. T., Covina, asks for a recipe for a salad made with little balls of walnuts and egg yolks. Mash through a sieve the yolks of six hard boiled eggs and add to them four tablespoons of finely minced celery and four tablespoons of grated walnut meats. Mix to a paste with a little mayonnaise and roll into small balls. Place the finely shredded whites of the hard boiled eggs on a bed of shredded lettuce and place on the whites five or six of the small nut balls. Garnish with mayonnaise and chopped parsley.

BEEF PONE

F. E. J., Long Beach, asks if we have ever made beef pone and if we have will I please give the recipe. Run through the fine knife of the food chopper, three pounds of lean, raw beef and mix with it three well beaten eggs, four tablespoons of melted butter, one cup of finely rolled cracker crumbs, two teaspoons of finely chopped onion, two teaspoons of finely chopped parsley, half a teaspoon of nutmeg, and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Place this mixture in a well buttered bread mold and bake slowly for one and a half hours. Serve sliced either hot or cold.

TURKISH PILLAU

G. C., Pasadena, writes that he would like to have the recipe for a dish called pillau that is served in the Turkish restaurants of New York City. Cook a large chicken that has been cut up as fricassee in boiling water until tender. Remove the cooked chicken and place on a warm dish. Add to the chicken stock one cup of washed rice, half a cup of seedless raisins, half a cup of blanched almonds and one large red pepper chopped fine. Cook until the rice is soft. Pour over the chicken and serve.

MUSTARD SAUCE

L. P., city, asks for a recipe for mustard sauce to serve with boiled beef. Mix to a cream one tablespoon of butter and blend with it one teaspoon of flour, one tablespoon of French mustard, one teaspoon of sugar, half a teaspoon of dry mustard, one tablespoon of vinegar, one teaspoon of sugar, half a teaspoon of salt, and a dash of paprika. When this is thoroughly mixed stir into it one cup of boiling stock from the boiled beef. Cook smooth.

STUFFED SMELTS

W. T. A., city, asks for a recipe for boned smelts stuffed with crab meat. Split twelve large smelt down the back and remove the bones, leaving a small piece in the tail and the head. Make a forcemeat of one cup of finely chopped, cooked crab meat, four tablespoons of bread crumbs, one teaspoon of minced parsley, three tablespoons of butter, one beaten egg and a seasoning of salt, pepper and lemon juice. Stuff the smelt with the forcemeat. Melt three tablespoons of butter in a baking dish with one tablespoon of minced onion; lay the smelts in the dish and pour over one and one-half cups of milk and the juice of one lemon. Bake in a medium oven thirty minutes. Serve on a hot platter, garnished with parsley, lemon slices and maitre de hotel butter.

KEEPING FROM SETTLING.

Miss A., city, writes that the figs, dates and raisins that she uses in her cakes settle to the bottom of the pan when baking and wants a remedy. Rub the fruit with a little butter or the shortening used in making the cakes, just enough

LADIES' APRON

Nowadays an apron must be more than what the word apron recalls to our minds—the old wrap-around whose appearance caused it to be hidden behind the kitchen door when the unexpected caller came. The modern housewife wants an apron which is practical for work but which presents a pleasing appearance and is pretty good enough for wear in any emergency which may arise.

And here it is—No. 1398. The pattern cuts in sizes 36, 40 and 44 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards 36-inch material. Price 15 cents.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 193—Napkin Drawn From Rings

The trick lies in the way the napkin is looped. Lay the napkin on the knee with the ends hanging over, and apparently cross the ends underneath the knee. In reality, however, the ends are bent back and looped together, as shown in Figure 1. The ends which are brought up are tied together and will stand a slight pull, as the friction of the cloth holds the loop tightly beneath the knee. A sharp tug will release the loop, and the napkin may be drawn free.

HOUSECLEANING MADE EASIER

Housecleaning need not be a bugbear, according to Uncle Sam, who considers the subject important enough to recognize officially. In fact, the Department of Agriculture has issued a free housecleaning booklet full of facts and information—a companion booklet to "Home Convenience," described yesterday.

To secure it, write name and address clearly on the coupon, inclosing 2 cents in stamps for return postage, and send to "Los Angeles Times Information Bureau, Washington, D. C." To avoid wrong delivery at Washington, use full address as given. Do not send to The Times' Los Angeles Office.

COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TO PURCHASE TRUCKS

EQUIPMENT WILL BE BOUGHT UNDER THE DEFERRED PAYMENTS PLAN

The Council yesterday started the ball a-rolling toward the purchase of 197 trucks for the city's engineering department to replace the fleet of vehicles now rented. Councilman Mushet, chairman of the Finance Committee of the City Council, urged that the trucks be purchased in the interest of economy, saying that 40 cents would be saved on the rental now paid by the city of nearly $500,000 a year. The city will purchase the trucks under a three-year deferred payment plan and the purchase will be under competition wide open to all truck manufacturers. The total contract will be between $395,000 and $400,000.

The Board of Public Works, through Commissioner McGuire, yesterday submitted to the Council an estimate that thirty-nine two-and-a-half-ton dump trucks, seventeen two-and-a-half-ton truck chassis and fifty-one five-ton dump trucks will be required under the plan. This will not completely motorize the engineering department, as there will still be forty horse-drawn wagons in use to be available for various kinds of service. The specifications for the fleet of trucks were referred to the Council's Supply Committee of which Councilman Sparks is chairman, for examination and report and later bids will be advertised for.

CHICKEN ITALIAN STYLE

M. R., city, asks for a recipe for preparing chicken Italian style. The Italian style of cooking chicken is as varied as the southern colored cooks, some boil it and others fry, broil, stew or saute it. For the boiled chicken Italian style, rub two young chickens with lemon juice and place in a pot with a carrot, four branches of parsley one onion stuck with three whole cloves; cover with boiling stock or boiling water and let boil gently for forty minutes. Drain and place on a hot platter that has been covered with cooked macaroni and pour over all a sauce made as follows:

Place two onions in boiling water for five minutes, remove and chop fine and place them in a saute pan with two tablespoons of olive oil, one cup of soaked, dried mushrooms, the water the mushrooms were soaked in, half a teaspoon of thyme or rosemary, and a bay leaf. Cook five minutes, add four tablespoons of orange juice, one tablespoon of lemon juice and reduce one half. Add one cup of rich meat gravy and cook fifteen minutes. Remove the bay leaf and pour over the chicken.

LEFTOVER CHICKEN ITALIAN

Mix two tablespoons of good olive oil with one teaspoon of tarragon vinegar, one teaspoon of lemon juice, a few drops of onion juice, and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Cut cold, cooked chicken in pieces about one inch long and marinate in the above mixture for thirty minutes. Dip the pieces of chicken in a fritter batter and fry in deep, hot olive oil. Drain on brown paper, place on a hot platter, garnish with cooked artichoke bottoms and pour over the sauce used in the above recipe. Sprinkle over all finely chopped parsley.

WEDDING PARTY SANDWICHES

M. M., Big Creek, will be married in June and wants to serve four kinds of sandwiches on a plate with a molded chicken salad for a buffet service and asks that we furnish her with the recipes.

In preparing the butter for sandwiches beat it to a cream as for making cake; do not melt it. The bread should be at least twenty-four hours old. The sandwiches should be wrapped or covered with a damp napkin and kept in a cool place until just before serving.

Sardine Sandwiches—Drain the oil from boneless sardines and mash to a paste with an equal amount of hard-boiled egg yolks that have been pressed through a sieve. Add a few finely chopped ripe olives and a seasoning of salt, paprika and lemon juice. Spread this mixture on slices of buttered bread, cover with a slice of bread and cut in diamonds.

Ginger Sandwiches — Mix one cup of finely chopped preserved Canton ginger with one cup of chopped walnut meats, half a cup of chopped orange pulp, a quarter of a cup ginger syrup, two tablespoons of lemon juice. Spread the mixture on slices of buttered whole-wheat bread, cover with a slice of whole-wheat bread and cut in squares.

Cheese Sandwiches — Run one pound of cream cheese through the fine knife of the food chopper and mix to a paste with two finely chopped pimentos, one cup of mayonnaise, and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Spread thin slices of graham bread with the mixture and cover with a lettuce leaf. Cover the lettuce leaf with a thinly buttered slice of graham bread. Cut in rounds with a large biscuit cutter, cut hole in the center with a column cutter.

The bread and butter sandwiches should be cut in finger-shaped pieces.

MOLDED CHICKEN

Clean and dress two large chickens and place in a pot with cold water enough to cover, add two level teaspoons of salt, twelve peppercorns, two blades of mace, two branches of parsley, four stalks of celery, one lemon cut in slices, and two sliced onions. Cover tightly and cook slowly until the meat will leave the bones. As the scum rises remove with a skimmer.

There should be about two quarts of broth after it has been strained through a napkin. After straining the broth return to the fire in a clean saucepan and add a quarter of a cup of gelatine that has been dissolved in one cup of water. Let simmer ten minutes. Remove the chicken meat from the bones and cut in small dice. Place a slice of hard-boiled egg in the bottom of a small coffee cup or a small mold holding about half a cup; pour the broth over the diced chicken to which has been added one cup of chopped capers and two cups of finely chopped white celery. Set the chicken mixture in a cool place and when it begins to stiffen, pour into the wetted molds; see that each mold has an equal amount of the chicken and jelly. Let stand twelve hours.

For the dessert I would advise ice cream frozen in fancy forms. These can be secured from your caterer and should be served on plates covered with a washed and dried grape leaf and a small flower to match the colors used by the bride. After the wedding when in doubt about what to cook for him, write me care the above address.

An Old-fashioned "Boiled Dinner"
"Boiled Dinner"
Coffee
Apple Sauce Topped with Meringue

Boiled Dinner: Put four pounds of corned beef over the fire to boil in water to cover. Do this at 7 o'clock in the morning if you have dinner at noon. At the same time put six beets on to boil, in a separate pot, but after one hour take them out and put them into the pot which contains the corned beef. Cut a small head of cabbage in quarters and let it soak in cold water for one hour; at ten o'clock put the cabbage into a clean cheesecloth bag and add it to the meat pot, but at 11:30 o'clock take it out to drain in a colander. Peel and slice a few turnips and a few carrots and put these into the kettle at 11 o'clock and let boil until 12. The potatoes, too, should go into the kettle with the corned beef in time to be done for a twelve-sharp dinner. A few minutes before serving, reheat the cabbage by putting it back into the pot with the other vegetables. Serve in a large tureen or vegetable dish.

To Make the Meringue for the Apple Sauce: Beat one egg-white stiff, sweeten it with a little granulated sugar, and stiffen it by also beating into it a few teaspoonfuls of any kind of jelly, jam or mashed preserves. Heap this on the apple sauce and serve. This meringue is excellent to serve on any fruit or pudding; it gives the appearance of whipped cream, and the housekeeper mother, especially, should use it often to disguise simple desserts (such as canned peaches, stewed prunes, or sliced oranges and bananas) to make them more attractive to her children.

Steamed Gingerbread Pudding is another fine one to serve. To make it, mix together 1 cupful of molasses, 1 cupful of hot water, 1 cupful of chopped seedless raisins, 1 teaspoonful of soda, a little ground clove, ground cinnamon and ground allspice (about ¼ teaspoonful of each) and butter the size of a walnut. Stir this mixture well, then add 3½ cupfuls of flour. Turn all into two baking powder cans (or regular steaming molds.) fit on the cover, tying it on with string (right around the can from top to bottom) and place these cans in a kettle of boiling water; let the water boil up around them for three hours, then turn the puddings out onto a platter and serve hot with any hard sauce or with a foamy sauce.

Peggy: Answer: Why not have a Sweetbread Salad in your party refreshments? To make it, mix equal parts of parboiled sweetbreads, cut in one-half-inch cubes, and finely cut celery. Moisten with cream or mayonnaise dressing. Serve Walnut Mousse, as you suggest, and hot coffee. For a card party it is always appropriate to have little cakes cut in the shape of hearts, diamonds, spades and clubs. The sandwiches, too, might be served in these shapes. One woman I know served her cake in the shape of dice, using black raisins, pressed into the white frosting, for the dots.

CALIFORNIA'S ATHLETES CAPTURE THE FLEET TRACK AND FIELD TITLE

Sailor Sons Roll Up 38 Points as Aviators Are Collecting 36; Mississippi is Third

By rolling up a total of 38 points yesterday afternoon at Long Beach High the gobs of the U.S.S. California anchored the Pacific Fleet track and field championship for 1922, proving that they are as dangerous on land as on sea. The Air Force collected second honors and 36 points, the U.S.S. Mississippi scored 33 digits for third position.

The other teams finished as follows: U.S.S. New York, 29; U.S.S. [illegible] 17; U.S.S. Texas, 13; [illegible], 11; U.S.S. Tennessee, 10; Destroyer Force, 5; [illegible], 1; U.S.S. Pennsylvania, 1.

The show by Hahn in the broad jump and Patterson in the pole vault added the Native Sons in attractive performance, and a good sprinkling of second and third places counted enough to win the affair. Hahn went 23 ft., for a blue ribbon in the jump, while Patterson cleared the hammer 11ft. 6¼in. and 12ft. 3in. for the glory in the pole leap.

The U.S.S. New York led for most part of the meet, either in the dashes, but was unable to keep up with the California. Palmer and Palmer, both of the New York, had things their way in the sprints. Waldrop in the century dash in 10s. and finishing in a dead heat with Palmer in the 220 in 22 2-5s. Palmer scored in the 100, but finished second in the 100, before of the U.S.S. Tennessee dashed up one of the best of the day, when he tossed the 16lb. ball. The broad jump in 1and of the New York was a close fit which Edwards of the Tennessee and Flynn of the New, were very much alike.

Stanford Track Stars May Not Remain in East

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—It is questionable whether the Stanford University track team will be represented in the Western Conference meet at Iowa City, June 2, or the National Collegiate Athletic Association events June 17 as reported. The ten men who will represent Stanford at Harvard May 27 in the Intercollegiate Association of American Athletes of America games, probably cannot spare time away from their studies to compete in events other than those at Harvard. Owing to death of an uncle, Eddie Sudden, star sprinter of Stanford, may be forced to abandon the trip.

Stanford men also are worried lest Morris Kirksey, Charles Paddock's closest rival, may have to drop out because of "pulled" muscles in his right leg. Kirksey, however, always has managed to get in condition on similar occasions, and it is hoped he will have a good chance to win the 100-yard dash.

PICK WASHINGTON TO WIN BIG MEET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 12.—With the stadium track said to be considerably faster than it was for the relay carnival, track followers here are predicting that records will be lowered in a number of events when the University of Washington track team meets the Washington State College team in the annual dual meet here next Saturday.

According to the paper analysis of the strength of the two teams, based on the past performances of the athletes, the University of Washington team is said to be scheduled to take ten first places and to win the meet by a comfortable margin. Even the most confirmed of depositors, however, admit that upsets are to be expected in track meets.

Dr. D. C. Hall has been named official referee and starter.

Exciting Moments in the Pacific Fleet Cinder Championships

But Right Now the Dismal Climax of the Lewis-Carpentier Bout Is Food for Argument

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 12.—An agreement for Georges Carpentier and Jack Dempsey to meet either in London or Paris before next May has been reached by Jack Kearns and Francois Descampe, Kearns told the Associated Press today. The two managers agreed to leave the promotion of the event to the parties offering the best terms.

Both Carpentier and Dempsey are to be free to meet other men in the meantime, but a defeat for either prior to the time set for the Dempsey-Carpentier match would cancel the agreement.

In the meantime, the local sporting world is rent as a result of the sudden and unsatisfactory finish of the Carpentier-Lewis bout last night. The blow with which the Frenchman knocked out his opponent was legitimate in the judgment of the so-called experts, who reported the bout, although cries of "foul" which arose from all parts of the house indicated plainly that the spectators as a general thing did not agree.

Joe Palmer, the referee, is quoted in the Daily Telegraph as saying:

"The blow was perfectly fair. The men had broken from a clinch and it was Lewis's business to protect himself. This he failed to do."

It is asserted by some of the newspaper writers that Lewis had several times delivered blows on previous breakaways, though they did not land, and his failure to guard himself in the final break is declared an amazing blunder, which disregarded the elementals of boxing.

One or two reporters, while conceding that Carpentier, by the strict letter of the rules, was entitled to act as he did, complain that his conduct lacked regard for the spirit of the regulations which the Frenchman invariably had displayed in his previous fights.

TO BE DEBATED

While agreeing that he was rightly proclaimed winner, they predict that the legitimacy of a knockout during a breakaway will be debated and that Lewis's supporters are likely to reassert their the blow was foul, arguing that Lewis was at the moment listening to the referee.

For the fight as a fight, however, nobody has praise. The Times' critic says the contest was as bad as it could have been and must have ended in disqualification if it had not ended as it did. The Daily Chronicle expert describes it as positive travesty on boxing, and says both participants were equally guilty of illegitimate tactics.

MAY BATTLE IN LONDON SUBURB

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, May 12.—One promoter, who declares he can guarantee 50,000 pounds for a meeting between Dempsey and Carpentier has impressed Kearns with the financial possibilities of a fight at White City, where is situated the large stadium erected for the Olympic games of 1908. Should the match be staged there it would be England's first outdoor boxing event in modern times, as for years boxing has been an evening social function, calling for full-dress, ermine cloaks and silk hats.

White City is an enormous exhibition ground. The stadium was constructed to seat 70,000 persons, 17,000 seats being under cover. It is asserted that the seating accommodations could be increased to 107,000 at an expense far short of the cost of construction of such a stadium as Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City, where Dempsey knocked out Carpentier last July.

Ball Scandal Again Issues Fragrant Odor

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) May 12.—The 1919 world's series scandal which wrecked the Chicago American League team and sent seven star baseball players to oblivion, at least as far as professional baseball careers is concerned, today has been reopened.

Tomorrow in Milwaukee Circuit Court, Judge John J. Gregory will act on an affidavit filed by Oscar ("Happy") Felsch, one of the banished players, which requests Charles A. Comiskey, president, and his son, Louis, treasurer of the White Sox club, be summoned to answer a list of questions which would dig deeply into the financial and other affairs of the American League club.

Felsch presented the affidavit in amplification of his suit against the Comiskeys to recover salary for 1920, with certain bonuses, and compensation for damages sustained in an alleged conspiracy maliciously to injure his reputation and prevent him remaining a major league baseball player.

"Every charge made by Happy Felsch against Charles A. Comiskey, Louis Comiskey or the White Sox club, is an absolute falsehood," Harry Grabiner, secretary of the Chicago White Sox, said today after reading statements made in an affidavit in Milwaukee yesterday by Felsch, which charged that the two Comiskeys knew of "fixed" ball games in which the Sox took part in 1917. Both Comiskeys are out of town.

JOHNSTON WILL TACKLE TILDEN

Eliminate All Rivals in the Coast Tourney

Doubles Postponed to Assist Richards's Ankle

McCune Sisters Look Good in Ladies' Doubles

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY (Cal.) May 12.—William T. Tilden, 3d, world's tennis champion and William M. Johnston, second ranking player in the country will compete in the finals for the championship of the Pacific Coast on the courts of the Berkeley tennis club. Each won their final matches today.

Tilden defeated Irving Weinstein, a local player, who put up a valiant fight, in straight sets 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. Johnson won from Howard Kinsey, thirteenth ranking player in the country, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Kinsey won a default from Vincent Richards, third ranking player and national junior champion, yesterday after Richards sprained his ankle. Richards had taken one set at 5-6 from Kinsey.

Whether Richards will be able to continue in the tournament and participate in the men's doubles with Tilden as his partner, will be decided tomorrow. There was no play today in the lower half of the men's doubles, in which Tilden and Richards have been playing.

The women's singles reached the final round in the play today. BOSTON, May 12.—Harry Greb of Pittsburg knocked out Al Roberts of New York in the sixth round tonight.

Travie Davis Whips Soules at Hollywood

BY WRIGHT CROSS

Willie Rooney appeared in the corner of Travie Davis last night wearing a pair of Jess Willard's pants for luck. Davis staged a sensational rally in the final rounds of his set-to with Bud Soules in the main event of the American Legion boxfest and won the verdict. Soules carried the fighting to the Coast welterweight champion during the early rounds and the crowd "walked out" on 'em, but Travie found himself later and waded in.

Little Jimmy Dunning was not quite up to snuff last night in the semi-wind-up and Eddie Macey, his 116-pound rival, doled out a severe lacing, which brought victory to the latter. Dunning was trying hard, but was steadily beaten down. In the fourth round Dunning was bleeding like a stuck pig, but he continued gamely on.

By using Leo Matlock's back for a bass drum, Battling Savage beat his way into a draw verdict. The battler kept the crowd in hysterics with his comedy.

Jimmy Brenton and Jimmy Callahan, a pair of 122-pounders, staged one of the classiest draws ever uncorked at Hollywood. Soldier Burke was unable to stop Jimmy Byrd, a 12-year-old heavyweight, so Referee George Blake ended the agony near the finale of the fourth round by calling the soldier the winner. Blake also raised the hand of Sailor Thode to save Young Johnny Dempsey from further punishment in the second round of their affair. Sailor Keating outclassed Red Briggs by such a wide margin that his seconds tossed in the sponge in the second round.

Wheezer Puts Decided Cramp in That Seattle Winning Stride

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

Seattle contracted a cramp in its winning stride yesterday, the same being placed there by Wheezer Dell, and Vernon won its first game of the series, 8 to 3. When Bill Essick feels that he positively must have a ball game, he instructs Wheezer to put on the old hickory shirt and workshoes. Mr. Dell was hit rather plentifully, but was impervious to scores until the seventh, when he began to lean on his well-earned laurels.

Joe G. Dailey was hit effectively in a first-inning pinch, and was the victim of some bad breaks in the fifth. Joe Finneran put on the finishing touches. Wildfire Schulte, former Cub, gave the bugs a thrill by pasting a triple while batting for Joe in the ninth. Frank Chance, who ones boxed Schulte, was out to see the deed, and the P. L. showed traces of excitement with the crack of Schulte's bat, which seemed to awaken echoes of the games of long ago when Cubhood was in flower.

Which reminds us that they hung so many flowers on Ping Bodie in the first inning that strangers thought he was either a bridegroom or a corpse. The saddest marriage or the happiest funeral has seldom witnessed such a fine display of cut flowers, which is better than pulling them up by the roots. A San Francisco delegation headed by William Flynn, hung a floral horseshoe around Ping's neck, making him look like a gaily caparisoned Percheron. Then the bunch composed of Kitty Brashear, Bill Brennan and others, sent Ping a basket of flowers. As Kitty and Bill run a hashery there was some talk of presenting Ping with a bowl of spaghetti at the plate, but a basket of carnation salad was deemed more appropriate for a hot day. The only time Ping came near busting a fence yesterday was when he leaned up against it. He devoted himself entirely to science at the plate, sacrificing, bunting, walking twice and scoring once. Useful if not lurid.

Vernon as early as the first inning began unravelling the puzzle of Joe G. Dailey's mystic middle initial. The G is now understood to stand for Gum, and this would seem to fix his nationality as a scion of the old and respected Gumbo family which wore bees wax on its escutcheon, adorned itself with jewelry made from sealing wax and whose family bush was a rubber tree.

Joe began to melt in the first, and before he could extricate himself from the mess, Vernon had counted two on Chadbourne's walk, a single by High, a sacrifice by the brand-new Bodie and a safe crack by C. Hercules Hyatt.

Things became even more gooey in the fifth, when the Siwashes played the great national pastime with aboriginal quaintness. Chadbourne drew a pass as lead-off man in this round. High bunted to Cueto, the only living Cuban Siwash, and Manuel's wild and untamed throw drew Murphy off his base. Bodie bunted a short distance down the third-base line. Frank Tobin, the catcher, with true Indian instinct, his nose close to the ground, took up the trail of his bunt, looking for signs that it would roll foul. The bal foiled him by remaining fair, and with Ping at first base the sacks were

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Washington took the opening game of the series with Cleveland today, 5 to 4. Erickson was effective after the first inning, although unusually wild. The locals bunched hits off Coveleskie in three different rounds, Brower's home run with one on base in the fifth, producing their winning margin. Prior to the game there was a flag raising in observance of National Hospital Day, participated in by Secretary Denby and Maj.-Gen. John A. LeJeune, commandant of the marine corps. "GIANTS ARE A CINCH"—EVERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—Johnny Evers, whose opinions on the prospects of a baseball season are not regarded as idle chatter, believes that the Giants will have a walkaway in the National League race and that the American League pennant will go to New York, Cleveland or St. Louis.

Evers looks on the Giants of today as the best baseball combination produced in fifteen years and equal to the old Chicago Cubs in which he was the pivot link of "Tinker to Evers to Chance."

The scrappy second baseman, now a member of the White Sox, who finished a series with the Yankees here yesterday, declined to compare the two major leagues, but his estimate on the Giants speaks for itself.

"The Giants," he said, "have everything that they need."

SERAPHS SOAK SAD SENATORS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, May 12.—Col. Pick's Senatorial cripples outslugged "Red" Killefer's upward-soaring bevy of Angels in today's Morning Field combat. But the boys from Los Angeles collected for the most free passes and counted the most runs. Paul Fittery was wild and was hit hard. Kunz, who went to the hill in the sixth for the locals, fared no better. Pete Compton, however, dropped a fly ball that let the winning run over, in the seventh period. "Doc" Crandall was punched for thirteen safe wallops, but won his game by a 9-to-8 tally, which makes it four straight for the Angels. Marty McGaffigan got back in the line-up today and counted for two local runs. The score:

very much loaded. How to empty them was a problem. Dalley tried walking Hyatt. This took Chadbourne off third base, but with G. Hercules on first, the bases were fuller than ever. In fact, it looked like a reunion of the Fuller family. Smith forced High at the plate, but Red outweighs Hughie, and the base ballast was increased instead of lessened, and the game hung low in the water with runs threatening to inundate the leaky plate. Sawyer singled, bringing Bodie and Hyatt into the home berth, and yet two remained on bases. Like pouring water into a gopher hole, only exactly different. French grounded to Murphy, who tossed to Dalley covering first, and beat the play, Smith sneaking in on the argument which followed the close decision at first base. Hannah hammered a single, scoring French, and Dalley departed for a belated shower bath.

Joe Finneran, former Tiger and reformed tar oil addict, then went in and quelled his former pals by requiring Dell to force Hannah, which was a comparatively easy matter for Wheezer. Score:

to see anything like it again, and says it offended the senses of every good sportsman who witnessed it.

"The men were locked in holds, pulling and tugging and clinging to each other like men possessed, both refusing repeatedly to obey the referee's orders to break," he writes. "It was only worthy of street fighting."

For this unsatisfactory display, some critics hold Lewis responsible, saying that when the champion tried to pull away, Lewis held on and hit, and that Carpentier, finding he was being punished under what was apparently some sort of new rule, seemed to make up his mind to do the same.

Another view is that Lewis, recognizing his handicap in weight and size, resolved to rely on infighting, in which he seemed superior in the brief melee.

Carpentier, according to the Sporting Life, had an unhappy time of it until Lewis's unwariness gave him his opportunity. The champion's body was reddened all over where Lewis's blows had landed, and he was obviously worried.

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—St. Louis evened the series with the Giants here this afternoon, winning, 7 to 6, in ten innings, after Jess Barnes, of no-hit, no-run fame, had been chased from the hill by a barrage of bingles in the first inning. Causey, who relieved him, was not effective, and gave way to Shea. Jonnard took his place and Art Nehf finished. Frank Frisch broke into his first game of the season since his injury, and got two doubles and a stolen base. Fournier made a circuit swipe off Barnes in the first, with two on base. The winning run resulted from a freak bingle by McHenry, which Groh permitted to dribble along the third base line for a safety, while Stock scored. The score:

FLEET NOTES

The old Navy monitor Monterey, a unit of Admiral Dewey's fleet in Asiatic waters during the Spanish-American War, has arrived at Mare Island navy yard, San Francisco, according to word just received at Pacific Fleet headquarters here, and will be consigned to the junk pile. The vessel arrived from Honolulu in tow of the Associated Oil tanker William F. Herrin, and will be turned over to an Oakland ship-dismantling concern for junk. The Monterey was built at San Francisco twenty-seven years ago and has served almost exclusively in Pacific and Asiatic waters since her launching.

Another historic ship of the Navy, the old commerce destroying cruiser Columbia, once a unit of the famous White Squadron, is to be converted into plowshares and other farm implements. Radio advices sent to fleet headquarters here stated that the Columbia has been sold to Philadelphia junk dealers. The Columbia cost the government $2,725,000 when she was built at the Cramp Shipyards, Philadelphia, in 1894. She was first commissioned April 23, 1894, and restored to active service again in June, 1918.

Four more ships of the Pacific Fleet destroyer force are slated for decommissioning at San Diego on June 30, according to fleet headquarters here. They are the destroyers Anthony and Ammen, the mine sweeper Seagull. All are to be "parked" at the navy yard, Pearl Harbor.

TOURNEY WAS BIG SUCCESS

Bowling Congress Makes Hit With Local Fans

All Previous Records Fall by the Wayside

Big-City Championship Rolls on Next

BY ED O'MALLEY

The Pacific Coast Bowling Congress held down at the Angeles alleys proved to be an unqualified success in every particular. The alleys, both afternoon and night, were packed by packed galleries and enthusiasm was at high tide throughout. Good fellowship and sportsmanship prevailed at all times and factional ardor was almost held within the bounds of decorum.

Sidney Forman, during the two weeks had everything moving in clean-cut fashion, not a hitch of any kind holding up. He was assisted by Ed Cloukeer of the Angeles Alleys.

TOO PLEASED

Jo Rohr, manager of the Angeles Alleys, and winner of the roll and the all events, is following to say anent the tourney: "I was pleased beyond words at the way every thing turned out. It was a whale of a tourney. In regard to the play, I was most impressed with the bowling of the San Jose Oyster Alleys. These boys seemed to hit the ball off the corner in fine fashion of them, most of them were shooting a three-way ball.

Tony of Portland made a hit with us. He is a dandy, considerable and got a lot of friends of San Francisco, winner of the all events championship last year, didn't go so well in the regular tournament but hit in the final sweepstakes in the battle between the North and South, he got to hitting and seemed to have a lot of fun with his three-quarter ball. The fall down was that of Ray Barnes. The balls wouldn't roll for him, probably because he came to Los Angeles from Milwaukee. He made some show in his shoots, but he's installed as a great pin for some reason failed to fit.

Big surprise among the locals was the wonderfully timed game of A. T. Warner, an old-time shot himself late years in the all events with it was noised all around it was down and out, as a rule everybody by some good of the other locals. Every previous record in Pacific Coast Bowling Congress was distanced at this tourney and it was the first time you ever rooted in the individual.

ON YOU GOES

Bowling, one of the best of sports knights of the alleys and the kind sweepstakes, was a feature of the meet. All in, it is surely doing when four teams shook over in the same round. This was made from the fact that they were bowling at 2000 all through the tournament and could reach it. The big night for bowling was the last two nights, in fact, event they didn't bowl but in the doubles and they rolled like wild men, some hitting over the 700 mark.

Monday night at the Angeles Alleys open a South-wide championship tournament, total of fourteen teams in the. The teams will pa- at the alleys next Monday and will start hostilities at 8 o'clock. The rolling will continue two weeks and will come to a Friday night. Games won will count, instead of total

Globe Ice Cream Champion Bowling Team

This quintet last week rolled 3343 in the team events, which is the highest score ever made in a Pacific Coast Bowling Congress. Beginning at top from left to right are Jake Cone, who is still far from the Sawtelle class; Al Comey, promoter of the squad; Ernie Shay, "Sure Shot Ernie," who was last year's individual champion, and winner at many tournaments. At bottom, Harry Hopping, great hook-ball artist and highest average man; Mike Firestone, captain of five and a dangerous man in a pinch; Clarence Turner, known as "Old Reliable," great in tourneys. The team is regarded as by far the best on the Coast.

"Our Pacific Coast League has sent up many good players in all departments, but has it ever produced any major league managerial material?" asks a fan under cover of a 2-cent stamp.

It is going to cost a lot more than that to answer this question when we consider the high cost of print paper, typewriter ribbons, linotype labor, oil and grease for the press and ink, not to mention a certain princely salary.

Yes. That is the answer, but it would not be satisfactory in that abbreviated form. Offhand, I recall five men who held down managerial berths in the majors after having seen service in the Coast League.

Bill Killefer, pilot of the Chicago Cubs, formerly played with San Francisco. Bill, just a kid then, was with the Seals only a couple of months, at the conclusion of which time he was given the "gate." His condition was what might be termed unready.

The others were Frank Chance, Hal Chase, Gavvy Cravath and was a Coast Leaguer, or a California Leaguer, which organization was Harry Wolverton. Some will dispute the statement that Chance every the forerunner of the present enlarged circuit.

But it seems that in the early days Frank finished up one season behind the bat for Los Angeles. That was before baseball rules were so strict against using another's hired help, and it was the custom of Coast League clubs to import major league players at the close of the latter's season.

Chance subsequently became boss of the Cubs, and later of the New York Americans.

Harry Wolverton succeeded Chance as manager of the Yanks, going from Oakland to big time. True, Wolverton was by no means a Coast League product. He came West as a veteran, having dropped from the majors some years before. But it was his work in handling Oakland which won him major league recognition as a manager.

And I am not sure that it wasn't Wolverton who succeeded Hal Chase as manager of the Yankees. Anyway, Hal, who broke into the professional ranks with Los Angeles, later had a fling at that job.

Then there was Gavvy Cravath, who handled the Phils for one season and a fraction. Cravath, like Chance and Chase, was an ex-Angel.

Several years ago, Walter McCredie is said to have been offered the Cleveland management, but didn't care to go East. The job was then slipped to Lee Fohl.

Yes, so, and there is still another unless I am mistaken. Seems to be that according to baseball lore George Stallings, the "miracle man" of 1914, formerly played ball in Oakland.

Possibly there are others. If so, spend a postage stamp. Jim Morley once was in line to manage the Boston Red Sox, but just what happened to the deal I don't know. Possibly Jeems was too stuck of a native son to turn from stewed prunes to baked beans.

Then there are other although lesser honors which have been won by whilom Coast Leaguers. We have supplied field captains to two of the big town teams. Last season, Dave Bancroft of the Giants and Roger Peckinpaugh of the Yankees captained their respective clubs.

And I am not sure that Ivan Olson didn't captain Brooklyn one or more years. Anyway, he acted like a captain. Mr. Olson always was chasty and aggressive on the ball field.

Conference Games Will be Crucial

Caltech remains in the lead in conference baseball as a result of last week's game. While Southern Branch was losing to the Pomona team, Caltech was defeating the Whittier aggregation, so that Caltech regained the leadership and Southern Branch is tied for second with Pomona. Three games are scheduled for tomorrow. Caltech will go to Pomona, Whittier to Redlands and Southern Branch to Occ. Only two games are of interest as having a bearing on the championship, the Pomona-Caltech and the Southern Branch-Occ affairs. Southern Branch should "tame" the Tigers easily enough, and should Pomona down the Engineers—and the game will be a tough one—then Caltech and Southern Branch will again be tied for first place.

The final game of the season between Caltech and Southern Branch may result in a championship affair, for the Cubs have but to capture the other three games, and the Engineers to lose one and they are tied for the first place again. Caltech had an off day in their first tilt with the Branch, but in the final game the Engineers will be on their toes to send the Cubs home with the low end of the score. Pomona is in the offing and it is possible that she will put in a bid for the championship.

TEN ENTRIES FOR PREAKNESS STAKE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BALTIMORE (Md.) May 12.—At least ten crack 3-year-olds, with a few possible additions, if the track is fast, will face the barrier at Pimlico tomorrow afternoon to compete in the historic Preakness stakes for the $50,000 purse of the Maryland Jockey Club.

Walter J. Salmon's Superlative will be in the field, according to a last-minute announcement, while it is now said to be unlikely that either Bulldog Drummond of the Belgrave stables, or Relay from the Quinsey barn, would be contenders.

AVERAGES OF THE COAST PITCHERS

Elmer Ponder of the Los Angeles club tops the list of pitchers in games won and lost. Ponder has five wins to his credit with no defeats. "Buzz" Arlett of Oakland stands second with eight wins and only one lost.

Other leading pitchers are Mitchell, Gould, Dell and Scott.

FRANKLIN TROUNCES VENTURA

Teachout Features Tight Game by Fanning 17 Men; Benjamins Win, 4 to 0

Although they played snappy ball, Ventura's baseball representatives, winners of the Ventura League, went down to defeat before Franklin High's precocious pill chasers 4 to 0 yesterday afternoon at Patterson Field. With one exception the Ventura men never passed first.

Teachout, Franklin's fancy hurler, fanned 17 batters during the course of the afternoon's entertainment, and helped to win his own game with a brace of neat bingles. Goddett and Turner also helped matters along with some clever willow work.

Franklin plays the winner of the Hollywood-San Pedro game in the second round next week. The Foothillers and San Pedro mix Tuesday afternoon.

Morvich Still Rules Favorite for the Derby

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 12.—Nine thoroughbreds representing the cream of the American turf are scheduled to take a final workout at Churchill Downs today in preparation for participation in the supreme test of tomorrow in the forty-eighth renewal of the Kentucky Derby. A fourth may be added to battle for the $50,000 added money in the rich classic.

With the arrival yesterday of Starlic, By Gosh, Surf Rider and Litterman, the field was brought up to nine probable starters. Of the candidates who already were on hand Morvich, the Benjamin Block colt, still loomed the favorite, although Deadlock, John Finn, Bet Mosie and My Play were not without outstanch supporters. The tenth, still regarded as a very doubtful starter, is Busy American, and those who have watched the E. R. Bradley colt in the trials earnestly are hoping that he will be in condition to go to the post.

Cubs Vanquish Occidental in Fancy Contest

Overcoming a lead of three runs in the last stages of the game, S.B.U.C.'s high-powered baseball nine defeated Occidental at Moore Field yesterday afternoon, 5 to 3. The Oxy team was strengthened by the services of Johnny Powers and Cliff Argue, who have been kept off the team by track work so far this season, and made the strongest showing they have put on this year.

Oxy counted two in the second inning and another in the third, but the Cubs pushed three across in the fifth, tying the score, and another in each of the seventh and eighth innings.

BRITTON WILLING TO MEET LEONARD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TULSA (Okla.) May 12.—Jack Britton is willing to risk the welterweight championship in a bout with Benny Leonard, the lightweight king, in New York, but his western program, already mapped out, will not permit such a bout before June 15, according to a statement by Danny Morgan, Britton's manager, here today.

Reports that Britton and Leonard have been signed for a bout June 1, are premature, Morgan said.

PRINCETON GOLFER SHOWS ENDURANCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) May 12.—On a wager that he could not play ninety holes of golf in twelve hours, an average of less than eighty-five strokes to eighteen, Robert W. Windringer, captain of the Princeton golf team, and winner of the Lakewood tournament last week, yesterday completed the unusual feat in less than nine hours. His average was seventy-seven strokes. His scores for the eighteen holes were 80, 73, 77, 75 and 74.

PREP GOLFERS WILL PUT ON TOURNAMENT

SEATTLE, May 10.—What is said to be the first high school golf tournament ever held in the Pacific Northwest is to be held by Seattle high schools within the next three weeks. More than sixty entries have been received from the various schools, with some of the best junior players in the city registered for play. Agitation for the tournament was held to have come from high school boys here who are caddies on the various courses, and who have opportunity to play in but one tournament each year, that arranged for the caddies by each golf club. The tournament is to be a handicap affair.

Fair Golfer to Travel East for National Honors

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Miss Dorcas Kavanagh, woman champion golfer of California, may play in the national championship tournament for women golfers at Greenbrier, W. Va., next September, if she retains her title in the California tournament, which will begin on the Annandale golf links near Los Angeles next Monday.

Miss Margaret Cameron, champion of Northern California, however, is expected to be a dangerous competitor for the California title, as she is thoroughly familiar with the Annandale course, it being her home club course. The San Francisco district has promising players in Miss Alice Hanchett and Mrs. A. H. Pommer, runner-up in this year's Northern California tournament.

POSTPONE TRACK AND FIELD MEET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 12.—The Pacific Northwest Association track and field championships, which will be staged here jointly by the Rose Festival board and Multnomah Athletic Club, will be held June 23 on Multnomah Field instead of June 2.

The change in dates was necessary because of the switch in dates for the Rose Festival. The meet will be one of the features of this year's festival.

RIVERSIDE PUTS REDLANDS UNDER

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, May 12.—Riverside put the skids under Redlands in the race for the Citrus Belt baseball championship by letting the locals down in a postponed game, 6 to 4. Redlands' line-up was shot full of holes, C. Sturtevant, shortstop, and Stem Dahlela, third baseman, being absent from the line-up.

Brown, southpaw pitcher for Redlands, heaved a nice game. He held the Riverside men to eight scattered hits. Barachum was too much for the locals, however; he fanned seventeen of the Redlands batters. And he had fine support for only two errors were made by his team-mates.

As a result of this game San Bernardino and Pomona will battle for the championship. Redlands and Riverside are out of it, having lost two games each.

MOTORBIKE RIDERS CIRCLE THE TRACK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN CARLOS, May 12.—In trials for the motorcycle races to be held here next Sunday, fast time was made by riders, several of them going around the wooden saucer faster than 100 miles an hour, as unofficially timed. Henry Terry's machine traveled a mile in 45s; Otto Walker did it in 43 2-5s., the same as Jim Davis, and Ray Weishaar's best effort was 43 2-5s., or at the rate of 111 miles an hour.
